AUTUMN TALES.

CONTRARY.

All day the clouds hung black and low;
The air with smoke was yellow,
And everywhere Bill Jackson went
He lugged his umberella.
"It's liable to rain," he said,
"And wet me without warning."
The sun came out that afternoon;
It didn't rain till morning.

I. O. BRYAN.

Zip, zip, bang!
Zip, zip, bang!
Dewey won, we won!
Zip, zip, bang!
Boom!
Siss!

A!

What does that remind you of but football? The season is again upon us and chrysanthemum locks and padded knee pants are again in the field.

It must be lots of fun to sit in a cold grand stand and shiver for three hours watching a game, else people wouldn't do it. Everybody loves a contest of youth and strength and activity and skill. That is why everybody will be interested in the fine display of football pictures and news, which will form a striking feature of the Magazine Section of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

The man who made and put into operation the only double-jointed, copper-riveted, four-ply, non-reversible compulsory arbitration law in existence is now visiting in the United States.

In his country there has not been a strike or a lockout for five years. There have been labor troubles, yes, but there have been no violent demonstrations. All these matters are settled peaceably by law, and millions of dollars have thereby been saved to the workingman.

This statesman has told for the benefit of readers of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch what this law is and exactly how it works.

Do you know that there is a big colony of Filipinos in the United States? They live so quietly that very little has ever been said about these "Manilamen," as they are called by their neighbors. But a Sunday Post-Dispatch correspondent visited them and learned about them many interesting facts, which will be imparted next Sunday.

Among other things, they are so civilized that they have no policemen and no courts.

This reminds me that the next Sunday Post-Dispatch will contain a remarkably interesting collection of stories from the Philippines—stories brimful of description, none of it too long and not a line of it tedious.

Sir Thomas Lipton ought to take his yacht to Chicago, the Windy City, if he wants to pull off that race before Christmas. There doesn't seem to be enough wind around New York to float a butterfly. Besides, the visitors have already spent $2,000,000 and haven't had two bits' worth of sport.

But that will all be changed before long. An inventive priest has discovered and put into practical use, on a small scale, a secret of nautical architecture which insures a revolution in yachting.

He will explain his plan in detail in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Do you remember President McKinley's celebrated "who-shall-haul-it-down" speech in Atlanta? Do you remember how he swung around the circle a year ago, uniting the Blue and the Gray as he went?

Do you know that he got his idea for that speech in St. Louis?

Do you know—but there are many interesting features concerning this matter, involving many famous men, as will be fully explained in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Young woman, do you pine to be an actress? Do you yearn for the footlights and bouquets and fond admirers? Do you dream of great triumphs and much wealth and lasting glory?

"Don't do it!"

This is the advice of a St. Louis actress. No, she is not a "has-been." She is still young and popular and has won honors enough to satisfy almost any professional. Yet she says to the female stage aspirant: "Don't!"

Why? She has written her reasons and you will read them in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

This whole Mississippi Valley, underground, is nothing but a vast bed of natural wealth, just as it is a garden of natural beauty on the surface.

The Creator seems to have omitted nothing from the list of valuable things with which he stocked the earth beneath us. All that men have to do to become wealthy is to dig.

This fact will be set forth pictorially in a new and surprising manner by the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

What do you think of a man digging $50,000 worth of gold out of the ground without going deeper than five feet. In some places it was so close to the surface that he could plough it out. Much of it was absolutely pure.

All this happened a few days ago in the Black Hills. You will read about it in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Over in Indiana there is a Chinese poet, who is also a humorist and lecturer. He pants to break into metropolitan journalism and to start a column of songs similar to that of Frank L. Stanton in the Atlanta Constitution. This young Celestial, who dresses in American style and wears glasses, has done several remarkable things. He will tell about them in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

MINERS BURNED AT THE STAKE

Two Americans Captured and Tortured by Yaqui Indians in Mexico.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Oct. 12.—Willis Maguire, formrely an attorney at Marquette, now of the mining district of Sonora, Mexico, has written that his two mining partners, Ramsey and Miller, undertook to work and prospect in territory overrun by Yaqui Indians, were captured and burned at the stake.

THE FIGHT IS ON.

CLAIMED BY TWO.

HE CAN'T FIND HIS BROTHER.

Mrs. McGuire Declares She Knows Who She Married and It Was Not the Brother of James.

The James McGuire case has been called in the City Court at Alton and continued upon the affidavit of the defendant that he is not ready for trial.

McGuire lived on Main street in Alton and was apparently happy with his wife and sister. Last spring a woman went to the police station and secured a warrant for his arrest, claiming he had two wives and that she was one of them.

She told the police he had threatened vengeance if either wife told what was going on, and she asked for police protection before she went back to the house.

McGuire says the woman who claims to be his second wife is not his wife at all, but the wife of his brother, John McGuire, who often frequents this part of the country. He has gone to some remote part of the earth and his brother says he does not know where he is.

Mrs. McGuire denies all this. She says she was married to James McGuire at Clayton, Mo., and that she knows who she married.

McGuire's first wife was an Alton girl, a Miss Bryant, and he claims her as his wife.

McGuire's innocence or guilt rests upon whether he can prove that it was not himself, but his brother, who married the woman who claims to be his second wife.

REVENGE OF AN AUTOMOBILE

While Being Worried by Young Men the Machine Ran Into a Restaurant and Smashed Dishes and Tables.

Two young men amused themselves and worried the crowd in the basement of the Exposition Wednesday night by running an automobile through the aisles during the intermission between the evening concerts. They were showing off both the vehicle and themselves, and visitors to that part of the building were kept dodging most of the time.

The visitors had an unique revenge, however, when the automobile "bucked" on the two young men, and became unmanageable. They were just in front of one of the entrances to the basement restaurant. The machine took charge of its own progress, and after the manner of a hungry horse, bolted for the food.

There was a scramble of guests, a crash of dishes, and a flight of waiters. There was a smash of tables, and an upsetting of chairs, and—later, there was a bill to pay, and the auto can not be beaten for its naughtiness, as could a horse.

USES ELIXIR OF LIFE

DR. CHARLES SMITH, AT THE AGE OF 122, TAKES A WIFE.

HE IS THE OLDEST LIVING MAN.

There Is No Doubt as to the Wedding; for the Rest There Is Only the Doctor's Word.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 12.—Dr. Charles Smith, 122 years old, went a-wooing and got him a wife. He was born in 1777 and his bride is 45 years old.

Unable to believe his ears when the springtly bridegroom repeated his age, again and again the Rev. Thomas J. Cross asked him how he had defied death so long.

Smith, according to the certificate, is a practicing physician. The wedding took place on September 8 in a cottage where Miss Sallie May, the bride, and Dr. Smith were boarding. The doctor has an office there.

As the clergyman filled out a blank he asked Dr. Smith for his age, thinking he was about 65 or 70.

"How old do you think I am?" the old man asked, with a twinkle in his eye.

"Well, I'm sure your're of age," said the preacher.

"Yes," said Dr. Smith, "of age and 101 years more. Sir, I am 122 years old."

And then he told of his elixir. The Rev. Mr. Cross describes the bride as a well-formed woman of matronly appearance. Dr. Smith was married once before.

BOY WITH MUSIC IN HIS FEET

When Heidelberg was playing his piccolo solo at the Innes concert in Music Hall, Wednesday night, a small boy—about 10 years old, evidently—stood by the aisle and listened. It was easy to see by his face that he had music in his soul, and that he had a hard time keeping it there, as it was trying with all its might to bubble over. He kept clapping with his feet and beating time with his head, and nodding in tune with the notes of "Comin' Thro' the Rye," and all around him the audience looked and enjoyed.

Finally Heidelberg broke into variations on the old air, and they were almost ragtime in their complexity. The boy could stand it no longer. Out into the aisle he went, and soon he was "shaking his feet" to perfection.

His father saw what was going on. He reached out and grasped his son's arm. The boy started as if awakened out of a sound sleep. Then he dropped into his seat with flaming cheeks. He had been so affected by the music that he had forgotten where he was.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE WILL INVITE DEWEY TO VISIT ST. LOUIS.

I believe the people of St. Louis desire to see Admiral Dewey and would be delighted to honor him if he should be prevailed upon to stop here on his trip West. Any plan to have him do so meets with my hearty approval as president of the Merchants' Exchange. The Exchange will no doubt be the first of St. Louis' commercial organizations to extend an invitation to the Admiral. The matter was not taken up at the last meeting of the Board of Directors because it was not then settled that he would come West. It is not even now certain that he will do so. As soon as that point is settled the Merchants' Exchange will doubtless invite him to include St. Louis in his itinerary.

W. P. KENNETT,
President of the Merchants' Exchange.

IRISH PRIEST FOR ST. PATRICK'S.

It Is Said the East St. Louisans Have Won.

FR. JAMES SWEENEY THE MAN.

HE WILL SUCCED FR. CLUSE AS PASTOR.

Final Decree by Mgr. Martinnelli Thought to Be in Archbishop Jansen's Hands for Promulgation on Sunday.

It was stated positively in East St. Louis Thursday that the St. Patrick's Church troubles have been settled by the appointment of Father James Sweeney of Tipton, Ill., as regular pastor of the parish, Mgr. Martinelli, it is said, having forwarded the acceptance of Father Cluse's resignation to the Bishop Wednesday morning.

As a forerunner of the sudden termination of the long controversy Bishop Janssen of Belleville visited Father Cluse at St. Mary's Hospital Wednesday afternoon.

The Bishop is said to have been disappointed in the discovery that his Vicar-General was out of the city.

Immediately on the arrival of the Bishop in Belleville late Wednesday evening the report of the appointment of Father Sweeney was spread in East St. Louis.

It seemingly originated in Belleville, but many of the East St. Louis parishioners were confident that the appointment had been made and all were seemingly in the best of spirits at the virtual termination of the "war."

Vicar-General Cluse was asked to confirm the report Thursday morning before he started to the Bishop's residence in Belleville. The prelate would only say:

"There has been no announcement."

The tone of the Vicar-General spoke more than the words.

A call at the home of Father John Harkins, the new administrator and temporary pastor of St. Patrick's, as well as prelate at St. Mary's, was met with a response from the housekeeper that Father Harkins was indisposed and not able to receive visitors at that hour.

It has been the impression all along among the fighting parishioners that in the event of the acceptance of Father Cluse's resignation Father Sweeney would be installed as pastor, with an Irish-American curate. It is said the curacy has been tendered Father Downey, but that lacks confirmation.

The parish, it is said, will be in excellent condition for the reception of the new pastor.

About 360 signatures of parishioners have been attached to the Bishop's "document," reciting the conditions under which the ban of excommunication will be removed, which include an acknowledgment that the signers were wrong in their attitude toward church authority, an expression of sorrow for their actions in opposing the Bishop and an affirmation that they will remain loyal to their vows in such emergencies in future.

Many of the communcants have refused to sign the Bishop's paper, some insisting that they were in no way identified with the opposition to the appointment of Father Cluse, even though they might have worked secretly in sympathy with the movement to oust the Vicar-General from the pastorship. Others insist that while they may have been outwardly in full sympathy with the rebellion and gave of their means to sustain their views, it would be hypocricy to acknowledge that they were wrong in all their actions, and that it would be nonsensical to imply any sorrow therefor. A few say they will not sign any such document, for the reason that they have surely gained the point for which they contended—that is, the displacement of a German priest for an Irish-American pastor—and that if any apologies are necessary they are certainly due from the Bishop of the diocese and not from the parishioners.

There is no excitement around the church premises as a result of the report of the action of the metropolitan and the decision of the Bishop to send a priest into the field in full accord with the nationality and customs of a large majority of the regular communicants.

The parish school is in good working order and the various minor and social societies connected with the church are seemingly in as good shape as when in May last Father Downey gave way to Father Cluse.

Father Sweeney is expected to take charge of his new parish next Sunday morning. The announcement of his selection will probably not be verified by the Bishop until to-morrow.

The exact contents of Mgr. Martinelli's decree in the case are not known in the Belleville diocese by any other person than the Bishop, though it is understood that the metropolitan advised the acceptance of the Vicar General's resignation on the immediate ground that Father Cluse had earnestly endeavored to perform his duty and had expressed a desire to be relieved from the pastorship of St. Patrick's. Nor is it known what further disposition will be made of the Vicar General, he having formally resigned as prelate of the Germantown church to go to the East St. Louis field.

BOERS MARCH ON THE BRITISH.

In Three Columns They Have Invaded the English Territory of Natal and Cape Colony,

MAFEKING ON THE WEST IS THREATENED BY A HEAVY FORCE.

The War Has Really Begun and the Boers Have Wasted no Time in the Seizure of All Strategic Points Along the Border.

KRUGER'S CABLE TO THE POST-DISPATCH.

TROOPS AT STRATEGIC POINTS.

The figures given here show that England is not fully prepared to withstand an attack by the Boers. The contending forces were two days ago disposed as follows:

| | British. | Boers. |
| Near the Natal border | 12,000 | 15,000 |
| On the Western border | 2,000 | 8,000 |
| Southern border | 1,500 | 3,000 |
| Total on border lines | 15,500 | 26,000 |

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Boers have invaded British territory at three points.

Orange Free State troops have crossed the Orange River into Cape Colony and have occupied Philipstown. Their object is to cut the railway at De Aar Junction, which is considered an important strategic point.

Another column has invaded Natal at Laing's Nek, which they now occupy in force and have established a camp at Ingogo Heights.

A third column has marched through Reenan's Pass.

A dispatch from Mafeking, under today's date, says that Col. Baden-Powell has just sent a strong British force from Mafeking toward the border, with field gun and ambulances, presumably with a view of occupying advantageous defensive high ground.

The authorities of Mafeking are hourly expecting an attack, in which event the wires between Mafeking and Kimberley will be cut, and information entirely shut off.

The Beuchanaland police, a well-equipped fighting force of native warriors, have been ordered to concentrate within the town limits. No one is allowed to leave by either road or train without special permission, which is not granted to any able-bodied man. Nearly all the women and children have left. Confidence in their ability to repulse the Boers is increasing among the British.

Official confirmation of the announcement that the Orange Free State burghers have entered Natal by way of Van Reenan's Pass is at hand. It leaves no further room for doubt that acts of war have already been committed and that the campaign has begun.

News of an invasion on the northern border is also generally accepted as reliable. It seems improbable, therefore, that a clash between the forces of Briton and Boer can long be delayed, if, indeed, it has not occurred already.

This morning's dispatches furnish ample details of the situation on the frontier and enable a clearer exposition of the military status. It now seems that the Boers intend to act in two columns, those from the Transvaal working from the north and those from the Orange Free State working from the west, with the object of keeping the British forces at Ladysmith and Dundee occupied while parties of Boers slip past to destroy the bridges along the railway forming the line of communication between the British at Durban, Natal, the advanced base of Pietermaritzburg, and the front.

It is regarded as possible that the Boers will attempt to occupy Estcourt, where there are only a hundred men of the naval brigade, and the news that the Boers are raiding Zululand in the neighborhood of Eshowe is taken as a confirmation of this possibility.

An easy road connects Eshowe and Estcourt through Greytown and Pampoennek, and from Greytown it is also an easy reach to Howick, to the south. If the bridges along the Umgeni River were destroyed this would increase the difficulty of re-enforcing the British.

However, it is still suspected that the entire Boer concentration on the frontiers of Natal may be merely an elaborate feint to draw off attention from Mafeking, which many experts regard as the real object of the Boers. A successful dash there would give the Boers great prestige with the disaffected Afrikanders in Cape Colony.

Col. Baden-Powell's movement at Mafeking this morning is held to indicate that he is not prepared for sharp fighting, but probably expects it at that point.

WILL NOT OFFER MEDIATION

President McKinley Issues an Official Announcement Through the State Department.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The following statement was issued by the State Department to-day:

"The President has received a large number of petitions signed by many citizens of distinction, requesting him to tender the mediation of the United States to settle the differences existing between the Government of Great Britain and that of the Transvaal. He has received other petitions on the same subject, some of them desiring him to make common cause with Great Britain to redress the wrongs alleged to have been suffered by the Uitlanders and especially by American citizens in the Transvaal and others wishing him to assist the Boers against alleged aggression.

It is understood that the President does not think it expedient to take action in any of these directions. As to taking sides with either party to the dispute, it is not to be thought of. As to mediation the President has received no intimation from either of the countries that the mediation of the United States would be accepted, and in the absence of such intimation from both parties, there is nothing in the rules of international usage to justify an offer of mediation in the present circumstances. It is known that the President sincerely hopes and desires that hostilities may be avoided, but is unfortunately they should come to pass, the efforts of this Government would be directed, as they are at present, to seeing that neither our national interests nor those of our citizens shall suffer unnecessary injury."

RUMORS OF BOER MOVEMENTS

Direct Sources of Information From the Transvaal Have Been Cut Off.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—All kinds of rumors are telegraphed from South Africa regarding the Boer movements. Direct sources of information from the Transvaal and Orange Free State are, of course, cut off. London must rely on the news that can be obtained on this side of the border.

According to a dispatch from Cape Town it is asserted there that the Boers have arranged with Chief Linch-We, a prominent chief on the northwestern border, to take up arms against Great Britain.

It is reported that the Boers have mined three piers of the bridge at Komati Poort on the Komati River.

A dispatch from Durban says the arrangements for forming an outlander corps have been completed.

IN OUR CONSULS' CARE

Americans in the Transvaal Will Look After the Interests of All Britons.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—It is practically settled that the United States will look after the interests of Great Britain in the Transvaal in the event of war. Although Great Britain up to a late hour to-day had made no formal request for such action on the part of the United States, it is believed there is a perfect understanding to that effect between the representatives of the two governments. Mr. Tower, the British Charge d'Affaires, had another conference with Acting Secretary Hill at the State Department to-day at which it is believed an understanding was reached that the United States would look after the British interests in the Transvaal in case the withdrawal of the British representatives was made necessary by a declaration of war.

The United States representatives in the Transvaal and also in the British colony of Natal and Cape Colony, as well as the consuls in the Free State, will be very busy men in the event of an outbreak of hostilities, for in addition to the British interests which will be confided to their care, their first attention must be directed to those of American citizens. These are by no means inconsiderable in extent and value. The best information that the State Department has been able to gather tends to show that there are no less than 4,000 citizens in the Transvaal and Free State alone. These Americans are as a rule men of standing, representing in many cases great American manufacturing and exporting concerns.

PRETORIA, Oct. 12.—Five hundred Britishers have applied to the Landdrost for permission to remain in Pretoria. Permits to those considered eligible will be granted only after the proclamation of martial law. In many instances different members of the same family are taking opposite sides, so that the hostilities will be in the nature of civil war.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The afternoon papers express great satisfaction that the American Government has undertaken to protect British interests in the Transvaal. They say that the Americans are certain to show the same tact and devotion in discharging the responsibility which aroused the enthusiasm of "our kin beyond the sea" when the British undertook a similar task in their behalf.

THE PRICE WILL STAGGER HUMANITY.

Through the World and Post-Dispatch Kruger Tells What England Must Pay for Possession of South African Republics.

PRETORIA, Oct. 12.

To the World and Post-Dispatch.

Through the World and Post-Dispatch I thank American friends most sincerely for their sympathy. Last Monday the Transvaal Republic gave England 48 hours' notice within which to give the Republic assurance that the present dispute will be settled by arbitration or other peaceful means and troops will be removed from our borders.

This expired at 5 p. m. Tuesday. The British agent has been recalled and war is certain.

The Republics of the Transvaal and Orange Free State are determined that if they must belong to England a price will have to be paid which will stagger humanity. I have, however, full faith that the sun of liberty shall arise in South Africa as it arose in North America.

KRUGER,
President South African Republic.

TO ENGLISH FRIENDS.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—President Kruger has cabled the Transvaal European agent as follows from Pretoria, under date of Oct. 11:

"Please convey the heartfelt thanks of the Government of the South African Republic to their friends in England for the courageous way in which they have defended the cause of right. Whatever the outcome may be, the two Republics will always gratefully bear in mind the assistance and support shown them in these critical days."

DIPLOMATIC AGENT DEPARTS

Conyngham Green Took Leave of President Kruger at Pretoria Yesterday.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 12.—News has been received here that the British diplomatic agent in the Transvaal, Mr. Conyngham Greene, paid his formal farewell visits to President Kruger and the high Boer officials at Pretoria last evening.

Telegraphic communication with the Transvaal ceased punctually at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon (Transvaal time).

Everybody has left Charlestown, the last train bringing away the railway staff to Newcastle, while the exodus from Newcastle also continues. The Fifth Dragoons arrived this morning from India, landed immediately and at once proceeded to the front.

Dispatches from Durban, Natal, confirm the report that the Orange Free State authorities seized a train leaving Ladysmith yesterday morning for Harrismith. They also stopped a train due to leave Harrismith in the afternoon.

All the rolling stock has been ordered down the country out of reach of seizure.

CHICKEN FOR TOMMY ATKINS

Missouri Will Furnish Toothsome Rations for Soldiers of the British Army.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 12.—A single order of 250,000 pounds of dressed poultry, making fourteen carloads, has just been received here by a packing house from London, England. More than 100,000 chickens will be slaughtered this week in filling the order. Some of this consignment will be used by the British army and navy. Similar large orders from the same source are expected.

PRESIDENT STEYN'S POSITION

He Makes Clear Why the Orange Free State Stands by the Transvaal Republic.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Further particulars regarding the correspondence between President Steyn of the Orange Free State and Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Colony and British High Commissioner in South Africa, cabled from Bloemfontein, show that Sir Alfred, on Oct. 7, stated that the Imperial Government was reconsidering it situation, in view of the grave fact that both the republics were on a war footing, and were even then prepared to consider a definite suggestion for the termination of the crisis. In another dispatch he says:

"My object in all communications since cl. 2 has been to leave nothing undone to prevent such action on the part of the Transvaal as is calculated to make a pacific solution finally impossible. I cannot, however, ask the Imperial Government for a pledge either regarding the disposition of troops in British territory in South Africa or their dispatch from other parts of the empire."

President Steyn replied:

"The reasons for arming the Transvaal were the presence of an alien, hostile population in its midst which was always stirring up hatred and endeavoring, for political or financial reasons, to undermine the independence of the state. The Boers have never taken the offensive, not even after the Jameson raid, when the Transvaal was strongly armed and there were few British troops there.

"Regarding the Free State Army, it will be remembered that the Free State always lived in peace and in harmony with its neighbors, and has everything to lose and nothing to gain by a rupture. The burghers will certainly not be called out unless the Government is thoroughly convinced that the British troops on the borders of both states are a decided menace to the independence of the Transvaal, which the Free State is bound to assist."

MAY BE TRIED FOR TREASON

Rumor That Irish Members of Parliament Are to Be Prosecuted.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Sun of this city prints a rumor that the government will prosecute certain Irish members of the House of Commons on charges of high treason in consequence of their pro-Boer attitude.

BRITISH PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

Military Authorities Hope to Defer Active Operations Until Early in December.

Military officers agree that the first act of war will be the invasion of Natal during the night and the occupation of the battlefields of the first war of independence, Laings Nek and Majuba Hill. As no British force is believed to be within 50 miles of the tunnel leading into the Transvaal immediate fighting is not expected in that quarter.

Boer raids against Mafeking and in the rear of the British position at Ladysmith are considered unlikely, but a military expert scoffed at the idea that the defensive already occupied could be broken by an attack from the Transvaal.

"The campaign will not be a serious one," he said, "until the beginning of December, when Gen. Sir Redvers Buller will be prepared to march through the open country of the Orange Free State and leave Sir George White well entrenched in Natal. The Boers will not be allowed to fight on their favorite battlefields."

There is a general revulsion of feeling throughout the country respecting the whole controversy. The nation is suddenly united as one man in defense of the Empire. The outgoing soldiers received the greetings of excited and enthusiastic multitudes. War is now welcomed, since Kruger has justified English resistance to a secession movement within the Empire. The English conscience is no longer disturbed by any misgivings respecting the justice and necessity of war. President Kruger, by a single bad stroke, has convinced everybody, except Mr. Stead, that the English have a righteous cause. The greatest English battle for the Empire since Waterloo is coming on, and with 85,000 regulars in South Africa victory will be certain.

A well-known South African said that while President Kruge was getting old he never had allowed anybody to dictate policies to him, and that it was a mistake to assume that he had been rushed by by young and restless burghers. As the birthday of the grim old President coincided with the ultimatum it is more natural to suppose that he was influence by faith in his own destiny as the last of the Dutch conquerors. This informant added that there was no rival who could resist Kruger's will. Reitz was simply clay in the potter's hand. Joubert was the best natured and most honorable man in the Transvaal, but lacked the grit required for opposing Kruger on any question. Cronge was a man after Kruger's heart who was glad to do his bidding because he was ambitious to succeed him. Side lights like these help to explain the situation, but the ultimatum, while undoubtedly Kruger's individual act, remains a miracle of folly.

THE TWO BOER REPUBLICS

How They Came Into Existence and Why They Are Not One Government.

The question has been often asked, since the South African situation became warlike, why the Boers have two Republics—the Orange Free State and the Transvaal—instead of one solid Government? The fact is that the two Republics are essentially one in all questions affecting their foreign relations, and especially is this true with regard to Great Britain. Originally the Boers who now people the Transvaal were the daughters of the Orange Free State. This separation came about in this way:

After the Boers had been forced out of Cape Colony by the encroachments of the English they settled in what is now Natal, But in a little time England annexed Natal, and then the second movement (Trek) of the Boers into the wilderness of the north began.

He crossed the Klipp River, which was then the northern boundary of Natal land, and came to Mount Melanie and the Umiatusi, fighting Zulus every inch of the way.

England, noting the intention of the Boer to take the territory between the Klipp River and the Buffalo River, proclaimed the Buffalo River as the northern boundary of Natal. Again the Boer found himself homeless and a subject of Victoria.

His third trek began.

This time he crossed into what is now known as the Orange Free State, bounded on the east by the Drakensberg, on the north by the Vaal, on the south by the Orange, and on the west by the Vaal. In turn England annexed the Orange Free State in 1848.

His fourth trek commenced.

The fourth trek was taking the Boer across the Vaal River, northward into what is now called the Transvaal, or South African Republic, but on June 17, 1848, the Boer stopped at Bloemfontein, the capital of the Orange Free State, and changed the color of the English flag from red to white. He whipped the regulars of the empire in fine Dutch fashion, and when he re-treated to Boomplaats, where on Aug. 29, after a desperate fight, in which Dutch and Englishman went down to death locked in each other's arms, he was whipped.

The defeat but hastened the trek into the Transvaal. Some 12,000 of the Boers remained in the Orange Free State to harass and annoy their English conquerors, but the great body poured across the Vaal into the mountain and plain region of the Transvaal, and there began the erection of new homes and the founding of the new Republic, now presided over by Paul Kruger.

Just how long England would have refrained from making the Crocodile River the north boundary of its possessions (thus wiping out the Transvaal) if the Kaffir war of 1850 had not broken out it is impossible to say. She was importing convicts into the Orange Free State and quartering them with the indignant Boers when the Kaffir war, an apparently insignificant native outbreak, brought her to the realization of the fact that if she did not have the co-operation of the Boers in putting down the uprising it would take millions of treasure and many lives to suppress it and the Boers might become allies of the natives. The Boers appreciated the situation and he made his terms. He consented to join with England in resisting her new foes providing the independence of the Orange Free State was acknowledged and that republic freed from all English control. England accepted the terms in 1854 and the Orange Free State with its Boer rulers has been a recognized independent government since that time.

The Boer is slow to make innovations or changes of any kind, and this trait of character explains why the two republics have not united under one banner as a single government.

The Orange Free State now makes common cause with the Transvaal because she realizes that the conversion of the Transvaal to British territory means the same fate for her in the near future. The area of the Transvaal is 500 by 300 miles, within which are 120,000 square miles. The total population is about 850,000, of which less than 75,000 are Boers, the remainder being natives and men from all parts of the world. The state is divided into three sections—the hooge veld or uplands; the banken veld, or terrace lands, and the bosch veld, or bush country.

The area of the Orange Free State is 41,000 square miles. The population is 207,500. The proportion of whites to blacks in the republic is less than that of the Transvaal.

REMEMBER THEIR COMRADES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARLINVILLE, Ill., Oct. 12.—Five thousand visiting miners from Staunton, Gillespie, Litchfield, Clyde, Worden, Sovento, Collinsville and Belleville are in Mount Olive to-day commemorating the first anniversary of the Virden battle, which occurred Oct. 12, 1898. At 10 o'clock the visiting lodges of the United Mineworkers paraded the town, headed by four bands. The parade was three miles long.

A handsome monument was unveiled commemorating Joseph Gillespie, Ernst Kammerer and Ellis Smith, Mount Olive miners killed in the battle. The unveiling ceremony was performed by W. Hefli of Belleville, district president of the American Mineworkers, followed by an address by Hon. Thomas Williamson of Edwardsville. Addresses were also made by State President John M. Hunter, Mrs. Lucy Parsons of Chicago, and Alois Tauscher delivered an address in Slavonian and Carl Nolde of St. Louis in German. The exercises will be continued this evening.

Songs Free.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch gives free to every buyer a new and original song. The album contains 10 songs. Parts 1 and 2 were given with the issues of Oct. 1 and 8, respectively. Part 3, "I'm Nothing But A Big Wax Doll," by Malcolm Williams, who is well known to every matinee girl, will be issued with the Sunday Post-Dispatch of Oct. 15. Remember, these songs are written expressly for the Sunday Post-Dispatch and can be obtained in no other manner. Get the set by all means.

NO WIND; MUCH FOG.

ANOTHER TIME THE YACHTS FAIL TO RACE.

COLLISION IN THE HARBOR.

Expert Spears Tells the Post-Dispatch That Columbia Will Keep the Cup.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—There is no yacht race to-day. Too little wind and too much fog caused another postponement. The yachts will try it again to-morrow.

The steamer William Fletcher with the guests of Sir Thomas Lipton on board, collided in the fog with the ferryboat West Brooklyn, just off Governor's Island, soon after 8 o'clock this morning. Both boats sustained considerable injury, as the Fletcher struck bow on, carrying away her nose and making a big hole in the ferryboat's port side above the water line.

The Fletcher returned to the barge office and landed her passengers. There was some excitement on board both, but no one sustained injury.

The passengers of the Fletcher were trasferred to the tug E. S. Atwood and in about half an hour left for Sandy Hook boat to board the Erin. The ferryboat was taken to her slip at South Ferry by a tug boat.

A MATCH COMPANY'S TROUBLES

Action Against Its St. Louis Agent to Compel an Accounting.

The Hanover Match Co. of Hanover, Pa., through its treasurer, John Hawkins, instituted injunction proceedings in the United States Circuit Court Thursday morning against Joseph P. Goodwin of St. Louis to restrain him from disposing of their goods.

The petition recites a contract with Goodwin, in which he was made the agent for the Hanover Match Co., and as such authorized to negotiate the sale of the matches manufactured by them. As security for the merchandise intrusted to him Goodwin was required to deposit a bond of $3500.

The plaintiffs claim that Goodwin retained money in excess of that to which he was entitled and now has on hand matches belonging to said corporation which he refuses to surrender.

It is further averred that certain customers, among them Theodore Klipstein of St. Louis and I. H. Mittleman of Chicago, refuse to pay for merchandise received, the former asserting that he paid Goodwin, while Mittleman declines to settle, holding, it is alleged, that Goodwin had not lived up to his contract with him.

The amount involved in the various transactions is about $3000.

WANT TO SIT IN NEW ROOMS.

Councilmen Asking Why Their Chamber Is Not Completed.

Comptroller Isaac H. Sturgeon Thursday afternoon sent to President McMath of the Board of Public Improvements an inquiry as to why the new Council chamber has not been completed in time for the reconvening of the Council.

Mr. McMath will reply that the work will probably be completed within the time specified in the contract, which fixed Oct. 25 as the limit.

Mr. Sturgeon's inquiry was prompted by complaints of members of the Council who expected that when the Council reconvened it would take up the new Council chamber.

It is not probable that the chamber of the House of Delegates will be completed within the contract period. At Thursday afternoon's meeting of the City Hall Commission a request was made for the extension of the time to at least the 1st of November. The request was accompanied by a physician's certificate that Thomas, the artist who painted the panels, has been taken sick, and has not been able to give them their finishing touches.

The paintings for the Council chamber were shipped from New York Oct. 4, and are now due to arrive.

CATHERINE O'CONNER SUES.

Demands Her Dower Interest and Has Brought Suit to Obtain It.

Catherine O'Connor has filed suit against M. B. O'Reilly and the Annex Realty Co. for an accounting.

She claims that her husband, just before his death, gave a mortgage on a leasehold estate for 90 years he held at Ewing avenue and Olive street and that defendants are about to sell the property under deed of trust. She says she has demanded that her dower in the property be set aside, but the defendants have neglected to comply.

BARON THOMAS FARRAR DEAD.

A Distinguished British Authority on Trade and Finance.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Baron Thomas Henry Farrar of Abinger Hall, one of the most distinguished British authorities on trade and finance, and at one time permanent secretary to the Board of Trade, died suddenly this morning in his eight-first year.

PLAINLY SAW GATES' BODY.

Mrs. Clark Declares That She Viewed the Corpse.

SAYS IT WAS IN JESTER'S CARE.

CURTAIN OF HIS WAGON BLEW ASIDE REVEALING IT.

Prisoner Has Thrown Off His Mask and Abandoning His Reserve Now Recognizes Old Acquaintances From Indiana.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Mo., Oct. 12.—The corpus delicti will be established in the Jester case. This much can be authoritatively announced. It has been up to this time the only link missing in the strong chain of circumstantial evidence being coiled about Alex Jester.

The testimony which will prove the existence of the dead body of Gilbert Gates will be given by Mrs. Clark of Middle Grove, this county. The substance of her testimony has been carefully concealed by the prosecution. Mrs. Clark says: "At the time of the murder I was married and lived with my father near Middle Grove, the scene of the crime. I saw Jester pass on the morning after the crime was supposed to have been committed. He was driving one team and leading another. As they passed the curtain of the front wagon blew aside and there stretched out in the rear portion of the vehicle was the prostrate body of a man, his head to the hind gate and his feet propped up on some object behind the seat. I remarked to my father, 'That man must be drunk'—I knew afterward that he was dead.

"On leaving the house for Paris we passed near the site of the camping ground of Jester and Gates. Not far distant we came across a large puddle of blood in the snow. I wanted to investigate, but my husband said we must hasten on."

This is the startling evidence, probably, which has been promised by the State.

Mrs. Street made the statement to-day that her brother, Alex Jester, had committed to her certain knowledge three murders. She has grown sulky, however, and refused to talk last night. Mr. Cullen was very considerate with old Mr. Gates in his cross-examination, but was unable to shake the old man's story.

Jester has thrown off his mask completely, and abandoning his taciturn reserve, recognizes old friends from Indiana wherever he meets them. He is wonderfully pleasant when he wants to be, but his craftiness never deserts him.

He recognized Mr. Coontz of Indiana and shook hands with him cordially, saying: "I remember your father; he made me the first ax I ever owned." There is a motley host of witnesses present, mostly old men from Indiana, who knew Jester in his younger days.

The family seems to have borne an unsavory reputation. One aged man says that Jester preached long sermons in order that three horse thieves, who were his confederates, might have time to get out of harm's way with the horses which they stole from members of the congregation assembled.

BRIEF NEWS ABOUT TOWN

Filled Joey Bagstock's cup.
But the St. Louis chap
Who hangs on a street car
Is stirred by the cry, "Move up."

Fell From a Ladder.—Michael Cunningham, 52 years old, a housman at the Laclede Hotel, fell 30 feet from a stepladder at the hotel Thursday morning. He received a scalp wound. The injury was not serious.

Benefit.—The Sokol Gymnastic Association will give a fair for the benefit of their gymnasium Saturday night and Sunday afternoon and night, Oct. 14 and 15, at their hall, corner Ninth street and Allen avenue.

Lost His Balance.—John Green, a negro fireman on the tugboat W. P. Kavanaug, lost his balance while leaning on the boat's rail Wednesday afternoon and fell into the river at the foot of Soulard street. He was drowned.

Fender Caught Him.—Peter Fisher, 12 years old, was knocked down by a car of the Sixth street line Wednesday afternoon. The fender caught him and carried him fifty feet. He was unhurt except for a few slight bruises.

Symposium.—At the first meeting of a new organization called the Literary Symposium, held at Beers' Hotel Wednesday, Mrs. Martha Davis Griffith read a paper on Dickens' Tale of Two Cities. Similar meetings will be held each Wednesday during the winter.

One of Bryan's Men.—Albert J. Bennett, formerly a sergeant in Col. William J. Bryan's Third Nebraska Regiment, is at the City Hospital, suffering from malaria. He is a machinist and lives at 19 South Seventh street. He was discharged from his regiment May 11.

Merchants' League.—At the regular meeting of the Merchants' League Club last night forty-three applications for membership were filed and eighteen new members were initiated. Addresses were made by Judge John A. Talty, Sheriff John H. Pohlman and others.

About Completed.—The plant of the new anti-trust tobacco company at Fourteenth and Papin streets is about completed and it is announced that it will begin operations in December. Phil J. Heuer, recently connected with the trust, will probably be superintendent.

St. Louis University.—The Alumni Association of the St. Louis University held its autumnal reunion at the university Wednesday night. After a short business session, there was a luncheon, in the course of which addresses were made by a number of members of the association.

Mrs. Rohan's Death.—The coroner will investigate the death of Mrs. Martha Rohan of 92 North Eleventh street, who died at the City Hospital Tuesday. Blood poisoning was the immediate cause of death, but Post Mortem Physician Neiferd thinks there may have been a remote cause not yet made known.

Street Fountains.—Water Commissioner Flad will attempt to enforce the ordinance governing street fountains. Under the law a tax of 1½ cents for each 100 gallons is required. It is said that of 129 fountain owners only six pay the required license. In cases where owners refuse to pay the fountains will be removed.

Will Be Prosecuted.—Warrants charging larceny have been issued against the four boys who were released by Judge Clark Tuesday from a charge of burglary, based on the alleged robbery of slot gas meters. They police say, they are determined they shall not be blamed if the boys escape punishment.

For St. Barbara.—A fair and festival for the benefit of St. Barbara's Church and School will be given at Ofenstein's Hall, 5858 Easton avenue, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Oct. 17 and 18. On Tuesday evening a performance by young people of the parish will be the feature and on Wednesday evening by the school children.

A Peculiar Case.—Assessor Frederick has been asked to remit the taxes against a fine building that was burned last year after the assessment was made against it. He says that, although the case is a hard one, he has no authority to grant relief, as the law provides that the assessments made one year shall be the basis of taxation the following year.

THE BLESSINGS OF EXPANSION.

President McKinley's Address at St. Paul.

A CENTURY OF PROGRESS.

TOUCHES ON THE HISTORY OF THE LOUISIANA PURCHASE.

Cites the Results of That Act as a Justification of the Present Policy of Imperialism.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 12.—President McKinley and party arrived in this city at 11 o'clock this morning. An immense crowd assembled at the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway depot to greet the chief executive. As he emerged from the train tremendous cheering began and was taken up by the waiting crowds and carried down the line for blocks. Carriages in waiting conveyed the President and Cabinet to the home of Mr. Thomas Lowrey. Here a light luncheon was served. Meanwhile the train bearing home the Thirteenth Minnesota Volunteers from the Philippines arrived. The regiment formed in line at the head of Nicollet avenue. Carriages bearing President McKinley and his Cabinet drew up and took their positions at the head of the column.

The procession moved shortly after 1 o'clock, passing down Nicollet avenue to the center of the city. At Tenth street the President entered the reviewing stand and the Philippine veterans passed before him.

As the rear guard passed the reviewing stand the President drove to the Exposition building, where the principal events of the day took place. Within the building (where the Republican convention of 1892 nominated Benjamin Harrison for President of the United States under the chairmanship of William McKinley) was spread a feast for the Thirteenth Minnesota Volunteers.

At the conculsion of the banquet President McKinley was introduced by President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota. The President said:

"The century now drawing to a close has been the most memorable in the world's progress and history. The march of mankind in moral and intellectual advancement has been onward and upward. The growth of the world's material interests is so vast that the figures would almost seem to be drawn from the realm of imagination rather than from the field of fact. All peoples have felt the elevating influences of the century. Humanity and home have been lifted up. Nations have been drawn closer together in feeling and interest and sentiment. Contact has removed old prejudices at home and abroad and brought about a better understanding, which has destroyed enmity and promoted amity. Civilization has achieved great victories, and to the gospel of good will there are now few dissenters.

"The country has blessed us as a nation. While it has not given us perfect peace, it has brought us constant and ever-increasing blessings and imposes upon us no humiliation or dishonor. We have had wars with foreign powers, and the unhappy one at home, but all terminated in no lossea of prestige or honor or territory, but a gain in all.

"The increase of our territory has added vastly to our strength and prosperity without changing our republican character. It has given wider scope to democratic principles and enlarged the area for republican institutions.

"The first acquisition, in 1803, known as the 'Louisiana Purchase,' embraced 883,072 square miles, exclusive of the area west of the Rocky Mountains. Its vastness and value will be best understood when I say that it comprises the entire States of Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota and parts of the States of Minnesota, Kansas, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, Louisiana, all of Indian Territory and part of Oklahoma Territory. It would seem almost incredible to the present generation that this rich addition to the federal domain should have been opposed; and yet it was resisted in every form and by every kind of assault. The ceded territory was characterized as 'a malarial swamp,' its prairies destitute of trees or vegetation. It was commonly charged that we had been cheated by giving $15,000,000 for a territory so worthless and pestilential that it could never be inhabited or put to use; and it was also gravely asserted that the purchase would lead to complications and wars with European powers.

"Imperialism had a chief place in the catalogue of disasters which were to follow the ratification of this treaty, and it was alleged that this was the first and sure step to the creation of an empire and the subversion of the Constitution. The phrase which is now employed by some critics, 'planetary policy,' so far as I have been able to discover, first appeared here. Jefferson was made the subject of satirical verse:

"'See him commence, land speculator,
And buy up the realm of nature,
Towns, cities, Indians, Spaniards, prairies.'

"The opponents, however, were in the minority and the star of the Republic did not set, and the mighty West was brought under the flag of justice, freedom and opportunity.

"In 1819 we added 69,749 square miles, which now comprise Florida and parts of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

"In 1819 we added 69,749 square miles, which now comprise Florida and parts of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. In 1845 we received the cession of Texas. It contained 376,931 square miles, and embraced the State of Texas and parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico. The next cession was under the treaty of 1848, containing 522,568 square miles, embracing the States of California, Nevada, Utah and parts of Colorado and Wyoming, and of the Territories of Arizona and New Mexico. In 1853 we acquired by the Gadsden purchase 45,535 square miles, which embrace parts of Louisiana and New Mexico.

"The next great acquisition was that of Alaska in 1867, containing 599,446 square miles. This treaty, like that of the 'Louisiana purchase,' was fiercely resisted.

Malcolm Williams Composed It.

Part 3 of the Sunday Post-Dispatch Album of new and original songs, "I'm Nothing But A Big Wax Doll," which will be issued free with the next Sunday Post-Dispatch, Oct. 15, was composed expressly for the Sunday Post-Dispatch by Malcolm Williams, and can be obtained in no other manner. In all there will be 10 of these songs. Parts 1 and 2 have already been issued. Are you saving the sets? It is not yet too late to start. Ask your news dealer or carrier to get parts 1 and 2 for you.

The New Shoe for Women,

Week Before Last.

It has been a success beyond our most sanguine expectations.

The very liberal response which we have received to our announcements from day to day, clearly proves that the "SOROSIS" Shoe is the equal of any shoe made in all that constitutes merit.

St. Louis, Mo. Sept. 25, 1899.

Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Dry Goods Co.

Gentlemen--Having seen the announcement through the city papers that you are to handle the Sorosis shoes, I feel that it may be of interest to you to know that I have worn these shoes for the last year and can most heartily endorse them in every particular. Few women make so great a demand upon their feet as I do. My business as you well know necessitates a great deal of walking, and I have ever been on the alert to obtain such shoes as would afford the greatest amount of comfort, combined with a neat and elegant appearance. The Sorosis shoes meet both requirements. It gives me genuine pleasure to offer you this unsolicited testimonial in their favor.

Sincerely yours,
ANNIE L. Y. ORFF.

French Felt Fedoras,
With silk ribbon band, quill and leather sweat band—Knox block—very stylish.....Friday 85¢

Beautifully Trimmed Hats for $2.50
A Special Friday Bargain — Two hundred of them—Turbans and fancy shapes in black and colors, trimmed with velvet, stitched silk, fancy feathers and ornaments—style of a $5.00 Hat—Friday for only $2.50

$3.25 Smyrna Rugs, $2.25
Just a saving of one dollar on each rug—nothing the matter with them—one reason for selling them at this price is that we've only 20, too small a lot to keep, and there's only one pattern, but a good one; they're reversible and fringed with heavy knotted all-wool fringe. Out they go Friday at ..... $2.25 Each

Not a Woman Who Reads This Will Fail to be Interested.
It tells briefly of great bargain opportunities here Friday, of the slaughter of values almost without precedent, of fine elegant goods for very little more than the price of trash. Come and see for yourselves. We make a small charge for all alterations.

$10 Rainy Day Skirts for $6.95
350 of them, of best double faced plaid back golfing cloth, with nine rows of stitching around bottom, beautiful colorings and made in the very latest fashion—all sizes—these skirts worth fully $10.00, will go Friday at $6.95

$7.50 Golf Capes for $5.00
These stylish Capes are very scarce and are going up in price daily. We have plenty of the finest ones and are selling them for less than other stores can buy them for to-day. Among our great stock we have about 200 excellent 30-inch Golf Capes, made of rich golfing cloths, grays, browns, blues, reds, etc., made up with plaid inside. They're actually grand value at $7.50—our price Friday, each..... $5.00

THE WAR MUST BE FOUGHT OUT,

Funston's Opinion of the Philippine Situation.

FILIPINOS WILL NOT YIELD.

THINKS THEY ARE INCAPABLE OF SELF-GOVERNMENT.

The Kansan Thinks a "Stiff-Necked" Colonial Scheme Is the One for America to Adopt.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—"I see no reason why the Americans should not be sole masters of the Philippines by March next year."

This is the opinion of Brigadier-General Funston, who arrived at the home of his wife in East Oakland last night.

"The situation in the islands," he said, "has reached a stage where it is very easy to see how to cope with it. There must be no temporizing, no wasted sympathy, no foolish sentiment. It must be a case of fight! The Filipinos are now in such a frame of mind that they will not yield until they are thoroughly thrashed and convinced that it is useless to oppose America.

"I do not say this unadvisedly. I have given the matter many months of deep study and my knowledge of Spanish enabled me to converse freely with officers and prisoners on the rebel side.

"We arrived at Manila last December, which was two months before hostilities began. During those two months the officers of the Filipinos frequently came within our lines and I discussed with them every phase of the situation. They were very high-minded and gave me the opinion that they were well able to look after themselves and that it was all very well for the Americans to deliver them from the persecutions of Spain, but that, having performed that service we should be satisfied and let them alone.

"The best among them are ignorant. Occasionally I found a smattering of education. But they are absolutely an ignorant race and quite incapable of self-government.

"It is true that they possess much shrewdness and are cunning, but in reality the chief trait in their character is treachery. It is this which has enabled them to make as good a showing as they have made, but this is no argument nor can it be made so, that they are capable of governing themselves.

"Suppose that they were left alone. The islands would be the scene of insurrection without any possibility of restoring peace. Only a strong power can take hold of those islands, subdue the various factions and place them on a solid footing."

"I am convinced that the best way to govern the islands is to give them a firm, stiff-necked colonial government, molded on the same lines as the government of colonies of Great Britain. There should be a governor general who should have absolute power over the civil government, and also the command of the United States troops and any native troops that it may be considered judicious to organize.

"This may seem strange, but I am convinced that as soon as the rebellion is crushed there will be an entire change of heart among a large percentage of natives and they will be quite willing to carry arms under American officers.

"With the 35,000 men now down there and the additional 25,000 that will be on the ground when the November campaign opens there will be ample soldiery to walk through the islands. Sixty thousand troops will teach these Filipinos the lesson they deserve. But it must not be a campaign of temporizing. It must be aggressive and persistent from the start. There must be no let up and no opportunity must be given the rebels, once routed, to recover.

"The Filipinos are no match for Americans on the battlefield. In one instance, at Caloocan, where the Kansas troops engaged we lost two men while I personally counted 112 dead Filipinos. This is, of course, not a fair comparison, but the Americans are certainly as much superior under arms to Filipinos as six to one.

"The seat of all the trouble at this time is the Filipino Junta at Hong Kong. This pernicious little body is keeping the war alive. It is in communication with the insurgents, and it supplies Aguinaldo's army with the hope from which it lives. It sends out reports of fearful disaster to our troops that never occur. It imagines all manner of friendly feeling the world over toward the Filipinos. It assures them of all kinds of outside support without foundation, and in this manner keeps their spirits alive.

"The Filipinos are busiest just now circulating reports that the trend of public opinion in this country is against the American procedures in the islands. They are informed by this Junta that a majority of all the States have pronounced against the policy of the Administration, and that they have only to wait until the next general election when the United States will grant them their independence.

"Aguinaldo himself is shrewd but not clever. He circulates and corroborates all that the Junta sends out, and adds to it all that his cunning imagination can devise. With him the campaign is a great confidence game. If his people could be induced to accept the situation they would desert him to-morrow.

"So long as these fellows think they have a ghost of a show of holding up their end they will maintain the rebellion, and if the American army fights them at every hand I believe they will turn as a whole and come flocking into our camp, and will have no further use for that prince of confidence operators, Aguinaldo."

SCHWAN ORDERED TO RETREAT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Gen. Schwan, after taking possession of San Francisco de Malabon, with sacrifice of American life, has been ordered to vacate the city and return with his column toward Manila, which order he is now obeying. Gen. Otis' dispatches follow:

"Schwan was successful yesterday in driving the insurgents south, with loss, from San Francisco de Malabon. He reports their forces disintegrated and retreating on divergent roads, which are impassable for artillery or wagons.

"There is no intention of occupying this country permanently or temporarily; transportation will return by way of Rosario and column will move in the direction of Das Marinas, probably retiring on Imus. The country is of no strategic importance."

Gen. Otis disapproves of officers' families joining them at Manila. He cabled the department as follows:

"Population Manila is much congested. Provision for officers' wives can not be made. Those already arrived, together with the families of enlisted men, have caused much perplexity. Would not permit my own family to come under existing circumstances; nearly all officers and men here are absent from Manila on duty; families should await more peaceful conditions."

An additional dispatch from Gen. Otis this morning says:

"Schwan's column is moving on Sapang and Das Marinas to-day, where opposition is expected. His artillery and wagon transportation is returning to Bacoor by way of Rosario. A column of 500 men is marching from Imus to support Schwan if necessary. Young, in the north, has occupied Arayat and supplies are being moved up the Rio Grande by Cascoes to that point. Lawton will command column when full concentration is concluded. Young's loss to-day, one enlisted man, who was wounded to-day. Insurgents attacked Angeles lines, quickly repulsed; six enlisted men slightly wounded."

TROOPS MUST RESTORE ORDER,

Then Grant Filipinos Independence Says Bryan.

HIS WAY TO BRING PEACE.

GUARANTEE TAGALS FREEDOM WHEN THEY ARE READY.

The Moment a Stable Native Government Is Established America's Duty, He Says, Is to Withdraw Troops.

DES MOINES, Io., Oct. 12.—Col. William J. Bryan declares in an interview that troops should not now be withdrawn from the Philippine Islands. He said:

"I do not favor the withdrawal of our troops. What I do believe, and have repeatedly announced, is that we should at once declare our position in unequivocal terms, so positive that the Filipinos cannot doubt it, to grant them full and complete independence the moment they have established a stable government. I believe if we should make such an announcement right now the war would cease in a very short time and our troops could withdraw without laying down their arms in the face of an enemy.

"Furthermore, I believe if we had come out with such an announcement in the beginning the war never would have occurred. I am not unaware that a few half-hearted efforts have been made in that direction from time to time, but they were made in such a way as to raise strong question of their sincerity."

Regarding next year's campaign Mr. Bryan said: "We are planning to make things just as lively in the campaign next year as possible, and I think we will succeed better than in 1896. Former issues have changed somewhat and new ones have come in which strengthen our position and will add many votes to our column. I do not deem it advisable or possible to state so far ahead what issue will be chief in importance. Conditions and circumstances may change between now and then, so as to make certain issues of greater relative importance than now. Our issues of 1896 are just as important now as then; others have arisen since then and still more may command attention."

NEW YORK IS NOW BRYAN'S.

Croker Defeated Hill and Controls the State Committee.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Richard Croker is the new Democratic State leader and will swing New York to Bryan next year. In the State Committee meeting last night he signally defeated David B. Hill in all contests.

Later in the evening Croker sprung the following resolution on the State Committee:

"Recognizing that William J. Bryan is the natural and approved leader of the Democratic party in the nation, the Democratic State Committee of New York hereby expresses its solicitude for his health and strength, and while he is temporarily stricken on the people's battlefield, they beg to assure him of their loyalty and love."

While Croker was speaking in indorsement of this resolution Hill crossed the room, and, shaking his finger under the Tammany chieftain's nose, said, with trembling voice:

"Now, Mr. Croker, I want to tell you one thing. You can change your mind once about Bryan; you can change your mind twice—yes, three times; but you have changed it twice in six months, and I want to say to you that if you change it again you will be charged with insincerity—you will be insincere. Remember that, Mr. Croker."

Mr. Croker laughed, stood up, and, looking Hill straight in the eye, retorted:

"Well, you are something of a lightning change artist yourself."

This provoked uproarious laughter among many of the members, but Hill's face was as impassive as that of an image. For an instant he hesitated, and then roared:

"Remember, this is practically an indorsement of Bryan for the presidential nomination. Remember that!"

"I'll remember that," replied Croker with a smile.

When it came to a vote the Bryan resolution was adopted by a vote of 34 to 14. It means that the New York delegation in the next Democratic National Convention will be for Bryan, and that Croker will be in control.

Capt. Henry Guibor, veteran of the Mexican and Civil Wars, who is seriously ill at the Mullanphy Hospital, was resting easy at noon Thursday, and in no immediate danger of death.

THE MINISTER'S COFFEE.
Hurt Him Worse Than the Devil Did.

"I used the old-fashioned coffee from my babyhood, and like many others, thought I could not live without it. Was in the army four years during the Rebellion and came out very much broken in health. I was compelled to quit the active work of the ministry for more than a year at a time, suffering terribly from stomach and intestinal troubles and torpid liver, with the consequent nervous headache and prostration, lumbago and rheumatism.

"Four years ago, being confined to bed with these troubles and ulceration of the liver, my physician positively forbade the use of coffee and brought me some Postum Cereal Food Coffee. Since that time myself and family have used no other coffee. All my intestinal trouble has been greatly relieved and I no longer suffer from rheumatism and very little from torpid liver or biliousness.

"I am fully convinced that coffee is very largely responsible for the greater part of all stomach, intestinal and liver troubles from which people suffer. I am now 53 years old, and my health has been so much improved that I do as much work as I ever did and with about as much comfort. I can conscientiously attribute it chiefly to the use of Postum Cereal Food Coffee. There are several friends who have had valuable experience with the leaving off of coffee and the use of Postum Food Coffee. It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to help humanity to understand that the very general cause of sickness is, I consider, largely attributable to mistakes in the use of food and drink." Rev. J. A. Flickinger, Pastor of the Lutheran Church, Ray's Hill, Pa. Grocers sell Postum Coffee, and Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., make it at Battle Creek, Mich.

REFUSED TO JOIN US,

AGUINALDO DECLINED A VOLUNTEER ARMY COMMISSION.

PRESIDENT M'KINLEY'S PLAN.

Orders Were That the Tagal Leader and His Associates Should Be Treated as Citizens.

OWOSSO, Mich., Oct. 12.—A paper written by Perry S. Heath, First Assistant Postmaster General, was read before the Michigan Republican Newspaper Association in session here.

After a complimentary preface Mr. Heath takes up the Philippine question. He says:

"We are fighting for peace in the Philippines. We are pledged to the world to secure it, and if the United States is to maintain her position among civilized nations, we must in good faith perform these duties, which stand higher than the determination of what men shall hold the civil offices in the Philippine Islands.

"In the cloud of misrepresentation and calumny which our opponents have raised on this Philippine question they ignore the facts of history. They talk about the slaughter of innocent Filipinos who are begging for mercy and peace. There is no slaughter of innocent Filipinos. Those whom our troops are encountering are armed rebels, seeking to destroy the authority of the United States in the territory which, by the arbitrament of war and by the terms of the treaty of Paris, passed under our control. There has never been a moment since Dewey steamed into Manila Bay and annihilated the Spanish fleet that Aguinaldo and his followers could not have had peace, protection and such share in the Government as they deserved. But this did not satisfy them.

"President McKinley's instructions were that Aguinaldo should be given a commission in our army, and that he and those associated with him should be treated as our citizens. Yet this did not satisfy his cupidity.

"Possibly he could not control his men, who demanded that the city should be given up to pillage and murder, and prisoners should fall by the sword. When our soldiers restrained them, they rebelled and turned upon us the guns and ammunitions with which we had supplied them. From first to last President McKinley has consulted with Admiral Dewey as to the situation in the Philippines, and in almost every case has been guided by his advice. He has appointed two commissions and exhausted every method of honorable adjustment. He stands to-day, as he has stood from the beginning, for peace first and the settlement of the question of government afterwards."

FILIPINOS NOT IGNORANT.

Bishop Chapelle Says Luzon's Illiteracy Is Less Than Massachusetts.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 12.—Archbishop P. L. Chapelle, Apostolic Delegate to the Philippines, will leave next month for Manila.

His Grace is expecting great results from his efforts in the archipelago.

"The per capita illiteracy of the Island of Luzon," he said, "is less than that of the State of Massachusetts."

The attention of the Archbishop was called to a Washington dispatch in which it was announced that President McKinley would appoint him Government trustee of the interests acquired by this Government in the church property by cession of Spain's possessions to this country.

"That is erroneous," said his Grace. "The church property in the Philippines belongs exclusively to the church. The Queen and Government of Spain had not one cent of interest in that property, and the United States, therefore, acquired none of it. The priests have been in Luzon for 300 years. Naturally they have acquired much property as well as influence, and in that time they have civilized the people."

VETERANS WARMLY GREETED.

Thirteenth Minnesota Home From the Philippines War.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 12.—The four sections of the specials bringing home the Thirteenth Minnesota Volunteers after an absence of seventeen months, most of it in service in the Philippines, arrived in this city at 6 o'clock this morning, being greeted by a salute of thirteen guns, general screeching of whistles and ringing of bells and wild cheers of thousands of friends awaiting their arrival.

The soldiers were marched to the Auditorium, where breakfast was served, after being first given an opportunity to greet their relatives. After breakfast, they returned to the train and were taken to Minneapolis, where they will be reviewed by the President this afternoon, that city being selected for disbandment of the famous regiment which was mustered into the volunteer service in St. Paul.

WE SHOULD EXPAND TO SAMOA

Chief Justice Chambers Says Germany Has No Interest There and England Would Get Out.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Oct. 12.—Hon. W. L. Chambers of Sheffield, Ala., formerly Chief Justice of Samoa, is one of the visitors at the Industrial Convention. He was shown a Washington dispatch in which mention was made of apprehension over affairs at Samoa. The Chief Justice said:

"You may expect to hear of small uprisings in Samoa for some time to come. The provisional government now in control there is not sacred to those people. It is a form of government which the natives cannot understand, and will not, therefore, be a success.

"The people will not be rightly governed until one power takes control. Germany has no interest there. The policy of expansion should be extended to cover Samoa and this trouble would cease. England and America are in sympathy and the action jointly of those two powers would effect this. I believe that England would not hesitate to withdraw from Samoa, if it were suggested by the United States."

Resolutions Presented.—Corwin H. Spencer and C. N. Duffy, president and secretary of the National Railway Co., have presented a handsomely bound and printed copy of resolutions adopted by the company to Capt. ## PIANOS.

We especially invite all, even the most skeptical, to call and examine our new Pianos, being received daily for the fall trade. These facts we stand by:

Our Pianos are well made, of best material, by skillful workmen. We have our reputation to keep up, therefore we cannot afford to handle anything inferior. We own and guarantee every Piano in our store. Although our prices are about one-third less than the exclusive dealers, our instruments are first-class—prices being low because we are satisfied with a small profit, for we have you for a life-long customer in all lines and can afford to sell close, while the dealer says, Just once, get good prices—and he does it. Come in and see what Crawford's can do for you in a Piano. The finest Piano in the city for $175.00—not slightly used, but entirely new.

HE WANTED IT KEPT A SECRET.

RAN AWAY TO EDWARDSVILLE.

Mr. Wendler's Employers Were Beginning to Be Worried Over His Absence, but It's All Right Now.

"Well, that acounts for it. I was getting a little bit worried about him, as I hadn't heard from him in a week."

So spoke Manager B. E. Buckley of the Excelsior Collecting Agency when the Post-Dispatch told him that Fred Laurence Wendler, a traveling agent of the company, was married Wednesday to Miss Luella Meyers of Mason City, Ill., at Edwardsville, Ill.

It was an elopement and Mr. Wendler and his bride wanted the marriage kept secret.

They arrived in Edwardsville at noon and went at once to the County Clerk's office for a license. They then called a cab and drove to St. John's parsonage, where they were married by Dr. C. O. Kimball.

They imposed the utmost secrecy upon every one who had anything to do with the wedding and no record of the license having been issued appears in the books at the courthouse, County Clerk Reinliker having promised to keep the matter secret for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendler are said to have come to St. Louis on an afternoon train. If they arrived they have not notified Mr. Buckley, who is probably the most intimate friend of the groom.

"The scamp," said Mr. Buckley, laughing. "That is why he hasn't made his reports as usual. You see, Fred travels for the company and reports to me. He is a fine fellow and regular as clockwork, and when he didn't make a report for several days I was afraid something had happened to him.

"I knew he was interested in Miss Meyers, but did not suspect the extent of his interest. He met her several months ago in Illinois at a banker's house and seemed to be greatly impressed with her. She is about 25 years old and handsome and I believe her family is wealthy. Fred is from Tiffin, O., where his relatives are prosperous and prominent. He is about 27 years old.

INSPECTING ROUTES.

COUNTY COURT CONSIDERING FRANCHISE PETITIONS.

SUBURBAN MAY BE IN IT.

Rumor That the Proposed Colorado Line May Make Connection With the Suburban.

The St. Louis County Court met in chambers Thursday to consider the terms of the franchise granted conditionally to the St. Louis, Kansas City & Colorado Railroad several weeks ago.

There was a difference of opinion as to the demands that should be made, and the court resolved itself into a committee to go over the proposed route to make a personal inspection and to have the matter more thoroughly explained. The judges donned their hats and immediately started out on their mission, accompanied by County Attorney Heidorn and officials of the Colorado.

One of the terms practically agreed upon by the court is that the streets in Clayton traversed by the road shall be macadamized the entire width of the street, with curb and gutter on each side. It was also demanded that the applicants furnish unmistakable assurance that the road is to be operated exclusively by electricity.

It is specified in the application that only electricity will be used, but according to the State law, when the company becomes chartered by the State, it has the right to use either electricity or steam, regardless of the terms of the county franchise.

There was some objection to the franchise on the grounds that after the road shall have been built every highway by which the Courthouse at Clayton may be approached will be occupied by an electric line.

County Attorney Heidorn urged that it be specified that but one set of double tracks be allowed to be built on the North and South road or any of the principal strets of Clayton. He desired, if a franchise were granted to the Colorado to construct a double track line, that a proviso be made that any other line obtaining a franchise over the same or a part of the same route be allowed to use the Colorado's lines upon the proper compensation.

W. M. Mitchell, general manager of the Colorado, and Judge R. H. Stevens, the road's general attorney, seemed willing to agree to any just terms the court might impose, but were anxious to avoid delay, as it is the desire to have the road constructed by spring.

The St. Louis, Kansas City & Colorado Railroad's application is for a franchise to construct a double track electric line from the road's right of way in St. Louis County to the St. Louis County Courthouse. The new line will run along the North and South road or Meramec avenue, as it is known in Clayton.

There is a rumor in connection with the application that the entire eastern end of the Colorado line from Union avenue to Creve Coeur Lake is to be converted into an electric line, connecting with the Suburban at Union avenue in such a menner as to give a new and direct line from Clayton and Creve Coeur Lake to the business center of St. Louis.

NOT A COLLECTION AGENCY

Police Judge Kinsey Declines to Recognize Settlements of Cases Out of Court.

The two cases against Arthur Baber, altering destruction of property and a disturbance of the peace, were continued in the Police Court Thursday morning.

Baber lives at 2930A Eighteenth street. On October 8, it is alleged, he entered the saloon of John House at 2900 South Jefferson avenue, while intoxicated, created a disturbance and broke up a billiard table.

The case was continued once. Thursday morning, when it was called, there were none of the witnesses present and Baber said that House agreed to not prosecute if he paid $10 for damages sustained. He said he had already paid $5.

City Attorney Taylor called Judge Kinsey's attention to the case and it was again continued. The judge announced that his court could not be used as a collection agency.

"I feel as if I should fly to pieces." How often those words are on a woman's lips. They express to the uttermost the nerve racked condition of the body, which makes life a daily martrydom.

If this condition had come suddenly it would have been unbearable. But the transition was gradual. A little more strain each day on the nerves. A little more drain each day of the vitality. Any woman would be glad to be rid of such a condition. Every woman tries to be rid of it. Thousands of such women have been cured by Dr. Pierce's treatment with his "Favorite Prescription" when local doctors had entirely failed to cure.

Sick women suffering from unpleasant drains, irregularities, bearing down pains, inflammation and ulceration are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter free of charge. Every letter is guarded as a sacred confidence. All letters are promptly answered and mailed in private envelopes without printing of any kind upon them.

"Favorite Prescription" is in the fullest sense a temperance medicine, containing neither alcohol nor opium or other narcotic in any form. Accept no substitute.

Mrs. Rena Hensel, of Massillon, Stark Co., Ohio, writes: "I had been troubled with chronic constipation and female weakness and doctored with different physicians, none of whom seemed to help me. I saw one of your advertisements, and I thought I would try your medicines. I did so and with good results. Took one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and two of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I can say I am cured of my troubles, thanks to Dr. Pierce and his medicines. They do a world of good to those who give them a good trial."

FOUGHT OVER A STOVE

BUTCHER WAS IMPATIENT.

Stove Wasn't Repaired on Time and Mr. Ehrengott Didn't Like the Explanation Mr. Hogan Gave.

Charles Martin C. Hogan, a contractor residing at 2827 Randolph street, appeared at the City Dispensary Thursday forenoon in a badly damaged condition. His eyes were blacked and his face and head were a mass of bruises.

He said George Ehrengott, who runs a butcher shop on Boyle avenue, between Pine street and Laclede avenue, did it, and that as soon as he could get to the warrant office he was going to make Ehrengott feel the power of an outraged law.

While Dr. Vogel was patching up Mr. Hogan's wounds the patient told his story. He said he had a contract to repair a stove for Ehrengott and had done his best to carry it out. Unfortunately the Ehrengott stove was of peculiar construction, and it was necessary to send to New York for a part that was needed in repairing it.

Hogan says he met Ehrengott on the streets Thursday morning and told him why there had been delay in fixing the stove. Ehrengott didn't like the explanation. He said he didn't believe it. Hogan told him that if he was in such a hurry to get the stove fixed he might pay his—Hogan's—expenses to New York, and he—Hogan—would get the necessary materials and bring them back and do the work. Ehrengott didn't see anything for Ehrengott to do but wait for the material to come by express.

Ehrengott appears to have regarded this explanation as frivolous, if not insulting. He was seated in his wagon, but it wasn't far to the ground and it wasn't long before the muscular butcher was on the sidewalk demonstrating to Hogan that the latter's explanation about that stove was in no wise satisfactory.

He knocked Hogan down a couple of times and when Hogan wouldn't stay down he kicked him in the face to convince him that it was the proper thing for a man to do if he couldn't fix a stove on time and without suggesting a trip to New York as a possibility in connection with it.

Hogan was cruelly hurt and said he would prosecute Ehrengott if it cost him all he had. He was sent to the warrant office to make complaint.

Cancer.

Mrs. S. M. Idol, Winston, N. C., writes: "Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, sister, and aunt having died from this dreadful disease. I was thoroughly alarmed, therefore, when a malignant Cancer appeared on my side, and at once sought the treatment of the best physicians. They were unable to do any good, however, as the Cancer continued to grow worse and spread. I then tried S. S. S., which forced the disease out, and cured me permanently."

HE JUSTIFIED MRS. GRIFFIN

Judge Clark Acquits the Woman Who Thrashed Another Woman for Coming to Horsewhip Her Sister.

Mrs. Nellie Griffin of 2845 Franklin avenue was tried and discharged in Judge Clark's court Thursday morning on a charge of assault and battery on Mrs. Jennie Stonewell of Belleville, Ill.

The testimony showed that Mrs. Stonewell came over to chastise a sister of the defendant. She brought a horsewhip with her. Mrs. Griffin took the plaintiff's whip from her and used it with telling effect. Judge Clark said she was perfectly justified in doing as she did.

HAS SURRENDERED HIMSELF.

John Moorfield Will Meet the Charge of Grand Larceny.

John Moorfield, against whom a warrant was issued July 15, alleging grand larceny, gave himself up to the sheriff Thursday morning and was immediately released on bond.

Moorfield formerly lived with his uncle at 5642 Garfield avenue. A cigarmaker named McCullough lived near by. Moorfield and McCullough's wife became friends. McCullough went to Mt. Vernon, Ill., to buy a farm and get his wife away from Moorfield's influence.

Mrs. McCullough came back to St. Louis, bringing with her $800. She met Moorfield and they took the McCullough household goods and moved to 1710 Papin street. Moorfield, it is claimed, took $400 of Mrs. McCullough's money and disappeared.

THINK IT WAS INCENDIARY.

Burning of Dr. Chadwick's Stable Under Investigation.

The detective department is working on the theory that the burning of Dr. Chaddick's stable, 3750 Lindell boulevard, in which Philip Dyson, colored, was burned to death, was the work of an incendiary.

Thursday morning Detectives Lally and Harrington arrested a negro. None of the police officials will talk about the case.

GOT A WORKHOUSE SENTENCE.

Mattie Wickersham Pleaded Guilty to a Charge of Larceny.

Mattie Wickersham, the servant who was arrested for stealing clothing from her employer, Allen C. Caldwell, on Maryland avenue, pleaded guilty to petty larceny Thursday morning in the Court of Criminal Correction and was sentenced to six months in the Workhouse.

THEY WILL GATHER AT PARIS

Congress of Automobilists to Which St. Louis Is Expected to Send Several Delegates.

Capt. A. H. Maddox of the Bureau of Publicity to the United States Commission, Paris Exposition, says it is proposed to hold an international congress of automobilists at the Paris Exposition in 1900.

The project is under consideration and there is a unanimous sentiment among chauffeurs that such a congress would be distinctly valuable to automobile inventors and manufacturers all over the world. It is possible the congress will meet in the Paris Automobile Club on the Place de la Concorde. No more spacious or agreeable assembly rooms could be imagined.

Alterations on an extensive scale have been carried out during the summer, and by the early months of next year the club will not only have big salons and extensive dining rooms at the disposal of its members, but will even have its own private theater, in which representations will be given and which would be admirably adapted for any lectures during the time the congress was being held.

Damages Asked by Miss Whiteside of Maplewood.

JUDGE HANSMANN, DEFENDANT.

HE IS BOTH JUSTICE AND POSTMASTER OF THE TOWN.

Considerable Agitation in the Suburbs and the St. Louis Federal Authorities Are Investigating the Case.

Most of the conversation at Maplewood these days is about the suit for slander filed by Miss Tennie Whiteside against Postmaster Eugene Hansmann.

Miss Whiteside belongs to an old and well-known St. Louis County family and is a social favorite. She and her sister, Mrs. Ollie Wilcox, and their mother and brother live at Maplewood, where they own several houses. Of course, everybody in the little suburb knows them.

Equally, of course, everybody in the suburb knows Postmaster Hansmann. Mr. Hansmann appears to have a faculty for getting into the public eye wherever he may reside. It will be remembered that he did this very effectually when he was connected with the St. Louis Home of Rest.

And as he is a Justice of the Peace, notary public and dealer in cigars, candy and other articles at Maplewood, in addition to being postmaster, it is natural that he should be a conspicuous figure in the community.

How long he will continue to be postmaster is problematical. He was told flatly by Postoffice Inspector J. D. Sullivan Wednesday that unless he produced a witness whose name he said he did not know, the department would probably take action on a complaint made against him by Mrs. Ollie Wilcox.

Mrs. Wilcox's complaint and the consequent investigation of Postmaster Hansmann grew out of the same incident that caused Miss Whiteside to sue him for slander.

Mrs. Wilcox's complaint, which was drawn up by Attorney James G. Pratt, counsel for her and her sister, sets forth that Thursday, October 5, Mrs. Wilcox went to the postoffice and asked for her mail; that Hansmann accosted her in a rough and insulting manner, flaunted a postal card in her face and said that it was a threatening and obscene communication addressed to him and was written by Tennie Whiteside; that he said he had proof that Tennie Whiteside mailed the postal card and that he had informed the Federal authorities and would see that Tennie Whiteside was put in jail, where she belongs; that Hansmann repeated his charges and threats several times, his language and manner to Mrs. Wilcox being tantamount to an assault on her as well as a slander of Tennie Whiteside, who, Mrs. Wilcox asserts, could not have mailed the postal card, as Hansmann charged; that R. F. Stevens of Maplewood was present and heard and saw Hansmann thus assault and insult Mrs. Wilcox.

Although Hansmann still claims to believe that Miss Whiteside wrote the postal card, he did not make any complaint to the Federal authorities.

They heard nothing of the offensive postal card until Mr. Wilcox's complaint was filed.

Inspector Sullivan was detailed to investigate. Hansmann denied having spoken roughly or rudely to Mrs. Wilcox or making any threats against Miss Whiteside. He refused at first to produce the postal card, but Inspector Sullivan insisted on having it and got it.

Hansmann admitted he had charged that Miss Whiteside wrote the postal card and said his charge was based on information given him by a young man who saw Miss Whiteside mail the postal card in St. Louis, on Oct. 4, and told him of it before it reached Maplewood.

Hansmann said he didn't know the name of the man who told him this, but that he thought he worked for a hardware company.

After hearing Hansmann's statement Inspector Sullivan said to him: "I have seen Stevens and he corroborates Mrs. Wilcox's statement. It is very important to you that you produce the man you say told you you would receive the postal card."

Hansmann asked for time to find witnesses and no report on the case has been made. In the event the Inspector's Office finds that Hansmann's conduct has been such as to justify his removal a recommendation that he be removed will be sent to Washington.

The wording of the postal card is not obscene or profane. It charges that Hansmann is too officious to be a satisfactory postmaster and expresses the belief of the writer that he should be removed.

The writing is apparently not that of a woman, though as the characters are printed with a pen, that cannot be stated with certainty.

According to Hansmann's claim a clerk in a hardware store in St. Louis told him that Miss Whiteside left the card in the hardware store to be mailed Oct. 4.

Miss Whiteside and her sister state that they can readily establish the fact that she was not in St. Louis any day last week, except Saturday. They are very positive that Miss Whiteside neither wrote nor mailed the card nor had any knowledge of it until she heard of Hansmann's charges.

Hansmann was appointed postmaster at Maplewood on the recommendation of Congressman Bartholdt about six months ago. He didn't live at Maplewood, having his residence at Old Orchard, but the non-residence of an appointee is a small matter to the good Dr. Bartholdt. It is a matter of postoffice history that he once had a St. Louis man appointed postmaster at Jefferson Barracks and the appointee never got his commission because the department at Washington was so ignorant as to send it to Jefferson Barracks, where the appointee never thought of going to inquire for mail. It is related further that this display of ignorance by the department nearly cost the good Dr. Bartholdt the friendship of the St. Louis man, who, being from Missouri, had to be shown that the commission was really sent to him.

The people of Maplewood didn't like the idea of a non-resident postmaster and they made such a row about it that Hansmann removed to Maplewood about a month ago.

Last January Hansmann was appointed Justice of the Peace at Maplewood by the County Court. He has his judicial office in the same building as the postoffice, and people out at Maplewood say he takes a keen delight in administering the law as he interprets it. He likes to try cases and he is said to be a good computer and collector of costs.

Attorney Pratt charges that Justice Hansmann stirs up litigation. Mr. Pratt says Hansmann's desire to do a big business as a magistrate is at the bottom of his attack on Miss Whiteside.

Hansmann, according to Mr. Pratt and Mrs. Wilcox, induced a milkman to sue Miss Whiteside for 40 cents, alleging that it was her purpose to leave Missouri and go to Texas without paying the bill. Miss Whiteside produced a receipt for the money and the suit was dismissed. This, it is said, engendered hard feeling between Hansmann and Miss Whiteside and her relatives.

Hansmann said to the Post-Dispatch: "I deny absolutely everything these women say about me. They are prejudiced because I have tried to make them pay their debts. I have nothing else to say."

Mrs. Wilcox, a refined looking, bright-eyed little woman, with gray hair and a face too young for such a frame said: "This whole thing is abhorrent to us, but we were forced to act in order to protect Tennie's character. This man has made himself obnoxious, not only to us, but to every person living in Maplewood. He has stirred up strife in this community ever since he came here, instigating lawsuits and trying to run the town. You go to Mr. Sutton, Mr. George Baker, Judge Lippelman, Mr. Marshall, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Bennett, or any one else living here, and they will tell you how he stands in the community."

Probably a dozen persons were questioned about the Postmaster. Every one of these said that complaints about Hansmann were frequent.

Hansmann formerly lived in St. Louis and managed the Home of Rest. While in that capacity he figured to some extent in the public prints and there were some dissensions in the society that maintained the home because of his management.

PURSE FILLED WITH WEALTH

Miss La Barge Found and Returned a Pocketbook Containing Diamond Rings and Much Cash.

Miss Mamie Brogan of Fort Smith, Ark., who is visiting in St. Louis, lost a purse on Broadway, Wednesday, containing $65, three diamond rings, valued at upwards of $300, another ring, valued at $75, a trunk check and a railroad ticket. Miss Bergen advertised her loss and offered a reward for the return of the purse and contents to Harland Bros., Sixth and St. Charles streets.

A young lady returned the purse and all the valuables it contained Thursday morning. She said her name was Miss la Barge. A reward of $10 was paid.

CLEVER SCHEME TO SWINDLE.

St. Louis Is Flooded With "Catchy" Letters.

AUTHORITIES ARE AT WORK.

INSPECTOR DICE BELIEVES IT A GREEN GOODS GAME.

Straight Proposition From the East to Supply Merchants Here With Counterfeit Bills That Are Perfect.

The United States authorities are investigating a gigantic swindling scheme which, according to the prospectus of the promoters, has for its object the manufacture of counterfeit money. The headquarters of the alleged conspiracy to defraud the Government is at Allentown, Pa.

Hundreds of persons in St. Louis have received letters from the conspirators during the last week. Over 100 of these communications are now in possession of Chief Postoffice Inspector Dice.

After a conference with District Attorney William Morsey, Mr. Dice notified the Washington officials of the Secret Service Department and every effort will be made to run down the perpetrators.

Mr. Dice stated to the Post-Dispatch that he believed the proposition would be found to be a green goods game whose agents are operating from New York City. The circular mailed to the St. Louis people reads in part:

CONFIDENTIAL.

My Dear Sir—Your name was sent me by my son (who is my traveling representative) as a shrewd, reliable and trustworthy man for me to co-operate with in your vicinity, and I therefore take the liberty of making you a proposition that 99 out of 100 up-to-date men would gladly grasp if they could personally examine my work, thereby convincing themselves of the absolute safety of my offer.

The writer is an expert engraver, having for 22 years been employed in the Bureau of Engraving, Washington, D. C., and for 12 years was superintendent of one of the largest bank note companies in the country. During my leisure I took up as a side issue the duplication of ones, fives and tens, and as these were the original denominations I had worked upon you can believe me when I say they are perfect duplicates.

Now, my dear sir, I am fully aware of the suspicion and prejudice that you naturally will entertain for my proposition, as you will on first thought class it as coming from a green-goods or sawdust swindler, but if you will lay aside that prejudice, apply common sense and look at my proposition from a business standpoint, compare it with the methods of these petty swindlers and you will credit me with not being fool enough to waste my time in addressing a man of your intelligence and standing in the community.

The writer then goes into an exposition of the methods of the so-called green-goods men, and after elaborate assurances that his scheme is really designed to make spurious money, says:

Now, compare these methods with my proposition: Firstly, I am not addressing an ignorant farmer. Secondly, I do not want you to send me 1 cent. What I want to know is whether you will be willing to co-operate with me to the disposal of my goods, providing I prove to you beyond all doubt, that my work is all I claim for it, that it cannot be told from the genuine, even by experts. Understand, I do not want you to invest $1 until you have examined my entire stock from $1 to $100,000, compare them with the genuine, and in fact, submit them to any test you see fit, then, after you are thoroughly satisfied on every point you can decide whether you accept my proposition or not. The fact is, an investment of $500 will give you an immediate return that a life-time of toil in your present business would not do this without injuring friends, neighbors or your fellow-man. To convince you of the safety of the business, I will, upon receipt of telegram—as per inclosed note—send you a sample of my work, and I will also appoint a place to meet you, so that you can personally examine my entire stock.

If for any reason you decide not to co-operate with me, I trust as an honorable man you will honor the protection that the word "confidential" insures to all communications, and not be so heartless as to destroy my life's work, so kindly burn this and let the matter drop. Trusting, however, to hear from you immediately, I remain, confidentially yours,

OLDEST STEEL PLATE ENGRAVER IN THE UNITED STATES.

P. S.—For obvious reasons I have omitted all names, dates, etc., from this letter.

In case the offer is accepted, the parties are to be addressed by telegrams, the cipher of which must read: "Keep duplicate copy No. —— of Dr. Gordon's book. To James P. White, Allentown, Pa."

The sender is also requested to sign only his initials, and under no circumstances must he reply by letter. On the envelope is the address of the Empire Cereal Co., New York City.

Among those who received the letter was J. J. Cunningham of 4213 Racecourse avenue. He was much perturbed when he approached the District Attorney concerning the communication.

"To think they would ask me to go into such a scheme as this," said he. "I have been a resident of St. Louis 45 years and this is the first time such a proposition has ever been made to me."

Mr. Dice pointed to a large stack of letters on his desk and said: "There is a partial result of the canvass in St. Louis. I feel confident it is the old green goods game, and the schemers have selected St. Louis and the West as a desirable field for their operations. I believe it my duty to warn the public in time, as these men number their victims by the thousands, and the present circular is so seductive as to induce many gullible persons to fall into the trap.

"It is difficult to apprehend these swindlers, as we have found in many cases that the telegraph operators are working hand in glove with them. They have a perfect system enabling them to elude the authorities, as all their operations are conducted through a middle man who cannot be proved to have an identity with the fraud."

A Strike Epidemic.

Strikes are serious things, and in view of the number that have occurred it is well to remember that until the cause be removed, dissatisfaction will depreciate work and prove a menace to society. But it is not only the commercial life which has its strikes. The whole country is groaning under the strike of the stomach, and many people make the mistake of trying to suppress the symptoms instead of removing the cause. There is but one sure way of curing the ills which arise from a rebellious stomach, and that is by an honest use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Use it for indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, liver or kidney trouble, and see that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

IN HIGHWAY FASHION.

ATTORNEY PLAISTED ASSAULTED BY TWO MEN.

HE FOUGHT DESPERATELY.

In Consequence He Shook Them Off and They Fled Precipitately—Two Persons Under Arrest.

H. M. Plaisted, a patent attorney living at 1516 Locust street, beat off two highwaymen who attempted to rob him on Locust street near Sixteenth street Wednesday night, and by his resistance caused their arrest.

The men assaulted Plaisted in typical highway fashion. He was walking east on Locust near the corner of Sixteenth street, when a man stepped in front of him from behind a tree box and with a revolver pointed at Plaisted's head commanded him to throw up his hands.

At the same time another man whom Plaisted had not seen threw an arm around his neck.

Plaisted grabbed the hand that held the revolver and cried out for help. A struggle ensued. The man whose arm was around Plaisted's neck tried to bear him to the ground. The other highwayman pulled and jerked to free the revolver.

Plaisted kicked and screamed and struggled between the highwaymen. The robbers did not continue the fight more than a few seconds. The man behind Plaisted released his hold and struck Plaisted in the face. The blow caused Plaisted to let go of the revolver.

The highwaymen darted across the street and ran east on Locust street. Plaisted pursued, calling "Stop thief." Policemen and night watchmen gave chase.

Ed L. Frank and Henry Mann were arrested charged with the attempted robbery. They were captured while running away.

GOOD DOCTORS

Are Quick to See and Appreciate Real Merit in Any Preparation—Many of Them Are Now Purchasing Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in All Stomach Troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a discovery of great value to the medical profession and the public. They are an unfailing specific in all cases of dyspepsia and disordered digestion.

Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more or less, and the commonest thing they do for it is to take some one of the many so-called blood purifiers, which in many cases are merely strong cathartics. Such things are not needed. If the organs are in a clogged condition they need only a little help and they will right themselves. Cathartics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done, you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one, or two tablets—give them needed help, and you will have no trouble.

It's a common sense medicine and a common sense treatment and it will cure every time. Not only cure the disease, but cure the cause. Goes about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific way.

We have testimonials enough to fill a book, but we don't publish many of them. However—

Mrs. E. M. Faith of Byrds Creek, Wis., says: I have taken all the Tablets I got of you, and they have done their work well in my case, for I feel like a different person altogether. I don't doubt if I had not got them I should have been at rest by this time.

H. E. Willard, Onslow, Io., says: Mr. White of Canton was telling me of your Dyspepsia Tablets curing him of dyspepsia, from which he had suffered for eight years. As I am a sufferer myself, I wish you to send me a package by return mail.

Phil. Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

It will cost 50c to find out just how much Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will help you. Try them—that's the best way to decide.

All druggists sell them. A little book on stomach diseases will be mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

WAS AFRAID OF HER HUSBAND.

Mrs. Emma Doyle of 6737 Scanlan avenue committed suicide at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ida Kreher, at 2613 Sublette avenue.

Though Mrs. Boyle's body was found early Wednesday morning, the police did not give out the information until late in the afternoon. The only apparent reason for Mrs. Doyle's act was that she feared to meet her husband, who had just been released from the Workhouse, where he had been sent on her complaint that he had beaten her. The agent she chose was carbolic acid. She was dead when her sister entered her room.

Mrs. Doyle owned the house at 6737 Scanlan avenue and lived there until recently. The neighbors regarded her as mentally unbalanced. After her prosecution of her husband she went to live with Mrs. Kreher. Last Sunday night Mrs. Doyle's home was burned. Investigation showed that almost every portion of it had been thoroughly saturated with gasoline.

An inquest was held Wednesday and a verdict of suicide rendered, but the Coroner made no official report until Wednesday night. The woman left a brief note turning over her property to her sister and stating the reason for her suicide.

MR. MILLS AND HIS SPECTACLE.

Some Misunderstanding as to the Place of Production.

For $2 any woman or child may secure an engagement to act as a super in a production of Dante's "Inferno," which a young man living in a lodging house at 1905 Olive street says he is going to put on at the Germania Theater.

But the manager of the theater says the theater has not been engaged by the young man. The latter is A. B. Mills. He has advertised in several papers recently for children and women to apply at Harmonie Hall, Eighteenth and Olive streets. A long engagement in M. Arthur's spectacular production of Dante's "Inferno" is promised and good salaries assured.

Mills declared he charged $2 each for training the supers. About 25 have been engaged. He stated that his show was in Wisconsin, and would open here at the Germania Nov. 1. The Germania manager declared the house was engaged for that evening by another company and that Mills had not engaged the house at all.

WILL COME TOGETHER

JONES, STONE AND COOK TO MEET IN ST. LOUIS MONDAY.

SENATOR WILL BE ADVISED.

Conference of National Democratic Committeemen on the Detail Work of the Committee.

A conference, the result of which will have an important bearing on the conduct of the National Democratic Committee's affairs, will be held in St. Louis Monday next.

The men who will sit in this conference are Senator J. K. Jones, chairman of the National Committee; Gov. W. J. Stone, acting chairman; George K. Johnson, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and Sam B. Cook, the financier for the party.

The ostensible purpose of the conference is the transfer of the work and responsibility of the committee from Gov. Stone to Senator Jones.

The alleged business of the committee is to set Senator Jones straight on the popular political questions of the day, to inform him of the death of issues that were live ones when he set sail on the summer seas; of the birth of sentiments he never dreamed of; of the appearance of new stars in the constellation of candidates and aspirants; the manufacture of platform planks out of timber that was not grown when he left the United States, etc., etc.

Gov. Stone said in effect to the Post-Dispatch Thursday that Senator Jones would learn where the senator stood in the conference. But the acting chairman professed to believe that the "conference" was not arranged for a more important purpose than to acquaint the chairman with the detail of the business transacted during the latter's absence.

He also said that his only personal information about the meeting was a telegram he received from Senator Jones Thursday, stating that the senator would arrive in St. Louis Sunday night and remain here until Monday night.

"I saw a dispatch in a paper from Chicago, stating that Mr. Johnson was coming to St. Louis to meet Senator Jones. I had a note from Mr. Cook about a committee matter yesterday. Nothing was said in this note about meeting Senator Jones.

"Now, of course, if we three meet we will discuss the affairs of the committee and inform Senator Jones of the details of what transpired during his absence. I wrote him about all matters of importance while he was away, but we did not keep him posted on the minor details.

"Now that he is going to take up the reins, he needs to know where he stands, and everything that has been done."

For Cheap Excursions, Oct. 17, to points West, Northwest and Southwest, the FRISCO LINE will run PULLMAN IMPROVED TOURIST SLEEPING CARS from St. Louis to Oklahoma Territory, Texas and other Southwestern points without change, insuring passengers high-class accommodations at about half the usual rate. Particulars at ticket office, 101 N. Broadway.

HIS WATCH AND MONEY GONE

Max Gobbert, Traveling Salesman, Says He Was Drugged and Robbed and Has Two Persons Arrested.

Max Gobbert, who says he is a traveling salesman, complained to the police that he was drugged and robbed in a hotel near Twelfth and Olive streets Wednesday night.

As a result of his complaint persons giving the names of Maud Thompson and John Hamlon are locked up at the Four Courts pending an investigation.

According to the story told by Gobbert he met Maud Thompson in House's saloon at Sixth and Market street at 7 o'clock Wednesday night. They went to the wineroom, he says, and drank some beer. Then they went to the Elite Hotel, so he claims, at 201 North Twelfth street. He said he took one glass of beer and immediately became so drowsy he could not hold up his head.

At 11:45 o'clock he came to his senses, he says. He looked about him and felt for his watch. It was not there. Then he thought he was robbed. He looked in his inside vest pocket and found that his roll of bills, amounting to $150, was missing. He went out on the street and found Policeman Bunting and Shea. They investigated, and as a result, the arrests were made.

Maud Thompson and Hamlon were found at 1200 Chouteau avenue. The woman is 18 years old and not uncomely. She says she came from Chicago a few weeks ago and had been living with Hamlon ever since they had been in St. Louis. She admitted being with Gobbert, but denied that Pacadeag by Chief Swingley to the fire she robbed him. Hamlon says he is employed in the Big Four freight offices in East St. Louis. He admits that he and the Thompson women live together, but he denies any knowledge of any robbery.

WERE MARRIED IN HASTE

George W. Shipp of Boonsboro, Mo., and Miss Irene Heyman of New Orleans or St. Louis.

George W. Shipp of Boonsboro, Mo., and Miss Irene E. Heyman of 1801 Chestnut street were married at Justice Robert Walker's office Thursday morning. They left the office after the ceremony was performed, but declined to say where they were going.

They were at the Courthouse Thursday morning when Marriage License Clerk Gus Filley opened his office for the day. They were apparently greatly excited and would say so little about themselves that Clerk Filley had trouble getting all the information from them that of course I would that the law requires him to have before issuing a license.

Shipp said he was 35 years old. He looked like a prosperous farmer.

Filley describes Miss Heyman as being "perfectly lovely." He said she was dressed in good taste and was educated and refined. She admitted, he says, that she did not live at the address given, but had just arrived from New Orleans to meet her husband-elect. That is the only statement either would make.

More Firemen.—Mayor Ziegenhein has approved the appointment of Herman T. Reitz, F. W. Kansteiner and A. H. W. Pacadeag by Chief Swingley to the fire department.

THE MAYOR AS A CORN-HUSKER

He Is Anxious to Meet Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago at the Peoria Husking Carnival.

"I don't think Mayor Harrison will meet me in a corn-husking contest," said Mayor Ziegenhein Thursday, referring to his challenge. "I think he is afraid to. I don't think he would amount to shucks in a corn-husking contest. If he hadn't been afraid of me he would have accepted the invitation of the Peoria people, wouldn't he? I accepted their invitation in good faith. I fully expected to go up there and husk corn. And I expected to win the contest, too. That would have been a great day for Peoria.

"I got letters from towns in all parts of Illinois asking me if I was going to husk corn at the carnival. The writers all said they wanted to be there if I did. I answered them that of course I would husk corn if the Mayor of Chicago would husk against me.

"Do you think I could beat him husking corn? Why, my young Christian friend, I learned to husk corn when I was 5 years old. That was out here in St. Louis County, where Gen. Grant and me grew up together. I took a full course in corn-husking and I have not forgotten what I learned. I will be ready any time. I don't know what has become of my old husking-peg, but I can make one in about two minutes out of a hickory stick and a piece of leather."

First Lieutenant.—Company H of the First Regiment, N. G. M., has elected Conrad Otto as first Lieutenant. He was formerly sergeant of the company.

CITIZENS RAISED A RED FLAG

Passengers, strap or otherwise, who rode downtown on the Suburban cars Thursday morning, had their attention attracted by a big red flag flapping at the end of a pole in front of 1909 Wash street.

At first they thought there was a wreck ahead, but investigators who dropped off to find what it was all about learned that the flag had been reared by indignant citizens as a rebuke to Mayor Ziegenhein's street department.

The trouble all started when a gas connection was made from the street to one of the houses on the block a week ago. Residents in the neighborhood say there has been a big hole in the street ever since. This hole is directly in front of the office of the Third district of the street department, over which Chris Schawacker presides as superintendent.

Citizens in the block aver that when they put the flag up Wednesday evening Schawacker looked on from the window of his office and smiled. All complaints to the street department have been answered with a statement that the city has no money to pay for filling up the hole.

Y. M. H. A. Smoker.—The Young Men's Hebrew Association gave its first smoker of the season Wednesday night at 2737 Locust street. It was a successful affair, attracting a large number of members and friends.

JUDGE WOOD'S REPLY FILED.

His Answer in the Beer Inspector's Case.

JURISDICTION OF HIS COURT.

HE HOLDS HE HAD LEGAL RIGHT TO MAKE ORDER.

Insists That He Is Not Endeavoring to Interfere With the Executive Office and Asks to Be Discharged.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 12.—Attorneys Finklenburg, Lehman and Kehr of St. Louis, for Circuit Judge Wood of that city, this morning filed returns and answers in the Supreme Court in banc in the injunction proceedings against Beer Inspector Kennamore.

In the returns and answers Judge Wood holds that he is by law invested with jurisdiction in injunction cases and bound to consider applications of that kind when presented to him, but that he did not deem it proper to issue an injunction without giving the defendant an opportunity to be heard, wherefore he simply issued an order on defendant to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue, all of which Judge Wood claims is in accordance with the statutes of this State and the usual practice in such cases.

After citing the record of the Circuit Court, and the statutes on which that court bases its action in this case, the defendant says:

"It is provided by said law that a remedy by writ of injunction or prohibition shall exist in all cases where an irreparable injury to real or personal property is threatened, and to prevent the doing of any legal wrong, whenever, in the opinion of the court, an adequate remedy cannot be afforded by an action for damages, and that the original jurisdiction to issue or dissolve or modify injunctions is vested in the Circuit Court or the judge thereof in vacation, or in cases specially provided in the State Court or the judge thereof, in vacation, and not elsewhere; nor have the honorable Supreme Court or the judges thereof, at chambers or in vacation, any final jurisdiction in cases of injunc-

e defendant, after stating that he, as e of the Circuit Court, was satisfied, judicially determined that from the pein the cases and the affidavits filed pport thereof, the plaintiffs were enled prima facie to the relief demanded, e denies that the proceedings in controversy and his judicial action therein was or is an attempt on his part, or on the part of the court of which he is a judge, to prevent and obstruct the executive department of the government of the State from carrying out its functions, or an attempt to hinder a legally qualified and appointed inspector of beer and other malt liquors from the performance of the duties of his office, as devolved upon him by the statute laws of this State.

The defendant also holds that he as Circuit Judge has original jurisdiction in such cases, and that it belongs to the Supreme Court only to put final construction upon the statutes of the State by trying such cases on appeal from the Circuit Court. The defendant closes by praying that he be discharged, and that the rule and order heretofore rendered in the Supreme Court by Judge Burgess, in vacation and at chambers, be set aside and dissolved.

Judge Ferriss of the St. Louis Circuit Court of St. Louis, and the brewers of the State of Missouri, also incorporated, returns and answers in those filed by Judge Wood. Judge Ferriss held that he had nothing to do with the case, as he is Judge of Room No. 6, and these proceedings properly belonged in Room No. 5 and originated there under Judge Wood.

The brewers hold that the law is unconstitutional.

ENFORCING CIGARETTE LAW

Alton Authorities Determined That Its New Ordinance Shall Be Respected by Dealers.

H. E. Gudell, who keeps a grocery and notion store at Sixth and Henry streets, Alton, Ill., was arrested Wednesday on a charge of selling cigarettes.

Some months ago an ordinance was passed by the City Council fixing a tax of $100 on all dealers who sold cigarettes. The dealers refused to handle the goods, and it was impossible for many weeks to buy cigarettes in Alton.

Mr. Gudell had a small stock of cigarettes on hand at the time of the passage of the ordinance and he thought there would be no wrong in disposing of what he had. The question was taken before the council at their meeting Tuesday night, and it was voted to dismiss the case upon Gudell's promise not to sell any more.

Auction Sale of Acre Tracts.

Henry Hiemenz, Jr.'s, auction sale, to take place Saturday, Oct. 14, will comprise 14 lots of rich land on Gravois avenue, just south of the River des Peres, to make a settlement among the heirs. These lots have from two to four acres, and can probably be had for very little money now, while constantly increasing values there will make them quite valuable in years to come. The electric line on Gravois avenue is being pushed to completion, and will run to the city limits. The desire is to sell every lot; and any purchaser there, at any price, will certainly make a profit on his outlay.

ALL SORTS OF WOES,

DISTRIBUTED THROUGH WARDS OF THE CITY HOSPITAL.

ATTORNEY M'KEAG HURT.

Cattleman From Vinita a Victim of City Ruffians—Boy Jumped on a Car and Sadly Injured.

Levy Crum of 821 North Thirteenth street is at the City Hospital slowly recovering from morphine poisoning. He took the drug, he says, to secure relief from pain.

Louis Stevenson, a basket maker, is under observation. He was picked up Wednesday night by a policeman at Eighth and Morgan streets. The policeman reports Stevenson was acting strangely and making unusual noises. Stevenson says the policeman made a serious mistake.

Dr. Nietert thinks the policeman was right and will detain the patient a few days.

Edward Clayton is a butcher, but his special assignment consists in slaughtering cows for the Nelson-Morris Packing Co. That is what he was doing Wednesday when a cow stepped on his right foot, causing a serious contusion and necessitating a trip to the hospital.

Morris McKeag, an attorney, with an office at 904 Olive street, jumped from a Washington avenue car Wednesday evening and alighted on his head. A scalp wound was the result.

McKeag says the motorman was to blame. The motorman and conductor agree that Mr. McKeag couldn't possibly have gotten off the car safely until it came to a full stop.

Jessie Donnigan's head is swathed in bandages and his left thumb is broken. Jessie is 10 years old and as dusky as the ace of spades. Still Jessie's mother thinks more of him than she does of any other bairn, so among the parental injunctions was one forbidding him to hop street cars.

Now, Jessie is contrary, and he jumped on an electric car without thinking a thing about what mother told him. He fell off nearly as quickly as he jumped on, and the ambulance was called to do the rest.

While Frederick L. Kelly may be a big man in Vinita, I. T., he doesn't think his greatness amounts to much when he strikes a cosmopolitan city like St. Louis.

Mr. Kelly is a cattle man, and when he landed at Union Station he called up a live stock agent and made arrangements to dispose of his stock in trade.

Then he went out on a slumming tour. He wanted to learn social conditions as they exist in St. Louis, and then go back to dear old Vinita and tell all the neighbors about it.

The first man Fred struck was a hot tamale peddler. "Sing, ho, for the jolly farmer," remarked the vender, as Kelly passed. "Don't you want to buy some tamales?"

Fred flashed his money, and the peddler counted the change, as they do on the stage.

Into a buffet Fred went, chewing the tamale. He was welcomed right royally, and Fred concluded he was training with a pretty good lot of fellows, after all. He supplied the crowd with drinks and two of them immediately claimed to be old residents of Vinita.

Now that's as far as Fred can remember of what happened to him.

He has a broken leg, and his face looks as though it had seen better days. It is being soothed in arnica.

Fred believes he must have done that "slide, Kelly, slide," act or else some one threw him down.

"Now, all I've got to ask," said Fred, "is that this thing be not telegraphed to my home paper, which is published near Vinita, because if the Cyclone knows about it there is apt to be an indigation meeting in the town and I'll be blamed for something I couldn't help."

INNES COMPLIMENTED

THE BANDMASTER RECEIVED A LARGE FLORAL PIECE.

P.-D. REQUEST PROGRAMME.

An Enthusiastic Audience Greeted the Second P.-D. Concert and Cheered the Brilliant Music.

If anything, the second Post-Dispatch request concert with the Innes' band in Music Hall Wednesday night, was a greater success than was the first, ten days ago.

There was one happy incident of this memorable evening that was not down on the bills. That was the presentation to Innes of an immense floral piece by the Post-Dispatch, in compliment to him and his excellent band. This was in the form of a stand, 6 feet high and 4 feet wide. It was made of laurel leaves and immortelles, and in the corner, on the left side, were bunches of red roses, tied with ribbon of the same color. On the stand, in letters of the immortelles, was this inscription:

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH.
COMPLIMENTS TO
F. N. INNES,
THE GREAT BANDMASTER.

This was presented to Innes just after the "Jubel" overture, and as two men carried it out on the stage from the wings, the great hall was swept by waves of applause. The audience cheered itself hoarse as Innes bowed repeatedly, and it would not keep quiet till the band had responded with "America."

The piece, which was both artistic and effective, was made by Ellison and Tesson.

Innes was greatly pleased with the tribute and declared he intended to have it cared for and taken to Pittsburg, where he plays next week. The laurel and the immortelles will last, and he will have the roses replaced there, and on the night he gives the Post-Dispatch request programme—which he intends to do—he will have the tribute on the stage of Carnegie Music Hall.

Innes has only three more days in St. Louis. He is devoting them to special music. On Friday night he will give the last of his Wagner concerts, which have been so popular, and on Saturday night, he will play a parting programme of farewell numbers only. This will be unique, and the collection of good-by music he has put together for his last playing here is remarkable.

Innes will leave many friends behind when he goes.

HER DREAM OF LOVE

Morphine and a Faithless Lover Figure in the Wretched Story of One Young Woman's Life

On a cot at the City Hospital lies a young woman, pale and wan, striving to conquer an enemy which has pursued her for years. She is suffering from morphine poisoning.

A young man played upon Annie Long's affections. Her heart went out to him and she followed his inclinations.

Annie was taken to the City Hospital Wednesday afternoon at her own request. She was despondent, she says, and besides the drug she indulged in strong liquor to drown her sorrows.

Annie Long is now 30 years old. The records show she was a patient at the Female Hospital for three months. It is stated she was a victim of the morphine habit.

"I have been using morphine," she said, "for several years. They cured me at the Female Hospital, but it is so hard to quit the habit. You see, when I was working in a laundry I met a young fellow who treated me so nicely that I fell in love with him. Not for some time did I learn that he was a morphine fiend.

"Try it, Annie," he said to me one night. 'You will like it.'

"Whenever we met after that he used to give me the drug. It was not long before I found I could not do without it.

LAST CHANCE TO SEE THE EX.

Final Programmes of Entertainment Arranged to Attract the People and Interest Them.

Woodmen of the World and Ladies' Circle day attracted large crowds of enthusiastic visitors to the Exposition Thursday.

The sportsmen's show in the Coliseum began at 3 o'clock, with Lee Schuyler's high dive of 80 feet into the tank. Miss Margaret Knabner gave high and trick diving, assisted by Earl B. Townsend. There were championship cup games of water polo, the St. Louis Amateur Athletics contending against the St. Louis Turners. All these feats will be repeated or outdone to-night.

7 O'CLOCK.

Overture—God Save the Czar..... Voigt
a Impromptu Dramatique.
b Song of Love After the Ball..... Czibulka
La Kamarinskaja..... Glinka
Russian Carnival (solo E flat clarinet)..... Dargomijsky
Matus Ur.
Fantasia on Russian Folk Songs..... Farge
Festival Overture—1812..... Tschaikowsky
Scenes from Puramors..... Rubenstein
1. The Dancing Girl.
2. In the Harem.
Wedding Scene.
a Love's Dream (Serenade)..... Moskowsky
b Polish National Dance..... Scharwenka
Love Is a Dream (Romanza)..... Szeletzky
The Cossack (Military March)..... Pares

Injury to the Eyes

FUNERAL OF EDWARD A. SMITH.

He Was Secretary and Treasurer of the Bell Telephone Company.

The funeral of Edward A. Smith, secretary and treasurer of the Bell Telephone Co., will take place at his late residence, 3937 Cook avenue, Friday morning.

Mr. Smith was 58 years old and had been employed by the Bell Telephone Co. for 20 years. He had been confined to his bed four months, during which time he was under the care of Dr. H. H. Mudd.

The first indication of his failing health came when he fell to the floor one day at his office while going to the elevator. After that he was partially paralyzed and unable to walk.

Heels FOR Hustlers.

The every-day hustler's impatience to "get there" often leads to over exertion, nervous strain and unnecessary exhaustion. With pure rubber cushion on either heel energy is saved and health promoted.

A mixture of rubber mystery will not do this—neither will heels with little nail holes that clog and deaden the cushion.

Be emphatic with dealers and get the right one for your half dollar. We will send a sample pair for 35c, with directions for attaching, to those who are asked to accept inferior substitutes.

O'SULLIVAN RUBBER CO., Lowe'l, Mass.

PLAYED TO ONLY ONE PAIR OF EYES.

Mrs. Leslie M. Carter's Son Sees His Mother Act.

SHE HAS WON HIS LOVE.

NEVER BEFORE HAD SHE TRIED TO DO SO WELL.

The Actress Tells the Story of the Meeting With Her Boy and How She Played to Him Alone Among All Her Auditors.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Mrs. Leslie M. Carter has won the crowning glory of her life. Her son has told her he loves her.

Mrs. Carter is an actress of fame. Audiences have cheered wildly her superb acting and she was happy. That acting was as nothing compared with the rendition of Zaza a few nights ago. She played to one young man and he was her son.

The Post-Dispatch reporter was her guest at the Fifth Avenue Hotel to secure her own story of the wonderful performance. She was surrounded by a group of admiring friends.

Everywhere there were traces of the triumphal march of Zaza. Flowers in profusion, wreaths of laurel, photographs of famous men and women with words of highest praise and sincere good wishes written across the pasteboard, followed by autographs of undying celebrity.

Here and there the photographs of a society woman or friend of old days in Chicago.

Everything about the actress spoke of ease, success, affection and fame.

Mrs. Carter held a picture between her slender fingers, and as she gazed at it the sunlight fell upon her wonderful red hair until it seemed fairly to radiate from her glowing head.

She leaned toward a woman who has known her since her girlhood and said:

"This is my boy Dudley's photograph. Isn't he a fine creature?

"The other day, just a week ago, I was sitting here talking with my mother when there was a knock at the door.

"Susan, my maid, answered the knock and brought me an envelope, addressed in a boyish hand, to Mrs. Carter.

"I felt so strangely, and my fingers trembled so, I could scarcely open it.

"When I did I found it contained a card with just one word written upon it—'Dudley.'

"Oh! I can't tell you how I felt. Dudley, my boy, from whom I have been so cruelly separated; Dudley, my little son, and he had come of his own free will to see his mother!

"Send him up, Susan, I said. Oh Susan, go and get him.

"In a minute he walked in, a great, big fellow, 16 years old and so big for his age, and he just put his arms around my neck and kissed me and kissed me and said: 'Little mother, I made up my mind to come and see you. I'm old enough to say that I will see my own mother.'

"Did your father give you his permission?"

"'No, little mother,' with a roguish smile, 'I thought it would save trouble to come first and ask permission afterward.'

"So sitting on the arm of the chair, with his arms around my neck, my little son, grown so big, but always my little Dudley to me, told me that he loved me, and that no matter what had happened, or might happen, he was always my Dudley and I was always his own little mother.

"So we sat and talked—O, I suppose it was mostly foolish talk—but it was like the very breath of heaven to me to hear my son's voice, to feel my boy's kisses on my cheeks.

"Finally Dudley said: 'Mamma, I have never seen you act. I want to see you tonight.'

"Then I was frightened.

"I knew that for years my child had never heard of his mother except from lips that reviled her. He had been told that I was everything wretched and horrible.

"He had never seen me act in a play where, as in 'The Heart of Maryland' my role was that of a pure, sweet, sympathetic woman—just the character to appeal to a noble young nature.

"But Zaza—poor, little degraded Zaza of that first act. To have my son see me first there in Zaza's frankly disreputable environment, I felt that it was too great a risk.

"I recollected Dudley's bringing up, and I said inwardly, 'He may not even be willing to see the play through. What if he should go away shocked and horrified at that first act.'

"So I said: 'Dudley, do you know what the play is?'

"'Yes, I know what Zaza is and I want to see you act.'

Then I resolved to stand the test.

"I succeeded after a desperate effort, in getting a seat in the orchestra, so near the stage, that I could look right into my boy's eyes. He was not three yards from me.

"I never was so nervous before in my life. No first night has been such an ordeal.

"A thousand lifs came before me. If Dudley should be shocked, if he should not understand, if he should condemn poor Zaza as bad, if, and if, and if—

"Then I determined to cut out certain passages.

"I tried to think how I should cut and where, and I felt my brain fairly reel.

"Finally I said, 'No, my boy will understand. I will look into his eyes and play Zaza for him, and he shall see that she was a poor little waif born in vice and raised in profligacy, but in her soul she was a tender, loving, loyal woman, and with a more honest heart than many a paragon of virtue in the world's opinion.'

"So I played for that one pair of eyes.

"I watched and I saw the look of frank astonishment, half dismay, succeeded by one of absorbing interest, on my son's young face.

"I was in terrible suspense, and when I recognized my boy's jolly laugh after my lines. 'And I can tell you a dirty-faced 2-year-old is no great present.' I could have shouted for joy.

"In the third act I saw a handkerchief skirmishing with affected carelessness near Dudley's eyes.

"In the fourth act the handkerchief was in active operation, and I never before played as I did that night.

"When the play was over my son came behind the scenes and put his arms around me and said:

"'Mother, I've seen you act, and I've seen Zaza. Let them all talk now till the end of time. Zaza is great, and my little mother is the greatest actress that ever happened.'"

"And then," said Mrs. Carter, the tears streaming down her face, "then I just sat down and cried, and Mr. Belasco said:

"'You have worked for 12 years for this moment. Here behind the curtain is your real triumph. Your son of his own accord comes to you and lays his tribute of love and affection at your feet.'

"And Dudley just kissed me again and said:

"'Now I'll go home and tell my father it is useless to tell me anything against my mother. I have seen her, and I love her.'

"And, O," said Mrs. Carter, as she smiled through her tears, "wasn't it just beautiful?"

Mrs. Leslie M. Carter is the divorced wife of a wealthy Chicago man. The divorce suit was bitterly fought and at its end their child was given to the father by the court. Mrs. Carter had been locally famous as an amateur actress and beauty under her husband's name, and this name she retained when she went upon the professional stage. Her debut was made about five years ago in "Miss Helyett." Then she retired from the stage for a time and studied under the direction of Belasco, the playwright, emerging to play the heroine in "Maryland." Her greatest success and latest effort has been "Zaza," the girl whose naturalness was an extreme shock to many auditors.

BROOKE ON BROOKE.

WHAT HE HAS ACCOMPLISHED IN RUN-DOWN CUBA.

ORDER NOW ESTABLISHED.

In the Rural Districts Law Holds a Much Sway as in New England.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—An interesting report on the conditions existing in Havana has been submitted to Maj.-Gen. Brooke by Brig.-Gen. Ludlow, Military Governor of the city, and transmitted to the War Department. After describing the lamentable state to which the city had been reduced by war, when "the most imperative requirements of a city government were abandoned," he says:

"Within thirty days of the beginning of American control, all this had been amended. There is no means of estimating how many thousands of lives have been saved during the American occupation, partly by outright rescue with food and medicines, partly by giving work and employment to the destitute and partly by the reduced death rate from improved sanitary conditions, affecting the entire population.

"It may be held that, aside from commercial or industrial considerations merely, the object lesson given by the administrative and physical rehabilitation of Havana that has been effected within a few months constitutes an enormous moral force, the results of which are to a greater or less extent permanent and of incalculable value in Cuba and elsewhere.

"In Havana the rule of law is practically complete. The rural districts are as orderly as in the interior of New England. These facts must be credited in great part to the measures adopted by the American administration, but it would be unjust not to credit the inhabitants themselves with a willingness to fall in with the purposes of the administration and to co-operate with them.

"As to commerce the situation is less clear. The American occupation was followed by an abnormal volume of imports, due to the banking up of invoices, awaiting anticipated changes in charges and a period of active movement ensued, the continuance of which will depend upon the extent to which the resources of the island can be developed. Money is plenty, as is shown by the rate of interest at 6 per cent or 7 per cent instead of 10 to 15 per cent, as formerly.

"Financial movements are likely to be more or less hesitating until some explicit conclusion is announced as to the future administration.

"In a respect have the results thus far attained in Havana fallen short of satisfactory adjustment. The vital question of primary education is still practically unsolved and the great majority of the Havana children of school age are running wild in the streets without instruction or discipline.

"The conditions of living are simple in this country. A livelihood is readily attained if the esentials of a patch of ground, a few tools and seeds can be had and a little aid rendered at the outset to those who are willing to earn their own living if given the opportunity. The people have learned to ask work instead of a pauperizing aid, and tools in place of food, and with the exception of a formidable residuum of helpless women and children the able-bodied are at work and earning their subsistence."

THE EXPANSION ISSUE.

Brought to the Front by Massachusetts Democrats.

SOUTH BRAINTREE, Mass., Oct. 12.—The Democratic campaign in this State was opened here last night. The speakers attacked the national Administration for its Philippine policy and its attitude toward trusts. Robert Treat Paine, candidate for Governor, said:

"The men who fought in 1896 for the Democratic party received abuse enough to make their position clearly known. In 1896 I was more than ever a Democrat, because the convention of that year came closer to the people and issued a platform which pledged the allegiance of the party absolutely to the interests of those whom Lincoln loved to call the plain people.

"However much we may deal with other planks of our platform, I rejoice that the living issue of the day this moment is a moral and constitutional question, for which I shall argue in this autumn month in the tribunal of the people.

"Republicans have called McKinley their Napoleon. Beware, lest he follow in the footsteps of Napoleon, when the acclaims of an enfranchised people shall turn into the execrations of the world.

"If Congress, in furtherance of the wishes of our people, promised the Cubans self-government, by what right of divine authority does McKinley deem himself authorized to decree that the republic established in Luzon shall be washed out in blood?"

Order for Locomotives.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Orders for 75 locomotives, 55 consolidated engines and 20 moguls—have just been given by the Santa Fe. The Baldwin Co. has secured the contract for building the consolidation engines, and the Richmond Locomotive and Machine Co. will turn out the moguls.

SHOT FROM BEHIND,

LOUISIANA JUDGE MURDERED ON HIS PLANTATION.

ACCUSED BY A GIRL'S FATHER.

Taken From Home a Rope Was Placed About His Neck, but a Bullet Ended Life.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 12.—Judge Basil Laplace, prominent in the Louisiana Legislature and State politics, was killed on his plantation at Ormond, St. Charles parish.

He was accused of betraying the daughter of Edmond Trosler, his overseer.

Tuesday night at 9 o'clock he was alone in the Ormond House, except for Oscar Dallet, a white man, who lives on and looks after the place. Some one knocked at the door, and the Judge responded. Dallet heard the knock and followed the Judge. He saw two masked men standing in the doorway, and as the Judge opened the door the men seized and hastily bound his arms to his side. Dallet watched them take Judge Laplace through the yard and into the road, where Dallet discerned perhaps a score of men, also masked, in waiting.

When Judge Laplace was brought out to the crowd, the whitecappers fired shots into the air, with the evident intention of terrorizing the neighborhood. Dallet had seen enough and fled to the woods in the rear of the house. As he ran through the fields he heard a single shot, then all was still. Dallet remained in the woods throughout the night, and at daybreak slipped to Rost, a station on the Yazo and Mississippi Railroad, two miles from the scene of the shooting. There he telephoned news of the tragedy to A. J. Laplace of this city, a brother of the murdered man.

Mr. Laplace took the first train for St. Charles, accompanied by friends, reaching Ormond plantation at 9 o'clock in the morning. He found his brother's body lying face upward in the public road. A thick rope was found beside the remains. An examination of the body showed that death had resulted from a shot in the back, which had severed the spinal cord.

The belief in the parish is that it was only intended to whip the Judge, but when he had been brought out into the road an immediate relative of the girl, taking advantage of the confusion, slipped up behind him and fired the fatal shot.

One of the dead man's brothers, Dr. Ernest Laplace, is dean of the Medical and Surgical College of Philadelphia, Pa.

NO MORE MILITARY GOVERNORS

The French Government Changes Its Scheme of Ruling Its Dependencies.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The Cabinet to-day voted to place all French colonies under civil authority and to abolish all military administration.

The reform was proposed by M. Decras, Minister of the Colonies, and is the direct outgrowth of the stories of cruelty and oppression of the natives by military authorities.

PRIESTS SUPPORT AMERICA.

Bishop Keane Says the Pope Has No Sympathy With Insurgents.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Archbishop Keane has submitted his views on the Pope's attitude toward America in the Philippines and Cuba. He says:

"The Pope has accepted the result of the war between the United States and Spain and has determined that the priests in the islands which passed from Spain to America shall support the American Government in all things. He has no sympathy with the insurgents in the islands, and they will receive no support from the church any more than they would have been encouraged by the priests in their revolution against Spain. He still retains his affection for America and Americans. When the chaplain of the Olympia passed through Rome he requested a private audience from the Pope, which was for some reason refused. When His Holiness learned that it was Dewey's chaplain who wanted the interview, he sent for him at once, although he was then in the north of Italy. He returned and had a long private audience with the Pope."

BOSTON'S GIFT TO DEWEY.

Watch on Which Is Inscribed, "Gridley You, May Fire When Ready."

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The watch which will be presented to Admiral Dewey by the city of Boston in front of the City hall next Saturday has a heavy gold case with the monogram "G. D.," and contains twenty-one diamond and ruby jewels with two pairs of diamond caps. The plate jewels are in a raised gold setting. On the dial is the picture of an eagle holding in its talons an American flag painted in colors and carrying a scroll on which are inscribed Dewey's words at the battle of Manila, May 1, 1898:

"Gridley, you may fire when ready."

DELEGATES TO W. C. T. U.

They Will Hold a Rally at Chicago Before Going to Seattle.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The special train carrying the delegates to the National Convention of the W. C. T. Union, to be held in Seattle, Oct. 20-25, will leave Chicago to-morrow night at 11 o'clock. Delegates to the convention, who will leave with the Chicago delegation, are already arriving in the city, and it is expected that over 250 will leave here on the special.

In order to avoid traveling on Sunday a stopover will be made at Fargo, N. D. The "White Ribbon Special" will arrive there at 11 o'clock Saturday night and will remain in Fargo until five minutes after the midnight hour of Sunday, arriving in Seattle early Wednesday morning. Special services will be held in the various churches in Fargo at which prominent workers in the temperance cause will be heard.

Before the delegates take their departure for Seattle they will hold a temperance rally at the first Baptist Church. All the delegates from the Eastern, Middle and Southern States, who are in Chicago, will participate. Mrs. L. M. Stevens, National President, and the W. C. T. U. will preside, and addresses will be made by Miss Anna Gordon, Vice-President; Mrs. Barnes, World's Superintendent of Young Woman's Work, and Mrs. Hoole, National Secretary of New York; Mrs. Ellis of New Jersey, Miss Ensign of Ohio, Mrs. Chambers of Pennsylvania and others.

Toilet Soap Men.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The toilet soap manufacturers' conference adjourned without taking final action as to raising prices. Another meeting is to be held soon.

Actor Hanley Ill.

Actor Lawrence Hanley is ill at the Lindell Hotel. He declares that he is afflicted with malarie and inflammatory rheumatism and says it was illness that prevented him from filling his engagement at Belleville last Sunday.

JUDGE ADAMS ON JURY DUTY.

Judge Adams' remarks in the United States Circuit Court Wednesday, on the importance of jury duty, were pointed and true. He said that we need intelligent men for jury duty; that "it is the men who are essentially energetic factors in the business community that we want. The busier the man the more fitted is he for jury service. We have no use for drones."

Energetic, busy members of the community are needed for jury duty. They alone can appreciate and understand the questions of fact with which juries have to deal. They alone can comprehend the importance of coming to a just conclusion as promptly as the circumstances will permit.

Busy men ought to have public spirit enough not to shirk jury duty. In the exercise of that duty they are called upon to act as judges between their fellow men. And by performing his duty faithfully and willingly, they lay their fellow men under obligation to deal in like manner with them if the occasion should arise.

Shirking jury duty will, indirectly but surely, throw the economic and social fabric out of gear. Such shirking will immately react on the shirker.

MARRIAGES THAT ARE ARRANGED.

That love marriages in royal circles are rare is evident from the brief enumeration of such matches in the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Royal marriages are "arranged." That is the word. The young folks usually have nothing to do with the matter except to submit and accept the partner designated for reasons of state.

Such marriages, however, are not altogether confined to royalty. Whenever distinctions of class prevail choice is limited by the barriers which separate one class from the others. As the distinctions become clearly marked the rule becomes ore rigid. The lover is no longer a human. He is a member of a class and must not look above or below his own level.

In this country, where differences of condition are only just ripening into class distinctions, the custom is not so apparent, but it is growing in strength, and promises to become as rigid as in Europe. Individual preferences must give way to considerations of finance or other purely external conditions.

The movement seems to be inevitable, but it is not pleasant to think that men and women must make merchandise of their affections.

Dewey frightened the Spaniards much, but he has frightened Mr. Hanna more.

BEGINNING TO SAVE COAL.

Thanks to scientists and inventors, the world is beginning to save coal. Each year from now on will see a further saving. Perhaps the time may come when the cities will be able to do without coal, and thereby avoid all the grime and foul gases it produces.

The saving is brought about by the installment of great water power electric plants. A big dam has just been completed in Michigan that produces a 40,000 volt current. This current will be used to light the streets and run street cars in Kalamazoo, Allegan, Battle Creek and Jackson. To do this the current will travel 90 miles through copper wires.

The next biggest enterprise of the kind is the 33,000 volt plant, run by a waterfall in the Santa Ana River, Cal., for light and to propel street cars in the city of Los Angeles.

Buffalo, N. Y., gets electric light and power from Niagara, and Toronto will soon be doing the same thing.

All over the world the cataracts are being harnessed, and every such harnessing means thousands of tons of coal saved per day. The reign of King Coal, with his grime, cinders and pallid faces, will some day be ended and man will still be blessed with heat, light and power without consulting the black monarch.

Hanna's leg may not be pulled so much as some of his friends apprehend. Much of the campaign slush fund is expected to come in "voluntary" contributions from officeholders throughout the United States.

LET SWINBURNE EXPLAIN.

Britain and Boer ought to stop hostilities long enough to ask the poet Swinburne what he means by his sonnet, which has been cabled over seas, apparently to exasperate speakers of the English language.

What, Mr. Swinburne, are "foes less vile than men?" Did you have the doctrine of total depravity in mind when you wrote that sentence? Do you mean that the Boers are less vile than men? If so, how much less vile? And how vile are men, and what men?

This thing of allowing poets to produce war whoops, in sonnet or any other form, just on the eve of hostilities, without making their meaning perfectly plain, ought to be stopped. There are several other exasperating, inarticulate yelps in Swinburne's sonnet. If he felt too "mad" at the Boers to express himself clearly, he should have said so. But he need not necessarily have done it in rhyme.

With factional knives and bar'ls of money the two great parties are making the Ohio canvass very lively. How much good will come out of so much evil?

HOW TO EVADE THE LAW.

The circular letter sent out to Federal employes by the finance committee of the Ohio Republican Executive Committee is an impudent bit of "politics."

The civil service law provides that no Government employe shall contribute money for political purposes to any Federal officer, and further provides that voluntary contributions shall not be made in any Federal building.

The Ohio politicians remind the employes that "to avoid violating any of the provisions of this act the committee in charge of the financial branch of the campaign work is made up of persons in no wise connected with the Federal service." And the clerks are assured that by submitting to the hold-up they will violate no law.

This amounts to saying that the law can be evaded by this trick. The men who boss the Republican campaign know perfectly well that they are violating the spirit of the law which was passed to protect civil servants from just such raids. By excluding Federal employes from their finance committee they restore the old assessment system, and every clerk and janitor in the Government service must give of his modest salary a percentage to Mark Hanna's syndicate.

It is a cool piece of petty robbery, which should be rebuked. The employes of the Government can ill afford to pay this assessment, and its enforcement is demoralizing to the public service.

Public sentiment is almost a unit against the practice. When the Ohio Republicans resort to it in this fashion it indicates a desperate condition in the President's State.

One more event remains for the rounding out of the autumnal festivities in St. Louis. That is Dewey Day. Although the date of the Admiral's Western tour has not yet been determined, the tour will be made, and St. Louis has only to send the right kind of invitation to the Admiral to secure a place in the itinerary. Dewey Day in St. Louis would be a great day for the entire Central and South West. It would be the greatest demonstration of the year, and would attract thousands from the surrounding States who want to greet and honor the hero of Manila. All of the organizations of St. Louis should unite in a cordial invitation to the Admiral to visit St. Louis. A committee of representative men should be appointed to make arrangements.

BRITISH AGGRESSION'S LAST ACT.

The war which has just broken out between the South African Republic and Great Britain, is the effect of the last of a series of acts of aggression prompted by British greed.

The Boers are children of persecution. Their ancestors, Dutch Protestants, driven from France and Holland, in the seventeenth century, sailed away to South Africa, where they settled in the land now known as Cape Colony.

Here they dwelt in peace until in 1815, when the Cape territory was transferred from the Netherlands to Great Britain, without consulting the inhabitants.

The English took possession, and for twenty years the Boers endured the oppression of the British government. When their wrongs became too heavy to bear the "Great Trek," or migration, began. A large number of Boers left the Cape and established the Orange Free State. But when the Kimberly diamond mines were discovered on Free State soil, Cecil Rhodes put in a claim to that part of the territory, and the Boers let him have it. Great Britain has not since disturbed the Free State.

Another migration began in 1837, when a Dutchman named Piet Retief led a body of Boers to Natal. They arrived at Natal in January, 1838, and were promptly attacked by the Zulus, who massacred the leaders, but in December of that year the Zulus were defeated, and the Boers took possession of the country—for the British. The Queen's government claimed the land, and the Boers set out once more to find a new home. They marched into what is now the South African Republic's territory, and there established themselves, as they thought, beyond the greed and power of the English tyrants.

But in 1867 diamonds were discovered and soon after gold. Thereupon England seized the Transvaal and annexed it to the Empire.

The English people, however, disapproved of the infamy, and in 1881 Mr. Gladstone made a treaty of peace recognizing the independence of the Transvaal, but maintaining suzerainty for Great Britain. Even the suzerainty was given up except as a shadow by the convention of 1884.

But fresh discoveries of gold and diamonds in 1886 excited the greed of the English, who poured into the Transvaal in multitudes. The newcomers claimed the franchise, but insisted upon retaining their British citizenship. This impudent claim was refused by the Boers. They knew that as soon as the English voted themselves into power they would hand over the country to Cecil Rhodes.

But the gold hunters persisted. The Jameson raid followed. The conspiracy of the Rhodes syndicate was perfected and Chamberlain has now enlisted the British Empire in what is essentially a scheme of public robbery for private profit. The national existence of the Boer republic is to be destroyed, to augment the wealth of a few unscrupulous adventurers. And the instrument is the government of the mightiest empire on earth.

While the country shares in the easing of the money stringency by the prepayment of Government bond interest, it ought to be borne in mind that the stringency is due, not alone to the need of money in legitimate business, but to the over-capitalization of huge combinations. This Government is averting the consequences of reckless speculation and trust promotion. Wall street likes paternalism of this sort. It likes to put its hands into Uncle Sam's pockets whenever it gets into trouble through unrestrained greed, but this kind of paternalism gives the rest of the country food for thought.

Why did not the Municipal Assembly take up the lighting question at its first session? How much longer is the city to wait for a bill providing for a new lighting contract? The action of the Assembly in this matter will be watched by the citizens. They will hold the Assembly responsible for delay that may result in monopoly control of the city lighting.

On such days and nights as he is not running about the country with Mr. McKinley, Secretary Root is working to see that the army is properly fed and clothed.

Swinburne's war sonnet is poor stuff. If England is to be inspired by nothing better, she will not make much headway in a needless war in the Transvaal.

The first demand of the Boers is for arbitration—a demand which Great Britain would not consider. Every British statesman knows why she would not.

POST-DISPATCH SNAP SHOTS.

The London jingoes are very nearly setting the Thames on fire.

The paragraphers say that the price of irony has not been advanced.

Between Dewey's glory and McLean's bar'l, Boss Hanna is sweating blood.

The Boers don't look a bit like Filipinos and they don't go in the same direction.

Every other Eastern man rhymes St. Louis with Dewey, and why shouldn't Dewey do it?

It is likely that Alexander Jester is now one of those men who do not want any woman to be a sister to them.

The London Stock Exchange believes that God will save the Queen and the army will save the South African gold fields.

When the American women get through with Polygamist Roberts, he will be sorry he ever dallied with more than one rag, bone and hank of hair.

The howling mobs of London may have an opportunity to go to South Africa before the Boers are subdued. They might prove much quieter in the Transvaal.

Notwithstanding the soft luxury of the sleeping coach provided for Mr. McKinley, it is believed that he has had several troubled dreams in which a seaman with a 22-karat-gold sword tried to drive him into a great body of very deep water.

Kaiser William talked an hour with our ex-President Harrison. Doubtless His Majesty expressed regret that Mr. Harrison had to get out of the White House at the expiration of four years, instead of keeping right on as a German Emperor does.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

J. P. M.—You should consult a lawyer. The clerk of the court having charge of probate matters in Detroit can probably throw light on the subject. Write to him.

S. M.—Old stamps are bought by collectors at varying prices. Most book stores have stamp albums. You may get information from them concerning dealers and prices.

M. C.—According to the report of the Department of Agriculture for 1897, Nebraska was the greatest corn State, producing 241,363,400 bushels, followed by Illinois, 222,923,085 bushels. Minnesota produced the most, 59,851,104 bushels; Kansas, 47,898,152 bushels. Measured by the value of the wheat, corn and oats crops, Kansas is at the head with $78,218,446, followed by Illinois, $75,923,056, and Nebraska, $67,717,633. In Iowa the value of the three crops was $62,875,367. That State produced 220,089,140 bushels corn, 13,153,114 wheat, 103,721,100 oats. Kansas is probably the greatest agricultural State, although Illinois, Nebraska and Iowa might claim the honor.

The Day's Story

'TWAS EVER THUS LOVE

IT was night, and they had reached the end of the primrose path which went along the river bank. As they stood there the bright moonlight shone full on their faces, different in every respect save that the intensity of love was depicted on them. On the man's face was deep disappointment, but not despair. On the other hand, the woman appeared sad and absolutely without hope.

John Harding had just proposed to Ruth Fletcher and had been flatly refused. She was saying sadly: "You know I am an unbeliever and I fear a hopeless pessimist. Life seems so empty and useless, and I do get so weary of people and of their petty ambitions.

"Excuse me, Jack, if I hurt you, but if I should marry you I should probably weary of you, too. You resemble the majority of the people in the world, in that you are more or less selfish. Then, too, you are lazy and indifferent. Are you not ashamed of such a hand, as white and soft as a woman's?"

And the light touch she gave it sent a thrill through the young man

Harding flushed, knowing that part of her censure was true, yet he did not remind her of his noble work during those insufferable days and nights in the Cuban trenches; neither did he speak of his magnificent bravery at El Caney, for which his General had personally praised him.

He simply said earnestly: "You will at least listen to me when I shall have worked and proved myself worthy of you, Ruth?"

She shook her head wearily and said: "It would be wrong for me to marry you. I should only make you as discontented as I am myself, holding the views I do about life. No, I shall carry out my intention of studying medicine, and shall try to find some interest in that."

Harding shuddered. "But we shall always be good friends, promise me, Jack," looking at him wistfully.

"Hang being friends," he muttered. Then with a look of determination, before which she quailed, he seized her hands with a grasp almost painful in its intensity and said slowly in low tones surcharged with emotion: "As there is a God in Heaven, I shall make you marry me, Ruth Fletcher."

Ruth's will was strong, but it had met its match. She trembled, but did not speak again until she answered Harding's muttered good night at the door of her house.

They both passed a sleepless night. He paced the floor, struggling manfully with his trouble. She sat still in her room, her hands tightly clasped, only too sure that she had done rightly in refusing Jack, yet for all that loving him more passionately than ever.

As soon as it was light Harding threw himself into his boat for a furious row on the river. After a half hour's hard rowing he was horrified to see in the distance an overturned canoe and a woman struggling in the water. Now his college training on the crew came into splendid service, and he rowed as he had never done in any race.

As he put about his heart stood still, for the drowning woman was Ruth Fletcher. With great difficulty he managed to pull her into the boat. When she had sufficiently recovered she told him that she had started out in her canoe before light and had got upset by running into a large rock.

It was 5 o'clock when Harding rowed down the river again, this time much more slowly. The sun was shining brightly and the birds were singing, and in his heart was an unspeakable joy.

Suddenly Ruth leaned toward him, put both hands on his and said, with the gentleness in her voice and the look in her eyes he had so often longed for: "How good the old world seems after all, and, Jack, dear, how I do love you."

SUGGESTIONS FOR NEXT SUNDAY'S DINNIR

BY A PRACTICAL HOUSEWIFE.

MENU.

Bisque of Turnip Soup.
White Fishballs.
Frogs' Legs Fried.
Stewed Calves' Feet.
Eggplant.
Sunshine Dessert.
Coffee Ice Cream.

BISQUE OF TURNIP SOUP.—Put a tablespoonful of butter and one onion, sliced, and two or three slices of carot into a saucepan; toss until the onion is slightly yellow, then add four good-sized turnips, grated. You should have, at least, one pint of pulp. Cover the saucepan, and without adding any water allow it to stand on the back part of the stove, where it will simmer gently for 20 minutes. Then add a quart of milk, and stir into it two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour rubbed together. When smooth and thick add a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of red pepper, a quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper, and, if you have it, half a teaspoonful of kitchen bouquet. Strain through a fine sieve and serve with farina blocks.

WHITE FISHBALLS.—To make white fishballs, chop fine one pound of uncooked halibut or any white fish. Wash the trimmings and put them into a saucepan with a quart of water, a slice of onion, a bay leaf and four cloves. Simmer gently for half an hour. After the fish has been chopped, pound it in a mortar, or rub it in a bowl to a smooth paste; add a teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of grated onion, a quarter of a teaspoonful of ginger, the same of mace and the same of curry. Then add the unbeaten white of an egg, and form into balls about the size of English walnuts. Strain the stock from the bits of fish, throw in the balls, allow them to simmer, not boil, for five minutes, and then take them out with a skimmer. Beat four eggs until quite light; add to them half a pint of fish stock, half a teaspoonful of salt and then stir over hot water until it has become a thick jelly-like mass; add carefully the juice of two lemons and then stir in a tablespoonful of butter, just a little at a time, and strain through a fine sieve. Dish the fishballs, pour the sauce over them and stand aside until very cold. When ready to serve garnish with parsley and slices of lemon.

FROGS' LEGS.—The delicacy of frogs' legs is not half appreciated, seemingly from some prejudice. Any one who enjoys the choicest morsel from a young chicken must enjoy a frog's leg, if prejudice could be set aside. For luncheons there is no nicer course. To cook frogs' legs, young and of medium size, clean them, wipe dry, dip in well-seasoned beaten egg, roll in fine dry crumbs, and fry in deep fat to a rich brown. Arrange them on a hot platter and garnish with parsley. Large legs may be treated exactly as young chickens—broiled, fried or stewed—each manner giving a delicious result. Of course, frogs' legs should be fresh to be good, being of the fish family.

STEWED CALF'S FEET.—Procure a couple of prepared calf's feet from the butcher, joint them and place in stewpan; cover with water, bring to the boil, simmer for five minutes and then drain dry. Replace the feet in the stewpan, cover with milk and water, add a teaspoonful of salt, a head of celery, half an onion and a small strip of lemon peel. Simmer slowly, and when the meat is quite tender, so that the bone can be removed, place it on a dish. Strain the gravy through a thick sieve, thicken it with butter and flour, boil up thoroughly, season with a dash of pepper and powdered mace. Garnish the dish with crescents of toasted bread and slices of lemon and pour the sauce over the meat.

SUNSHINE DESSERT.—Bake sunshine cake in small, straight-sided individual pans. With a cutter cut almost to the bottom, taking out the inside, leaving a shell. Fill with with fine strawberries over which some pineapple has been grated, sweeten, add just a few drops (three or four) of brandy, and cover the whole with whipped cream. There must not be enought pineapple to be distinguishable. It give the strawberries an indescribable flavor.

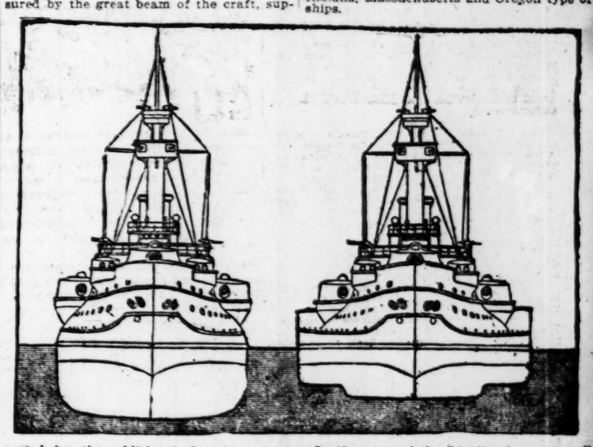

COFFEE ICE CREAM.—Two quarts cream, one pint milk, four eggs, two tablespoonfuls arrowroot, two cups strong, liquid coffee, four cups white sugar. Mix the arrowroot in half a cup of cold milk, and add to the well-beaten eggs, pour over this mixture a pint of milk, heated to boiling. Let cool and add the cream. Put into the freezer. tir thoroughly. When partly frozen, add the coffee. Beat well, and freeze.

GREAT BRITAIN'S NEW LIGHT DRAUGHT WAR SHIPS.

FROM the best information obtainable it is asserted that the light-draught feature of the new British ships has been secured by incorporating the prominent ideas which prevailed in the Russian yacht Livadia.

The Livadia was built in Scotland for the imperial Russian household. As the Prince, who was most directly interested in that craft, was easily rendered seasick, it was ordered that Livadia should be built so as to possess the maximum degree of steadiness. Everything was sacrificed to comfort.

The light draught of the Livadia was assured by the great beam of the craft, supported by the additional flotation power of the cofferdam. This cofferdam was divided into longitudinal and athwartship compartments and had a width at the widest part of 15 feet.

The Livadia encountered a terrible storm in the Bay of Biscay while en route from Brest to Ferrol. The steadiness of the ship was remarkable. The greatest angle of roll recorded was four degrees and the greatest angle of pitch five degrees. This is trifling when compared with the 30 degrees angle of roll each way from the vertical, which has frequently been recorded on naval ships. During the blockade of Havana it was a common sight to see the small gun vessels during the prevalence of a fresh trade blow rolling, many of them, from 20 to 30 degrees each way from the vertical.

In the new British battleship the designs, it is said, first call for a hull proper with very pronounced sloping sides. Around this hull will be placed a cofferdam construction, reaching from well below the water to the level of the main deck.

The cofferdam is expected to serve the same as would pontoons is lashed alongside. When a vessel's draught is too great to permit of her crossing a bar or shallow spot a common recourse is to lash pontoons alongside filled with water. When Armly secured the pontoons are pumped out and the additional flotation power cause the vessel to rise in the water.

Additional data regarding the new British battleships give the length of each craft as 425 feet, beam 65 feet and draught 22 feet. The displacement will be about 13,000 tons. The engines, it is said, will develop about 15,000 horse-power and it is expected that the speed will approach closely to 19 knots.

The reported horse-power development planned for the new British ships is a great advance on the power generally planned for battleships. The engines of the new Maine are calculated to develop 16,000 horse-power more than the engines of the Indiana, Massachusetts and Oregon type of ships.

In the case of the Livadia the outer cell compartment was made of comparatively light material. It was intended to take up the vibratory effects of each wave shock, while at the same time adding to the flotation qualities of the ship.

The cofferdam arrangement of the new British ships, it is understood, will be constructed with special reference to strength. The armor will be placed on the outer skin, and this, when backed at the water line vicinity with corn pith, serves to close any opening occasioned by the entrance of a shot. This is effected through the medium of the expansive properties of the corn pith matter when brought in contact with water.

The first of the new British battleships will be laid down in about four weeks' time. The prototype of the class is expected to be finished in one year hence.

The new Maine is now building at the yards of the Cramps of Philadelphia. Owing to the trouble at present experienced in the United States in securing prompt delivery of steel it is feared that the Maine will be delayed fully six months in her completion. A conservative estimate places the completion of the Maine at early in the summer of 1901.

The Support of Religious Teachers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In your editorial entitled "Finance and Salvation" you ask when the financier became indispensable in the work of salvation. The question proceeds from a misconception. The work of salvation does not and never did need the financiers. Religion requires no such prop. True religion is flourishing as never before, and the financiers cannot hinder its progress. It is taking hold of men's hearts in all manner of ways.

Financiers are indispensable to the church as at present constituted, but the work of salvation is going on outside the church, where religion is doing quite well.

St. Louis. JOHN VAIL.

Saving Souls Without Money.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The question of salvation and finance, or paying preachers a sufficient salary, is an interesting one. Shall we give up all our great church edifices and require all our preachers to work for merely their board and clothes because Christ and his disciples received no pay? Shall we save more souls by simplifying everything in religion? Large sums are needed for church building, for church charities and for salaries of preachers. Saloons and places of amusement are made attractive, and is it not necessary to make places of worship attractive? The climate of many parts of the world is not adapted to all-the-year-round out-door preaching. Perhaps we could open our courthouses to the preachers in bad weather. We must save human souls. That is the first consideration. Whether we can do this better without money than with it we could easily ascertain by experimenting. We cannot know in any other way. Who will start the moneyless scheme?

St. Louis. W. H. S.

"No Begging."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I was much interest in your editorial on "Salvation and Finance." From my point of view, preachers ought to be teachers, and as such are entitled to proper support. If a preacher has no teaching capacity, but only what he believes is a "mission," I think he ought to support himself in any way he can, and his "mission" should be a free gift to humanity. Of course, if there are enough persons who believe in his mission to willing support him, well and good. But no begging. DISCIPLE.

St. Louis.

"Charity Begins at Home."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Having failed in your effort to induce our most worthy President to "offer the friendly services of the United States in mediation between Great Britain and the Republics of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State," would it not be as well to remember that charity begins at home?

Why not get up an appeal (similar to the one you got up relative to the trouble between Great Britain and the Transvaal), get it signed by governors, statesmen, ministers and other prominent and influential personages, and present it to President McKinley in behalf of the cruel, unjust and uncalled for warfare that is being waged against the Filipinos.

You stated, "It would be an unnecessary destruction of lives and homes in South Africa, and of the lives of British soldiers." Are not the homes of the Filipinos as dear to them as are the homes of those in South Africa? And are not the lives of our soldiers as dear to their kith and kin as are the lives of the British soldier to theirs?

Now if you can be instrumental in any manner to stop the unnecessary slaughter of our brave soldier boys in the Philippines I am sure there are thousands who will join me in saying God bless the Post-Dispatch. C. F. DEANE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hezel have sent out cards for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marie Martina Hezel, to Mr. Francis J. Traudt, which takes place Oct. 25 at 9 o'clock in the morning, at SS. Peter and Paul Church. The decorations are to be the bride's favorite flower, Marechal Niel roses, combined with smilax and ferns. Miss Hezel is one of the most popular girls in her set in South Side society, and in consequence the wedding will be one of the largest of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Chickey of 4325 Page boulevard are entertaining Miss Anette L. Chickey of Boston. Miss Chickey is one of Boston's most charming society girls and possesses, in addition to a remarkably pleasing personality, unusual beauty and a fine taste for music.

She will remain in the city several weeks and during her stay will be the guest of honor at a series of social entertainments.

Miss Elma Diehl gave a kaffee klatsch Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock to the members ofher sewing club. During the afternoon the young ladies occupied themselves in fashioning bits of fancy work and making garments for the poor. At 4.30 o'clock an informal luncheon was served.

Those present were Mrs. A. E. Diehl and Misses Margaret Beisbarth, Berdie Spieler, Marie Slossstein, Lena Schrieber, Bertha Pauley, Emma Hoppe, Ida Gruen, Miss Dodd of Belleville, and Miss Werthwine of Columbus, O.

The pleasant entertainments, given among the same set of young people last week, were the dinner party Wednesday evening by Miss Amy Bergman, and the luncheon Friday by Miss Anna Suppan.

At the former affair Miss Amanda Schisler was the guest of honor. Covers were laid for twelve, and the table was decorated with roses and ferns. The guests were: Misses Amanda Schisler, Mittie Bergman, Anna Suppan, Anna Wees and eMssrs. Carl Bergman, Wm. S. Essmueller, George Saltzgeber, Barnbeck, Dr. Edwin Schisler and Dr. Walter Eldman.

At Miss Suppan's luncheon covers were laid for ten and the table decorated with yellow roses and white carnations.

Those present were Misses Schisler, Bergman, Suppan, and Messrs. Essmueller, Stoffregen, Barnbeck, Saltzgeber, Schisler and Eldman.

Miss Maud and Mamie Kelley of 5140 Page boulevard, gave a small luncheon Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Frances Hardie of Ravenna, O., who is their guest. Covers were laid for eight and the table tastefully decorated with American beauties. After luncheon the young people enjoyed some music and a few games of progressive euchr.e

Those present were: Miss Bessie Leonard, Daisey Johnson, Maud Kelley, Fannie Kelley, Genevieve McCartin, Jessie Hanger, Fransic Hardie and Mamie Kelley.

Mrs. W. F. Halpin of 4565 Cote Brilliante avenue entertained the Ladies' Art Informal at their first meeting of the season last Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Light refreshments were served during the afternoon, and at 4 o'clock there was some music.

The ladies will be entertained this afternoon by Mrs. Louie Bader, Jr., at her home, 1713 Goode avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. William Berder gave a dinner party to a few friends Tuesday evening at the Planter's Hotel. The table was decorated with American beauties and smilax, a cluster of flowers being laid at each of the ladies' places.

At the table were: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Grunner, Mr. and Mrs. Audrian de Young, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bryden, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Howe, Misses Sharpe, Laura de Young Katherine Higgins and Messrs. Landon Carter, H. L. Weston and Simmons of New York.

Last Friday evening a delegation of young folks attended the Exposition, chaperoned by Mrs. Regina M. Carlin. The party arrived at the Exposition in time for the 7 o'clock concert and enjoyed a very pleasant evening, the major portion of which was spent in the art gallery and Music Hall. Among those who formed the merry group were:

Miss Ethel Barrymore is unusual among actresses. In the first place, although she is barely out of her teens, she is playing what is, in all except name, a leading woman's part, for the work required of her as Stella de Gex in "His Excellency, the Governor," at the Olympic this week is of that character. Then, although she has high aspirations, she says she wishes to wait at least five years before becoming a star. And finally she does not care to play either Juliet or Lady Macbeth, and that is the most surprising part of it all.

Miss Barrymore comes of a long line of stage folk, and thus inherits her ability to act. And that she has decided ability all those who have been fortunate enough to see her in this play are certain. She impersonates therein a woman of the world, worldly, and one wonders how, with her few years and brief stage experience, she can do it so well and so naturally.

It is most unusual for Charles Frohman to give his leading part to so young a woman. He is the representatively conservative manager, who feels all of his ground and acts accordingly. But, even in the face of warnings from his friends, he gave this slip of a girl the chance she wanted, and he scored another telling success in her triumph.

Ethel Barrymore is a slender young woman, very tall, with brown hair—she wears a red wig in the play—and striking eyes. She has a sunny smile and a delightful voice and is simple and unaffected, the same off the stage as she is on it. This is her first good part, although she has done stage work for four years; this is her first real chance, as she says, and she is making the most of it.

"Folks know I am young," she said, when chatting of her work, 'and they expect to see me come on the stage in white, with blue ribbons at my neck and my waist, and have one of these, 'Oh, Papa!' parts. They are surprised when they see what I do. But taht sort of a part—the 'blue sash' ones, I call them—is what I have had up till this season. It was very kind of Mr. Frohman to give me this place, and I appreciate it, I assure you.

"Did I fear to take it? No, but my friends did. I could see that. When they heard that I had the place, they said they were glad—in that sad tone of voice, don't you know, that means: 'Oh, we hope you will do it well, but—'. But I like the part, and thoroughly enjoy the work. It is a fine thing to stand in front of an audience and make it laugh at what you say, in the way that this play calls for."

It was then that she was asked about her ambitions. She replied:

"Of course, I want to be a star, but not till I am fitted to be one. You see, I am very young, and I think if I can have five years in good parts—parts that I can learn from—I will be able to star much better than I could now. If I can get the parts—if not, it may take me ten years—I will learn.

"My ambition is towards comedy of the highest sort I would like to play Rosalind, or Beatrice, and some day I want to play Ophelia. I have no desire to try Juliet, as I do not believe it ever can be played properly; and I do not care to appear as Lady Macbeth."

Miss Barrymore is fond of beautiful gowns and likes parts that enable her to wear them. She says of this feature:

"I try to dress on the stage just as I would off, at the same time and in the same circumstances. The gowns that I wear in this play I could wear in a parlor or to a dinner, anywhere. The black one, in the second act, I like very much. It is designed to be very effective from over the footlights, and I think it is."

One more query was put to her. She shook her head.

"No," she said, emphatically. "It is not true. I am not engaged."

She referred to the reported coming marriage between herself and Laurence Irving, son of Sir Henry. She is, you will remember, the most engaged young woman in the profession, according to rumor.

Miss Barrymore has the opportunity before her that not one actress of her years in a thousand ever had. She has the good will of the foremost manager of the day—Frohman—and she has all the encouragement that one could ask to make a success under him, and in the always excellent school that he advocates. That she will do so is assured, first, by her earnestness so far, and second, by her modesty and her knowledge that because she has won a measure of success she does not know it all.

Chevrial, who plays the violin with feathers, and shoes, and things at Hopkins' Imperial this week, to the delight of the elect in the upper part of the house, is a dumpy little Frenchman, with a rotund body and a jolly smile. He was one of a family of entertainers who went from town to town in a gypsy caravan and did their "stunt" at fairs and gatherings. Emile was the black sheep, so he took his little fiddle under his arm and stole away one night.

First he went to England as a sailor. Then he tried a trip to Iceland and lived on a whaler for a time. An American man-of-war happened around and he entered as a seaman on the U. S. S. Wabash and sailed round the world on her. When he was discharged the civil war was in progress and he enlisted. They wanted no fiddlers in the army, and as Chevrial couldn't fiddle, he became a fifer. Then he joined an expedition to Hudson's Bay.

Col. J. D. Hopkins was on the outlook for something new when Chevrial wandered into a New England opera house. He asked for a trial and the stage hands thought they would have a good time with a genuine "rube" musician, but when the fiddler finished showing how he could play his violin with a feather, an old comb and a Noah's Ark they forgot to laugh. That was many years ago, but Chevrial has been on the vaudeville stage ever since.

Charles Bradley, who is in the city ahead of "Trelawney," coming to the Olympic, has been on tenterhooks all week waiting to hear of the reception accorded a new play from his pen entitled "Jonah and the Whale," which he wrote with Thomas Frost and which has been playing for practice in the smaller cities of the Northeast. The last reports he had on it were that it was rapidly getting into shape for its New York introduction.

The story is new and original. In it a clever young college man, after a quarrel with his father, is supporting himself as a photographic artist. A love affair with a girl in a seaside hotel is badly tangled by a blundering servant. To rectify matters the lover desires to assume a disguise and accordingly makes up after a photograph of a man who had died abroad, which an Indian Prince has left to be enlarged. He finds when too late that the dead man was the father of the girl he loves, whose mother although married again, retains her affection for the runaway husband, who, it had been reported a year previously, had been swallowed by a whale. The Prince, who was present when the original was killed by a huge serpent in Ceylon, believes he now witnesses a wonderful instance of reincarnation. The lover finds he cannot discard his disguise without being obliged to marry a woman he does not love. In desperation he leaves the hotel at midnight, only to be arrested for the murder of the man he had personated. By an ingenious second impersonation he proves his innocence and wins the young woman.

Bradley, who was a newspaper man earlier in his career, is also the writer of "The Girl From Wellesley," produced in Washington, and of "The Regatta Girl," the musical comedy that will succeed "The Rounders" at the New York Casino. He has a score or more of other plays to his credit and is known in England and Australia even better than he is on this side.

There is a girl over at the Grand this week, Ethel Thornton, who really has a new thing. She comes out in a flame-colored gown of the typical soubrette style and cut and dances and sings to her own accompaniment on the banjo. And one song she sings is a pretty "yodel" that is a grateful relief after the coon song epidemic of late. True, she drops into a negro ditty after that, but the former song, and especially her little banjo dance, should give her a good place on the vaudeville stage.

Ada Somers McWade, singing at the Columbia this week, is a sister of John E. McWade, the baritone who has only one arm. He is the man who sang "Comrades" into fame. She is also a sister-in-law of Judge "Biff" Hall of the Chicago police department, who has been for years the correspondent for that city of the Dramatic Mirror. He was at one time dramatic editor of a paper there also and his decisions on the bench now are the wittiest on record. Miss McWade does well enough to entitle her to claim the relationship which is hers, and that is high praise.

M. B. Leavitt, who was for a long time one of the foremost managers of theatrical ventures in this country, has come out of his retirement and is back on the stage, directing, as of old. He is here this week with "The Spider and the Fly" at the Grand.

Beatrice Moreland, in "Taming a Husband," is giving one of the really clever sketches that are so few in vaudeville at the Columbia this week and there is a close second to her in Hall and Staley, the gentlemen burglars. Both acts are funny, though not at all alike, and are well worth seeing. The rest of the bill, including La Fafalla, is strong, and the fact that the theater is crowded every day is the best evidence of this.

Hopkins' Imperial has a strong bill this week with the stock company in "Capt. Swift," and a good vaudeville list. The excellence of the work done by the company and the elaborateness of the mountings have won much praise for the house during the week. Marzella and her birds, Chevrial, the violinist, the Morellas, Falke and Semon and Al Blanchard, the singer, are on the bills. Blanchard has made a great hit with the Sunday Post-Dispatch's song, "Tell Mother Not to Worry," with the specially posed stereopticon views.

"A Texas Steer," Hoyt's comedy illustrative of the politics not only of Texas but of a large part of this country, and the most characteristic of all his plays, is doing well at Havlin's this week. Katie Putnam is making a creation of the part of Bossy Brander and is really doing some of the best work of her life. J. K. Emmet and Lottie Gilson come to Havlin's next Sunday matinee in "Fritz in a Madhouse."

Roland Reed, with Miss Isadore Rush, in "His Father's Boy," is making the Century popular this week, and the results will show in the box office as well as in the artistic presentation of this fast combination of fast fun. Miss Rush and her gowns are just as attractive after they are seen a second time as they are at first, and Reed's dilemmas with the child of his imagination are still as funny as Reed ever was. Primrose and Dockstader's minstrels follow, opening Sunday evening.

"The Spider and the Fly" is snaring many at the Grand this week, and the show is a good one, of its class. There is a liberal display of the feminine form divine, some songs, a clever contortion act by a woman in a long skirt, and much horseplay. Interest in one part centers largely in Mable LeClaire, who, as "Oceana," comes out in a gown the skirt of which consists of pink ribbons. The efforts of the men in the audience to catch glimpses of her nether extremities through the shifting and flitting of the ribbons, and their ill success are funnier than anything on the stage. It is another instance of the leg suggested being more tantalizing than the leg revealed. "London Life" opens next Sunday matinee.

There is the usual show, good of its kind, at the Standard this week, and the house is enjoying a liberal patronage in consequence.

The Olympic, the coming week, opening Monday night, will have the Frohman company in "Trelawney, of the 'Wells'" with nearly the original New York cast. In it are Mary Mannering, Hilda Spong and Olive May.

Wednesday's Games.

Brooklyn 7, New York 2.
Boston 2, Philadelphia 0.

Where They Play.

Cleveland at Cincinnati.
Philadelphia at Boston.
New York at Washington.
Baltimore at Brooklyn.

Just as predicted in the Post-Dispatch of last Sunday the Western League met at Chicago on Wednesday and changed its name from the Western League to the American League.

The new American Association of baseball clubs appears to have already made its essence felt in the baseball world.

It has made all the League clubs offer its players increased salaries to sign.

It has made Brush and Freedman bury the hatchet and made the League men take steps to put a first-class team in New York.

It has made the Western League change its name to the American League and it has made the Western and National Leagues reserve about all the baseball players there are lying around loose in the country.

It has done all this before the playing season of the National League is at an end and before the new association has entered the arena.

What reforms the new management will bring after it commences its first season remain to be seen, but for a League, the existence of which the National League magnates are not yet willing to admit, the American Association has, sure enough, already accomplished a great deal.

Here is a piece of genuine news to the promoters of the new American Association. It is clipped from the Chicago Times-Herald:

"President Johnson was offered a salary of $10,000 a year by the new American Association, but refused to consider the offer. Last summer he was offered the presidency of the Chicago Baseball Club by President Hart, but declined. The third offer is from the National League, and his friends have urged him to accept, which he without doubt will."

The new American Association never offered Johnson a job as president or a salary of $10,000. The Western League man knows that and will probably deny the story published above in the Times-Herald. Any money the new American Association may have to spare will go to its players, not to its president. At least, that is the declaration made by President Quinn some time ago.

The St. Louis Baseball Club disbands after Sunday's game with Chicago.

Several members of the team who have families will winter here, while the majority will go East.

Heidrick and Wallace will go to Pittsburg and winter there.

Childs will remain at Philadelphia during the winter.

The other players will remain in St. Louis a little while before leaving for their homes in the East.

The Cincinnati Club left St. Louis for home on Wednesday morning's train. While here Manager Ewing of the Reds had a telegram published in Cincinnati saying that his team was robbed out of the final game the Reds played with St. Louis.

The Phillies' chance of finishing second and dividing $2500 between them is a thing of the past. No prizes for the Quaker boys this season.

The rumor that "Biddy" McPhee will retire after this season is probably a false one, as that gentleman is still playing too good a game to be classed with the "has-beens."

The success of the Superbas this season is all the more surprising when it is considered that Hanlon has carried out a managerial policy directly opposite to that which he pursued with the Baltimore Club. The Brooklyns of 1899 are a team of veterans. The Orioles of 1894, 1895 and 1896 were in the main young players, and each season there were two or more players among them without major league experience. Manager McGraw follows the methods Hanlon has abandoned. He passes the veterans by and engages none but young players. The best results are obtained from a judicious intermingling of old and young players. The former steady the youngsters and the latter stimulate the seasoned contingent and prevent them from becoming listless and mechanical.

The Western League met at Chicago Wednesday, changed its name to the American Baseball League, awarded the pennant to Indianapolis, and appointed this board of directors: J. H. Manning, C. H. Salpaugh, W. F. G. Golt, G. A. Vonderbeck and President Johnson.

M'COY AND THE JUDGE.

The Pugilist Has a Pleasant Experience in a Cincinnati Court.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12.—While "Kid" McCoy was at the Courthouse yesterday he was taken before Judge Jackson for an introduction by Attorney Shay. McCoy at first expressed surprise at the youthful appearance of the Judge.

"Why, Judge," he said. "I have always been led to expect that a Judge was an old man, but you look like a boy."

The Court replied:

"So have I always thought that pugilists were men of bully appearance, but you look like a boy, too."

The Judge and the champion middleweight had a long chat on matters pugilistic. The Court surprised McCoy by his knowledge of the champion's ring history and discussed with him the merits of all the celebrated fighters of the day.

"No, I do not," answered the Kid. "I watch his body from the stomach line down. I can tell by the way he shifts his body what he is going to do, and then at once I think what is the best reply to make. You know, Judge, the easiest way to upset a wagon is from the side. Well, it is the same way with a man."

An extended conversation between a Judge and a champion pugilist attracted a great deal of attention among the members of the bar, and quite a number of them dropped into the Judge's rooms.

Tylers' Good Record.

The Tylers ended this season Sunday with a victory, by defeating the Clintons by a score of 10 to 4. The Tylers have won 33 and lost by 12 games during the season.

THEIR SEASON ENDED.

UNFORTUNATE STEEPLECHASE.

Out of Seven Starters in the Timber Topping Contest at Morris Park Only One Finished.

The Fair Grounds' season of racing and Fairs being at an end, the men who have had charge out there will now take a holiday or move to other points.

In a day or two President Aull, Secretary Johnny Hackmeister and Press Agent George Munson of the Fair Association staffs, will take their annual holiday in the shape of a fishing trip to Arkansas.

Superintendent Jim Cunningham is putting the big track in shape for the winter and when his work there is ended he will go fishing with the rest.

The fall season of racing continues lively and there is still racing at five tracks.

The second race at Hawthorne promises be the interesting event there Thursday. It is at six furlongs, for 2-year-olds and the starters are:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Red Cross II | 108 | Maharajah | 105 |
| Joe Wheeler | 108 | Florizar | 105 |
| Kentucky Farmer | 109 | Olekma | 102 |
| Bonnivard | 105 | Huronia | 102 |
| Gusto | 105 | Kahler | 102 |

The fourth race at Latonia is a handicap at a mile. Sir Rolla starts in it and the Maffitt horse appears to have a good chance. The full list of entries in this race is:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Hop Scotch | 96 | Greatland | 107 |
| Pinochle | 100 | Monk Wayman | 107 |
| The Lady in Blue | 100 | Sir Rolla | 109 |
| Allie Belle | 106 | Samovar | 114 |
| Tulane | 106 | | |

The New Rochelle Stakes and the Westchester Handicap will be the features at Morris Park Thursday afternoon.

The Westchester is at six and a half furlongs, over the Withers Course, and that good horse, Richard J., who won so many races at St. Louis this year, will be one of the starters. The full list of starters in the Westchester will be:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Richard J. | 127 | Tamor | 108 |
| Jinks | 118 | General Mart Gary | 108 |
| Lieutenant Gibson | 116 | The Bobby | 107 |
| Lady Lindsey | 110 | Nanine | 106 |

The old St. Louis campaigners, Branch and Rebel Jack, ran in the third race at Windsor Thursday. Branch ran second, but Rebel Jack was unplaced.

More steeplechase riders were injured Wednesday. At Morris Park the first race was a steeplechase over the two-mile course. Decameron, the 8 to 5, favorite, was the only horse to finish. The Parrot Mouthed refused the second jump and threw his rider. All the other starters also fell. Foolhardy and Nestor were remounted by outside boys and finished in the time limit, getting place and third respectively. Raymond, who rode Foolhardy, and T. Donohue, who rode Nester, were both badly hurt. The former was carried insensible to the hospital with concussion of the brain, and the latter had his shoulder dislocated.

THE ST. LOUIS HORSE SHOW.

The prospects for the St. Louis Horse Show, which opens at the Coliseum Monday, Oct. 30 and closes Saturday, Nov. 4, are exceedingly bright.

He is assisted by John R. Gentry, G. Lacy Crawford, G. H. Walker, William J. Orthwein and others equally well known.

The sale of boxes for the season, which opened on Oct. 3, has been excellent.

A notably fine feature of this year's horse show will be the music that will be provided for the delectation of the people who will attend this year. Weil's band and orchestra of 40 pieces has been engaged, and the spacious Coliseum will resound with the sweet strains of this excellent band.

Another splendid feature this year will be the drill by the mounted police, under Capt. McNamee. As an incentive to skilful horsemanship among the mounted police, St. Louis Horse Show Association have offered a prize of $100 for the best horse and exhibition of riding.

Manager Gentry received a letter from Col. F. W. Blees of Macon, Mo., this morning, in which he stated that he would have his world-beater, Rex McDonald, on exhibition this year at the horse show. Miss Rex, owned by the late Col. S. H. Fulton of Kansas City, will also be among the noted horses that will be seen on exhibition only. The St. Louis Horse Show of 1899, established to stay as a permanent institution, will far exceed in interest, enthusiasm, display of fine horse flesh, of magnificent turnouts any horse show ever held in the West and on a par with the magnificent New York Horse Show, held at Madison Square Garden.

M'DUFFEE'S GREAT RECORD.

Makes People Wonder When Record Breaking on Bicycle Will Cease.

To ride a bicycle 10 miles at an average of 1m. 31 4-5s. per mile would have been deemed an impossibility a year ago.

Indeed, the same figures were considered fairly astonishing as representing the world's record for the single mile until the present season was well advanced.

Yet Eddie McDuffee with apparent ease made 10 miles with this astonishing average on the quarter-mile track at the Brockton (Mass.) Fair Grounds last week. An immense gathering of spectators saw and applauded the feat.

And the old question is again forcibly brought to mind. How can one account for the continued breaking of best previous records? When will it cease? These questions were asked last year, the year before that and so on backward. Some reasonable explanation can be urged as regards the remarkable advance this year.

The fact that McDuffee is McDuffee undoubtedly has much to do with it, although there has been no lack of good men since bicycle riders first began to go for records. Nor will it do to overlook McDuffee's very advanced pacing system. But the remarkable adaptation of the chainless wheel to very high gears must be recognized as a fact of great significance. McDuffee uses a 135 gear with 5¼-inch cranks, a combination which no rider succeeded in using to advantage before bevel gears came to the front.

At Brockton, McDuffee broke all records from two to ten miles. His time by miles follows: First mile, 1m. 33 4-5s.; second, 1m. 31 3-5s.; total, 3m. 5 2-5s.; third, 1m. 29 2-5s.; total, 4m. 35s.; fourth, 1m. 32 3-5s.; total, 6m. 7 3-5s.; fifth, 1m. 33s.; total, 7m. 40 3-5s.; sixth, 1m. 30 1-5s.; total, 9m. 10 4-5s.; seventh, 1m. 31 1-5s.; total, 10m. 42s.; eighth, 1m. 35s.; total, 12m. 17s.; ninth, 1m. 32 2-5s.; total, 13m. 49 2-5s.; tenth, 1m. 29 2-5s.; total, 15m. 18 4-5s.

The best previous record for 10 miles was 16m. 22s., held by Elkes.

WITH THE BOXERS.

Jimmy Murray, the Cincinnati lightweight who fought Ed Lally, the St. Louis lightweight, two draws and who lost to Jack Lewis at the Business Men's Gymnasium last winter, makes his debut in New York this Thursday night.

He will then meet Spike Sullivan at the Hercules Athletic Club in New York City, and according to the terms the men are to scale at 135 pounds and to battle 25 rounds.

Murray weighed 138 when he met Lewis and he was then in fine shape. He can easily do 135.

Frank Erne, the lightweight champion of the world, and Jack O'Brien, who defeated Tim Kearns recently, have been matched to fight for the lightweight championship of the world. The date agreed upon for the mill is Oct. 26, the night before the Jeffries-Sharkey fight, and it is probable that it will be decided in the Lenox Athletic Club.

Billy Brady made the match and the inducements he offered were 50 per cent of the gate receipts with a guarantee of $5000. The men will meet at the lightweight limit, 133 pounds. Erne won his title by defeating Kid Lavigne in Buffalo, the city from which he hails.

Joe Studebaker of 2116 Clark avenue wants to fight Joe Preiss of South St. Louis for the bantamweight championship of St. Louis. Studebaker says he is willing to bet $100 that he can defeat Preiss.

The Peppers-Purcell mill will take place in St. Louis on Monday night.

Inter-Collegiate Rowing Association.

The Inter-Collegiate Rowing Association will, in all probability, hold all its future regattas on the Hudson River, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. This decision was arrived at this week.

In 1898 Dr. L. L. Leaman of New York, a Cornell alumnus, presented to the association a perpetual challenge cup to be competed for annually by eights for the championship of American universities.

The University of Pennsylvania now holds the cup, having won it twice in succession in the years 1898 and 1899.

EWING AND ANSON.

They Will Pull Together in Making a Success of the New League.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—During Capt. Adrian C. Anson's recent visit to Cincinnati he met Buck Ewing, the present manager of the Cincinnati club and talked to him about the new baseball league.

The old baseball captain and Mr. Ewing were constantly together while the two were in Cincinnati, and it is assured they will work hand in hand in making a success of the new league. Buck Ewing in his conversation with Capt. Anson assured the latter that as soon as the new league was welded into form he would be more than willing to give it his support and break away entirely from the old league.

"One thing is certain," said Mr. Anson last night, "the prospects for the new league look well anyway. As many players as we want stand ready to be signed by us. We are simply looking over the field now, however, and do not intend to sign any men until we get the very best. This is only a question of time, for nearly all of them are pretty sure to come our way. Of course the first thing we shall do is to get some good pitchers and then the rest of the players will come easy. Mr. Ewing and myself had the best kind of a time while we were away. In my estimation he has a great hold on the Cincinnati club in spite of the rumors to the contrary, and this is pretty sure to give the new league no little help. We are, of course, working quietly all the time and will continue to do so for a while yet."

M'COY IN CINCINNATI.

He Goes There to Defend a Suit Instituted Two Years Ago.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 11.—"Kid" McCoy arrived in Cincinnati this morning to defend a suit for $278, instituted against him over two years ago by Harry Shafer.

Shafer went to Syracuse, N. Y., at McCoy's suggestion, it is claimed, to look after the fighter's financial interests in his contest with Tommy Ryan and was to receive his expenses and 5 per cent of McCoy's winnings for his services.

After the fight McCoy is said to have avoided Shafer, who did not press him for the payment of the claims until after McCoy had defeated Creedon. McCoy repudiated the debt, it is alleged, and Shafer entered the suit. The suit will be heard before Judge Smith on an appeal to-morrow morning.

Association of Football Clubs.

The Association of Football Clubs will open its season on Sunday, Oct. 22.

The games scheduled for that day are West Ends vs. Cycling Club at Athletic Park and Shamrocks vs. C. B. C. at college grounds.

W. M. Rosborough will manage the Cycling Club again this year.

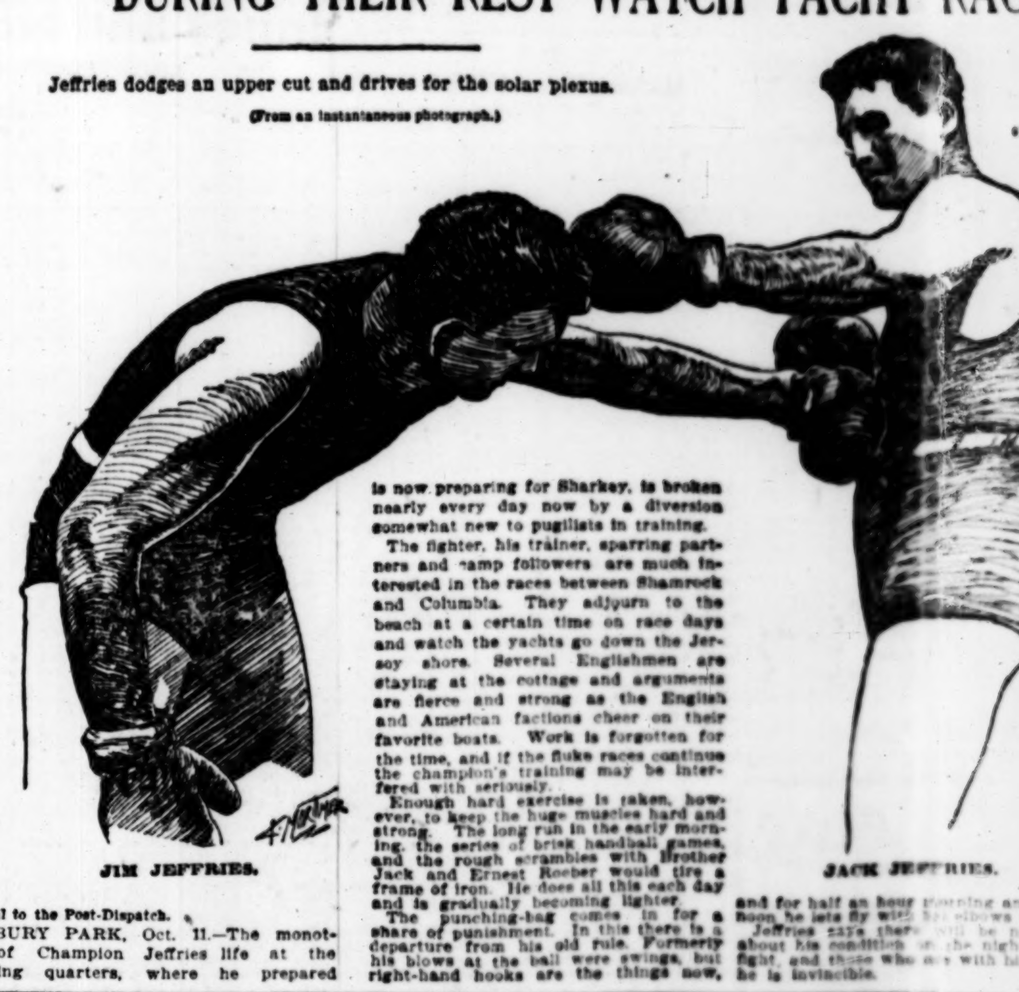

Dick Jarrett, Comerford, Jim Daly, Hogan, Arrock and the McDonough brothers joined the Cycling Club in a body at Wednesday night's meeting.

JIM JEFFRIES AND HIS TRAINERS DURING THEIR REST WATCH YACHT RACES.

JIM JEFFRIES. JACK JEFFRIES.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ASBURY PARK, Oct. 11.—The monotony of Champion Jeffries life at the training quarters, where he prepared is now preparing for Sharkey, is broken nearly every day now by a diversion somewhat new to pugilists in training.

The fighter, his trainer, sparring partners and camp followers are much interested in the races between Shamrock and Columbia. They adjourn to the beach at a certain time on race days and watch the yachts go down the Jersey shore. Several Englishmen are staying at the cottage and arguments are fierce and strong as the English and American factions cheer on their favorite boats. Work is forgotten for the time, and if the fluke races continue the champion's training may be interfered with seriously.

Enough hard exercise is taken, however, to keep the huge muscles hard and strong. The long run in the early morning, the series of brisk handball games, and the rough scrambles with Brother Jack and Ernest Roeber would tire a frame of iron. He does all this each day and is gradually becoming lighter.

The punching-bag comes in for a share of punishment. In this there is a departure from his old rule. Formerly his blows at the ball were swings, but right-hand hooks are the things now, and for half an hour morning and afternoon he lets fly with his elbows crooked.

Jeffries says there will be no doubt about his condition on the night of the fight, and those who are with him think he is invincible.

With the Amateurs.

The Reds defeated the Escuneys at East St. Louis on Sunday by 7 to 6.

The Maddenvilles added two more games to their long list of victories Sunday by winning a double header. In the morning they defeated the "Acts" by a score of 13 to 3. They won the afternoon game from the Eads by 15 to 5. The feature of both games was the excellent pitching of B. L. Parey of the Maddenvilles.

The Columbias now claim the amateur championship of St. Louis after having defeated the Hargadine-McKittricks two out of three games. Sunday's game was won by the Columbias by 15 to 9. The feature of the game were the beautiful throw of Conroy to third and the heavy batting of the Columbias. Reining was batted out of the box in the eighth inning. The teams were lined up as follows:

| Columbia— | Hargadine-McKittricks— |
|---|---|
| Griffin 2b. | E. Steger ss. |
| O'Neill 3b. | Murphy 1b. |

CRUSADE ON SALOON MUSIC

Influential Citizens Have Appealed to the Police Board to Stop the Piano in Resorts.

Encouraged by their success in having the winerooms wiped out, the people who have conducted the crusade against them are going to try to have music in saloons abolished also.

Thursday afternoon Father Coffee of St. John's Catholic Church, Dean Davis of Christ Church Cathedral, George A. Baker of Centerary M. E. Church, South, and E. A. P. Haynes, the counsel of the committee, called on Harry Hawes, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, and made a formal request that he order the enforcement of the law against music in saloons.

The committee want pianos and all other musical instruments removed. They contend that the music is calculated to and does beguile young persons into saloons who might not otherwise enter them and that the quality of the music provided is such as to constitute a nuisance. They draw attention to the fact that pianos and other musical instruments are usually in resorts of the lower class.

A REWARD OFFERED FOR HIM.

James K. Stratton Has Again Escaped From the Penitentiary.

The St. Louis police are on the lookout for James K. Stratton, who escaped from the Colorado penitentiary at Canon City Tuesday night.

Stratton was a partner of Prentice Tiller, the mail-box and express robber who committed his first big crime on a train out of St. Louis.

Stratton is well known to the persons who are acquainted with criminals in St. Louis. He served a term in the Missouri penitentiary several years ago for robbery.

A reward of $200 is offered by the Federal Government for the arrest of Stratton. He escaped from the Canon City penitentiary in 1893, and was captured in Cincinnati by Post Office Inspector Paul Williams.

AWARDED ONE CENT DAMAGES.

George W. Knappstaedt's Jaw Was Broken by an Assault.

George W. Knappstaedt was awarded 1 cent damages for personal injuries against John Spruck by a jury in Judge Ferriss' court Thursday.

Knappstaedt sued for $1000 on the charge that Spruck had assaulted him at his laundry on Wash street and struck him on the jaw, breaking it.

NEW WHOLESALE HOUSE.

St. Louis Mercantile Company Seeks to Be Incorporated.

The St. Louis Mercantile Co. filed articles of incorporation Thursday. Its capital stock is placed at only $10,000, but it is said it will open a wholesale dry goods house in St. Louis.

DEED OF TRUST EXECUTED.

Star Carriage Manufacturing Company to Its Creditors.

The Star Carriage Manufacturing Co. executed a deed of trust Thursday to Thomas B. Harlan to secure its creditors.

MULLANPHY BANK DIVIDEND.

Receiver Stone Busy Paying 6 Per Cent to the Creditors.

Ex-Gov. Stone, receiver of the Mullanphy Bank, is distributing a 6 per cent dividend to the creditors of the institution under an order of court made Wednesday.

This dividend makes an aggregate of 50 1-3 per cent paid on the claims.

Songs Free.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch gives free to every buyer a new and original song. The album contains 10 songs. Parts 1 and 2 were given with the issues of Oct. 1 and 8, respectively. Part 3, "I'm Nothing But A Big Wax Doll," by Malcolm Williams, who is well known to every matinee girl, will be issued with the Sunday Post-Dispatch of Oct. 15. Remember, these songs are written expressly for the Sunday Post-Dispatch and can be obtained in no other manner. Get the set by all means.

Directors Elected.—The stockholders of the St. Louis Manufacturer Publishing Co. met Wednesday and elected the following directors: J. W. Vancleave, H. I. Drummond, E. H. Conrades, W. R. Timkin, Tom L. Cannon, P. H. Murphy, L. D. Kingsland, Joseph F. Wangler, D. L. Harrison, Goodman King, W. H. Woodward, Theodore Herold, John L. Moore.

HIS FATHER'S WRATH NO BAR.

Brewer Probst's Son Eloped With His Fiance.

A ROMANCE AT NEW ATHENS.

MISS ANNA ZIERRATH IS THE BRIDE.

Young Couple Eloped to Cincinnati and Were There Married—Brewer Probst Is Still Very Angry.

George Probst and Miss Anna Zierrath, two of the best known young people of New Athens, Ill., eloped to Cincinnati last Saturday and were married.

The couple had been going together for some time. When the young man asked his father, Isfried Probst, owner of the New Athens Brewery, for permission to wed the pretty young lady, he was given a decisively negative answer and warned that dire consequences would follow if he persisted in his intention. The only objection was the youthfulness of the young man.

The couple were not dismayed by the opposition of the rich brewer. In furtherance of an arrangement which they made, young Probst quietly left New Athens Friday without letting his father know of his purpose, and telling nobody of his destination.

Saturday Miss Zierrath also left New Athens. Nothing was known of the whereabouts of either until Wednesday, when a letter was received which stated that they had been married at Cincinnati and would be back in New Athens in a day or two.

The young man's father is ireful and will probably withhold his blessing, at least for a while.

MACHINES TO STAMP LETTERS.

They Will Be Put Into the Postoffice by a Government Electrician.

F. S. Allen, electrical and mechanical engineer for the United States Postoffice Department, Washington, arrived in St. Louis Thursday. Mr. Allen has charge of the installation of the new Landfear canceling machines, 15 of which are to be placed in the St. Louis postoffice.

Mr. Allen intends making a Southern trip before placing the local machines, and contemplates reaching this city about Nov. 15.

The machines will be operated by three different current motors of improved type, designed to operate at a voltage of 110. Five of the local machines will be alloted to the city division and 10 to the mailing division—all to be used on back stamping or forwarded mail.

It is probable the canceling dies for the machines will be so arranged as to bring into prominence the coming World's Fair.

The machines make about 300 revolutions a minute and if constantly fed will take care of 18,000 letters an hour, or a total for the 15 machines of 270,000 letters an hour.

Mr. Allen is a brother of Acting First Assistant Postmaster-General George M. Allen and W. B. Allen, who is locally connected with the Department of Public Works.

WARM WEATHER CONTINUES.

Conditions Appear Rather Puzzling to Dr. Hyatt.

Dr. Hyatt was puzzled Thursday morning. He couldn't tell, he said, whether it was going to be wet or dry in St. Louis. All he dared predict is unsettled weather.

He is afraid of that "low," hanging over the north, which he says may bring rain to St. Louis before Thursday night. There is a high over the Rocky Mountain slope, where it is snowing.

At noon Wednesday the mercury began to climb and Dr. Hyatt sighed.

"It's beginning to look like rain," he said, "and I think it is pretty well assured we won't have cooler weather for a week or so."

ON A NEIGHBOR'S COMPLAINT.

Thomas Howell, a Hotel Proprietor, Fined in Police Court.

Thomas Howell, proprietor of the Columbia Hotel, Ninth and Market streets, was fined $5 in the Police Court Thursday morning. John Ashton has two rooms back of the hotel on an alley. Howell had a load of coal emptied in the alley. It blockaded Ashton's door. He remonstrated and Howell called him bad names.

THE MARKETS.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Oct. 12.

Despite much higher foreign markets, the local market showed a decided inclination to be bearish at the opening of the day's session.

The opening, though well below Wednesday's close, was not the lowest that the market went to, and for a time it seemed as if it had taken things into its own hands, and was going to act entirely independent of all outside markets.

Later a bullish feeling pervaded the trade, and a few gains were recorded, but in the early hours neither faction was able to make the other much trouble, and after the first excitement attending the opening had quieted down, the market became languid and almost entirely devoid of interest to the pit.

The Weather—Unsettled and probably showers to-night or Friday.

Rains occurred in the Ohio Valley, Lake region, Tennessee and portions of the Gulf. Rain and snow prevailed throughout the Northwest; elsewhere it is generally fair.

It is warmer in the Upper Mississippi Valley; in other sections the changes have been slight.

WHEAT.

In the early hours of to-day's market the faction most in evidence was the bears, who were able, on favorable cables, to lower the market slightly.

The bulls later woke up and the opening figure was again reached, where the market stuck with great persistancy.

The Minneapolis market had a holiday, and the foreign markets opened well above yesterday's market, and it would naturally have been supposed that to-day's market would be decidedly stronger, when the imminence of war with the Transvaal was taken into consideration, but later developments in the foreign markets had a great influence on this country's trade.

The local market showed a small receipt of wheat in comparison to that of last year, and this under ordinary circumstances would have meant a gain in price, but the markets of this country and those of Europe are at present very closely allied, and the early movements abroad, despite favorable news in this country for the bulls, forced a bearish opening.

At the opening it seemed as if there would be something to stir up the pit, on account of the unexpected fall in prices, but later the market was unable to develop much of interest, and the traders who had so conscientiously stuck to the pit, began to desert it and trade fell off.

There were no great changes in price recorded at any time during the early hours, the opening being the highest jump; later there was a gradual fall in prices, for a time each step being strongly opposed by the bulls, but in spite of this the early tone of the market would suggest, but little change for the whole session.

Dec. still continued to hold the chief attention of the pit, though May was not by any means neglected, though in the early hours the only interest shown this future was in the way of bid prices, the opening not occurring till late in the session.

Dec. opened at 73⅜c, a loss of 3-16c since yesterday's close, the slump in prices that followed taking the future down to 73⅛@73¼c, and there the market showed a very uncertain tone, going up to 73¼@73⅜c, and then to 73⅜c, the opening, where it stood still a long time, then falling back to 73⅛@73¼c, and finally going to 73⅛c, where, despite the earliness of the hour, it showed a strong disposition to close.

Later the bears, seemingly without much trouble, were able to reach the 73@73⅛c mark, where what little interest that had previously been shown in the market waned, and the pit lost most of its traders, with the bulls decidedly in the minority. The Dec. future reached 73c.

Later in the session the slump began in earnest, the future going to 72⅞c, then to 72⅝c and later reaching 72½c.

The May future came into the ring late, though prior to its opening it received several bids, the first being 77¼c, and later 77⅛c was bid and also refused.

Wm. A. Rooke Morning Letter.

"Cables are ⅜ higher for wheat. Should this war scare stimulate export buying of our wheat in good volume, better prices will undoubtedly occur. A better demand to absorb the big movement toward the centers, is the one thing needful. It remains to be seen whether this demand will be sufficiently large to permanently affect prices."

Liverpool opened ⅜d higher for wheat than yesterday's trade and in spite of strong war talk fell at the close.

The high mark of the day was reached soon after the opening, when the market went to ⅜d above the close of the previous market, but later the bears' work began in earnest and the close was but ¼d higher.

Paris opened 5 centimes higher for wheat than yesterday's close, but later the market fell off rapidly. Flour remained unchanged.

J. W. Sandford's Chicago wire said:

The fear among some traders appears to be that war news may terminate in something more serious, and for this reason it is believed that large purchases of wheat were made for the other side yesterday amounting to three-quarters of a million at least.

The Price Current does not give a very glowing report on the sown wheat, stating that more moisture is needed.

Local traders covered their short wheat toward the close yesterday and are prepared for a continuance of foreign demand, which, if on a similar scale as yesterday, will easily turn this market into a very strong one.

Receipts of wheat at primary points to-day were 886,754 bu, as compared with 1,564,000 bu same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis to-day were 52,280 bu, compared with 101,448 bu same date last year. Of these 1680 sacks and 63 cars were local, compared with 288 sacks and 58 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Duluth to-day were 354 cars, compared with 474 cars same date last year.

By wire to Wm. A. Rooke:

"Corn is barely steady, off ⅛ to ¼ from last night, with the crowd inclined to take profits on long lines. There is, however, the same sort of buying as yesterday and presumably by the seaboard."

Smith, O'Brien and Pringle are the best buyers of wheat.

Believe big short in this December and May corn. BRYAN.

The buying so far has been mostly against puts and this has been of sufficient volume to steady the market. Trade light, without any special feature other than that mentioned above.

By wire to A. C. Petri:

Logan has been a steady seller since the opening. Trade so far has been light. Schwartz-Dupee have been moderate buyers.

The only orders we get so far from abroad are to sell.

Not much wheat offered in Chicago (72⅞c and 73c) the local crowd, and C. H. Smith are bullish.

By Wire to J. W. Sanford.

Not many acceptances wheat and corn. Fair number bids for both, little below present market any material decline would result in fairly good export business.

The entire absence of outside support is encouraging traders to sell. So far they have met with very little opposition.

It looks to me as if the market would sell off. The demand has let up; cables not as high as looked for.

Corn holds steady. Selling by Comstock. Look for little break.

Most of to-day's lower prices were made on sales by Keene brokers. He is said to be very bearish, but has so far failed to secure much of a following.

CORN.

Though the futures opened early in the session, the market thereafter was of little interest to either faction, and the changes that were recorded were but slight.

Both factions evidently did not desire to entangle themselves with the corn market, their trades suggesting that they were only made for fear of losing their position.

A report from Chicago said:

"The sales in corn, including business worked from West to Baltimore, Philadelphia and Newport News, were over 1,000,000, and one operator claimed to have bought 750,000 bu."

Receipts of corn at primary points to-day were 788,518 bu, compared with 696,000 bu same date last year. Shipments, 674,342 bu, compared with 358,000 bu same date last year.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis to-day were 72,000 bu, compared with 40,460 bu same date last year. Of these 54 cars were local, compared with 284 sacks and 41 cars same date last year.

OATS.

The oats market was extremely dull, none of the futures opening till near the close of the session.

The receipts at St. Louis again showed a large increase over last year, but this apparently had no effect either one way or the other on the market.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis to-day were 84,000 bu, compared with 31,200 bu same date last year. Of these 63 cars were local, compared with 24 cars same date last year.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Unresponsive cables and a poor export inquiry gave wheat an easy start today. Wet weather throughout the wheat belt also had a weakening influence. The market ruled very dull, as traders were averse to taking on fresh obligations until it became definitely known what effect hostilities in South Africa would have on the trade. December opened ¼c lower, at 72⅞c, and slipped off to 72⅝c. Receipts here were 161 cars, 3 of contract grade. No returns from Northwest owing to holiday at Minneapolis.

Corn ruled barely steady, with the crowd inclined to take profits on long lines. Receipts, 468 cars. December opened a shade lower at 31½@31⅝c, and declined to 31⅜@31½c. Moderate receipts and good buying by elevator interests strengthened oats. Receipts, 234 cars. December opened unchanged, at 23¼c, and advanced to 23⅜c.

Lower prices for hogs and the decline in corn and wheat depressed provisions. Packers sold freely. January pork opened 5c lower, at $9.62½, and declined to $9.55. January lard opened 2½c lower, at $5.50, and declined to $5.45. January ribs opened 2½@5c lower, at $5@5.02½, and declined to $4.97½@5.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING—St. Louis, Oct. 1899.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Madison Railway Equipment Co. will be held at the office of the company in Madison, Madison County, Ill., at 10 o'clock a. m. on Thursday, Oct. 28, 1899, for the purpose of electing three (3) directors to serve during the ensuing three years, and such other business as may be brought up before the meeting. CHARLES D. M'LURE, President.
PAUL A. FUSZ, Secretary.

WILL CHANGE MUSIC HALL

Many Improvements to Be Made at Once to Accommodate the Castle Square Opera Season.

In connection with the advent of the Castle Square opera company, Nov. 6, in grand and light opera in English, Music Hall stage will be entirely rewired for the latest production of various colored electrical effects, and a new switchboard installed, to regulate the electrical lights of different circuits. Music Hall itself will be renovated and recarpeted. The stage opening will be reduced to 50-foot opening by the use of a new proscenium arch.

The number of seats will be reduced to about 2600. Seats in the rear of the gallery will be removed, thus giving a promanade for the audience between the acts. The parquet will be reduced by lowering the boxes almost to the stage level, and this will remove all unfavorable places, as well as the seats under the boxes. The back railing will be brought nearer the stage and some of the seats in the rear of the dress circle removed, affording another promanade.

TAYLOR JOHNSON TO WED.

He Will Soon Marry Mrs. Mary Shade of Forest City, Ark.

Taylor Johnson, son and secretary of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson, stated Thursday that he was soon to be married to Mrs. Mary Shade, a young widow of Forest City, Ark.

It was reported Thursday morning around the Four Courts that the marriage was to take place at once, and Mr. Johnson's father and mother visited the office to remonstrate against an elopement.

Then Mr. Johnson told the name of his fiancee and confessed that he intended to be married soon, and had tried to keep the matter quiet. He has known Mrs. Shade about one year. She is now visiting friends in St. Louis.

MULVIHILL DIVORCE SUIT.

Wife Has Filed a Cross Bill Alleging Abuse and Cruelty.

The divorce case of Patrick Mulvihill against Catherine was called in Judge Zachritz's court Thursday.

The plaintiff claims the defendant has deserted him. She, on the other hand, has filed a cross-bill, charging him with abuse and cruelty.

Mrs. Mulvihill sued her husband for maintenance last winter before Judge Spencer, but failed to recover.

Among the abuses which she charges against him is an assault, which, she says, he made on her one day just after they had arisen from their knees where they had been saying their prayers.

Malcolm Williams Composed It.

Part 3 of the Sunday Post-Dispatch Album of new and original songs, "I'm Nothing But A Big Wax Doll," which will be issued free with the next Sunday Post-Dispatch, Oct. 15, was composed expressly for the Sunday Post-Dispatch by Malcolm Williams, and can be obtained in no other manner. In all there will be 10 of these songs. Parts 1 and 2 have already been issued. Are you saving the set? It is not yet too late to start. Ask your news dealer or carrier to get parts 1 and 2 for you.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Rev. Father John White, pastor of the Catholic Church of Holy Innocents, has gone to Ireland for a vacation that will last several weeks.

J. H. Flanagan, known in State politics as "Fire Alarm," is visiting in St. Louis. He lives in Carthage, Mo.

BANK HELPED BY HIS SALARY.

Cashier Kammerer Gave Up $150 a Month.

THE TEUSCHER OVERDRAFTS.

"KITING" OF CHECKS KNOWN TO THE CASHIER.

Testimony Respecting the Mullanphy Bank Reveals the Actual Condition of Its Affairs.

W. G. Hoss attorney for Receiver William J. Stone in the latter's suit for $250,000 against the directors of the defunct Mullanphy Savings Bank, has completed the examination of former Cashier L. G. Kammerer on the indebtedness of the Consumers' Coal Co. to the bank, and has taken up the T. S. Teuscher overdraft.

Cashier Kammerer was questioned closely about the Teuscher dealings Thursday and the examination proceeded slowly because he frequently found it necessary to appeal to records to refresh his memory.

Mr. Kammerer insisted that the Teuscher indebtedness fell upon the bank unexpectedly, as it was supposed that all he had borrowed and overdrawn was amply secured. When, therefore, it was found the security was inadequate to the indebtedness the directors were at sea for a method of proceeding.

Mr. Kammerer said he volunteered to pay $150 a month on the Feuscher interest out of his salary, and that his proposition was accepted. That was in 1894. When asked if any record was made of that agreement, he said there was none at that time. He was then given the minute book of the board meetings to examine and asked if any entry of a reduction of his salary from $400 to $250 a month could be found. He read an entry to that effect, made in January, 1896, 18 months after he had made the agreement. But he said he had paid his $150 during that time and accounted for the delay in putting the agreement on record by the statement that it had been neglected at the first annual meeting after it was entered into and was only thought of at the following meeting.

Mr. Kammerer declared that only the discount committee knew of this arrangement, as it was not brought before the Board of Directors. He said he was not required to make payments out of his salary, but had done so to help the bank out of great trouble, as he had done on at least one other occasion.

Mr. Kammerer was asked if he knew what Teuscher was doing while he was having heavy transactions with the bank. He replied that he did not.

Attorney Hoss showed him 30 checks, aggregating $240,000, drawn by Teuscher on the bank in June and July, 1894, and made payable to the Culver Grain Co., and asked him if he had ever seen them. He replied that he had, but insisted that they didn't give him any evidence that Teuscher was dealing in grain futures. He said he had talked with Teuscher about the checks and had been informed that Teuscher and the grain company were only swapping checks, or "kiting," the grain company giving him a check for $5000 in exchange for one of $5000. Kammerer said Teuscher claimed this system gave him the use of the grain check for one day in his liquor deal, and he was enabled to pay off the old one with a similar one the next day. He said this was called "kiting" by bankers and brokers and was frequently resorted to as a safe method of tiding one over a financial difficulty.

Mr. Kammerer said Teuscher had dealing of a similar nature with other commission companies. He said he knew the companies were dealing in grain, but he did not suspect Teuscher was interested in futures.

SYMPATHY FOR BOE[RS]

IT WILL BE EXPRESSED AT T[O]NIGHT'S MASS MEETING.

AT 14TH STREET THEATER.

Provision Made for an Overflow Meeting—List of Speakers and Vice-Presidents Selected.

A mass meeting of citizens will be held at the Fourteenth Street Theater Thursday night under the auspices of the [Irish] Nationalists to protest against England making war upon the Boer Republic and the Orange Free State.

The arrangement committee has received letters and telegrams from many prominent Irishmen and Irish sympathizers throughout the country and all have contained the assurance that the action of the St. Louis Irishen will meet with the unqualified endorsement of their fellow countrymen everywhere.

But it is the purpose of the arrangement comittee to make the meeting express not only the sentiment of the Irishmen of St. Louis, but also of all the citizens. Consequently, it has been announced as a meeting of citizens.

Meetings of this kind have been held in New York and Louisville, but have not attracted much attention because they were not called under circumstances that assured the public that what they did was the expression of any important body of men. The St. Louis meeting has been widely advertised and the prominence of the men behind it has given it a forward position in the public mind.

Members of the arrangement committee said Thursday morning that they had assurance that the theater would be crowded when the chairman rapped for order. It is probable that overflow meetings may be necessary. The committee will be prepared for that emergency and speakers have already been selectd and will b ready if their services are demanded. A large portion of the audience will be Germans, who regard the Boers as of the same people as themselves and are anxious to extend either moral or substantial aid to them in their contest for independence. Lieutenant-Governor A. H. Bolte has written that he may be present and will act as one of the vice-presidents.

Dr. Emil Preetorius, Dr. Thomas O'Reilly, O'Neill Ryan, Champ Clark and Col. D. P. Dyer will be among the speakers. No allusion wil be made to politics. Only the Transvaal crisis will be discussed and the speeches will all be brief and pointed. Dr. Thomas O'Reilly will preside.

The following vice-presidents of the meeting have been named and will occupy seats on the stage:

KILLED BY A FREIGHT TRAIN

Lewis B. Stewart, superintendent for James Stewart & Co., contractors and engineers, was run over and killed by a freight train at Osway, Potter County, Pa., Wednesday night. The remains will be brought here for interment.

Mr. Stewart was the eldest son of John L. Stewart, and a grandson of James Stewart. He attended to most of the out-of-town contracts of the firm, which does a large constructing business. He was married and his wife usually accompanied him to points where his business required his presence for any considerable length of time. She was with him at Osway, where he had been for several months superintending railroad work.

Only meager particulars of the manner of the accident have been received here. It is simply known that he attempted to board a freight train Wedne[sday] night, missed his footing and was [fat]ally injured. He was about 30 years

POLICE MAKE ANOTHER FIND.

Bundle of Flesh Wrapped In Cheese Cloth.

FLOATING IN THE EAST RIVER.

NEW EVIDENCE IN NEW YORK'S LATEST MURDER MYSTERY.

Little Doubt but the Part Belongs to the Other Fragments of a Young Woman's Body Found Last Week.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The police department reported to-day that a bundle supposed to contain human entrails had been found in the East River at the foot of Dover street. The bundle was wrapped in cheese cloth and was sent to the morgue.

The find was wrapped in a white canvas bag. The flesh was covered with blood and with it were four small and one large piece of medicated gauze soaked with blood. What is supposed to be surgical cotton was also found in the bag. The bag bore the letters M. A. T.

There seems little doubt that this new fragment is part of the body of the woman whose left thigh was found in West Seventeenth street last Saturday, but unless the head or some portion of the body bearing a scar or birthmark should be found the police despair of unraveling the mystery.

Notwithstanding every available officer of the law is at work on the murder and mutilation of the young woman, the mystery is as deep as ever. There are clews, plenty of clews, but these turn up so often and are so contradictory that they confuse the detectives rather than serve as a source of truth.

Capt. McCluskey freely admits that he is stumped, but adds hopefully that something is sure to come to light in a few days and it will put the police on the right scent. Here is the information in the possession of the police to-day:

The fourth fragment of the mutilated body of the mysterious woman murder victim has been found off Quarantine, S. I. It is the torso from the neck to the lower portion of the breast and lacked the arms and head.

A right leg was discovered and lost 24 hours before the left thigh, which formed the original clew, was picked up in West Seventeenth street.

Mrs. Billings, a janitress, of 221 West Fifteenth street, found it in an ash can in front of her home. She undid the bundle, which was done up like the others, and put it back in the can. Then it was carried to the West Sixteenth street dump.

The newspaper in which it was wrapped is now held by Police Captain Schmittberger, who found a bundle of woman's clothing in the basement of 219 at midnight containing a newspaper, which was apparently bloodstained.

The police believe that the murder was committed within the territory of which Seventh avenue and Fifteenth street forms the center.

Numerous "identifications" of the portions of the body found have been made, but all have so far proved fruitless.

The portions of the body now missing are the head, arms and hands, legs below the knees and the feet.

Capt. Edward Connelly saw a woman, who was accompanied by a man of medium height wearing a light overcoat, throw a bundle into the river at the foot of West Thirteenth street Saturday evening.

The body was cut up by a man and a woman, the difference in the incisions indicating this. The dissection of the woman's body was done with common knives.

Capt. Lund saw a furniture van driven to the foot of West Seventeenth street at daybreak Saturday. The driver looked around and drove away, returned an hour later and repeated his mysterious actions.

The murdered woman was a brunette, but clinging to the paper's wrappings were long blond hairs.

The papers and their contents were powdered with coal dust and splinters, as if they had been packed in a cellar.

The fragment was the upper torso from the neck down to a line below the breast. It was wrapped in newspapers and manila paper and tied with stout twine, as were the other fragments found in West Fifteenth and West Seventeenth streets and at the foot of West Thirteenth street.

The arms were missing. They had been hacked off clumsily at the shoulders, and the edges of the flesh were jagged. The cutting had been done with a dull knife or hatchet.

The neck had been hacked off close to the body in a similar way. The whole job was clumsily done, as if in a great hurry.

Dr. Alvah H. Doty, Health Officer of the Port, who examined the fragment, found a cut two inches long in the left breast.

Capt. Daniel Blake and Roundsman Leonard of the Stapleton Police Station went down to Quarantine at once to take charge of the fragment.

Much of the paper wrappings had been washed away, but some pieces clung to the twine tied about the fragment. The parts of the body now missing are the head, the arms, the legs from above the knee down and the right thigh, which was found, but carried off to the city dumps.

No one was permitted to view the fragment closely until after the doctors had finished their examination.

Before they arrived a reporter had a good look at it. The paper wrappings had all been washed away except one portion of a newspaper which clung under the cord on the right side. What looked like a deep stab wound was just over the left breast. It was only an inch long, but looked deep.

The neck had been hacked off in so jagged a manner and so close to the trunk that a piece of the flesh of the chest had been torn loose and flapped down on the breast bone. The arms had been hacked off in a precisely similar way. A few of the floating ribs had been severed.

The lower portion of the fragment and part of the right breast were smeared with black—evidently coal dust. It was tied about three times with stout yachting three-stranded marline cord. It had been wrapped around the fragment lengthwise first, then turned and wound about the chest so tightly that it cut into the flesh.

After the fragment had been examied by Drs. Whitman and Mord, at Hughe's Morgue, Dr. Mord said:

"Our examination was, naturally, somewaht superficial, but we find that the bust measured 36 inches. There was a cut in the left side. It was manifestly a stab wound, and was one and one-half inches deep. It sloped downward toward the breast, but did not penetrate the heart. This, I should say, was caused by a slip of the knife employed. We had no means of determining whether or not it was a post-mortem or ante-mortem wound. We left that to be decided by the authorities in Manhattan.

"In removing the left arm the humerus was cut off with a saw, leaving a portion of the bone in the socket at the shoulder. The bone was not sawed through, but was finally broken off. The right arm, on the contrary, had been taken out of the socket. All the bones showed the work of a saw. All the cuts were jagged. Particularly was this so about the neck.

"The heart and lungs were intact. It is impossible for us to state, even guess, at the cause of death. The cuttings were made either by an experienced person with a dull knife, or by an inexperienced person with a sharp knife.

As soon as a permit was obtained the fragment was shipped to the Morgue in Manhattan.

A long golden hair and many bits of coal and slivers of wood were found among the newspaper wrappings that were around other fragments. The hair would indicate either that the victim was a blonde or that one of the persons who assisted in the butchery was a blonde woman. The doctors say the victim had brown hair.

The bits of coal and wood lead to the conclusion that the work was done in a cellar or kitchen. The houses within a radius of half a mile of the probable scene of the crime have been or are being scoured for further evidence.

Chief Devery has himself taken charge of the case. His right-hand men are Capt. Price, in whose precinct the left thigh fragment was found, and Capt. Schmittberger, in whose territory the other parts were disposed of.

To-day they will continue a round-up of the midwives in the city. Every one of them will be submitted to a searching examination, and their premises will be ransacked for evidence.

The finding of the right thigh by Mrs. Billings on Friday morning takes the probable date of the murder back to Thursday night, a day earlier than the first developments indicated.

The condition of the left thigh, found Saturday morning, indicated, according to most of the experts, that the woman was alive Friday. All agreed that she had not been dead more than 48 hours.

It is now almost certain that she died before midnight Thursday and that her body was cut up while still warm. The murderers must have started at once to dispose of the fragments.

That they were not more than two in number and that their facilities were limited is proved by the haphazard way in which they went about disposing of the fragments.

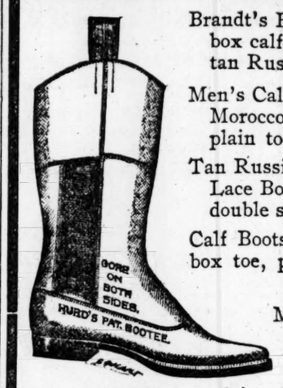

That the first part was tucked in an ash can Thursday night; the second, thrown in the gutter Friday night and the third part dumped in the river Saturday night, proves that the guilty persons carried the body piecemeal through the streets, trusting to luck to get rid of it all without discovery.

Whether they had time and opportunity to dispose of the parts yet undiscovered is problematical. If not, the chance of catching them red-handed will be vastly improved.

FIRE SALE HILTS FIRE SALE

After Much Negotiation With Underwriters ... HILTS

Succeeded in Landing the Whole Shoe Stock, About $20,000,

OF THE FAMOUS Shoe Co. of East St. Louis,

DAMAGED BY FIRE, SMOKE AND WATER.

The goods sold by this house were the popular styles of the very best factories East and West. Owing to heroic work of firemen, the bulk was saved in good condition, and bought by us for spot cash at prices so low that this sale will be the Greatest Shoe Event that has ever come to St. Louis. We give six lots on Friday as a sample of the amazing bargains we offer.

●●● DOORS OPEN AT 9 A. M. BE ON HAND EARLY. ●●●

Lot 1. At 19c for $1.00 and $1.50 Shoes. — JUST THINK OF IT. Shoes for Men, Shoes for Women, Boys and Girls; this lot got the worst of the fire and were well smoked and soaked, and somewhat scorched, but dry out and clean up good; but no one will kick when they get $1.00 and $1.50 at..... 19c (Better be on hand when the doors open to get any.)

Lot 2. At 39c for $1.25 and $2.00 Shoes. — There are over two thousand pairs in this lot—Men's, Women's, Boys' and Girls'—all are more or less damaged by smoke and water, and will go like hot cakes, as none were sold by Famous, of East St. Louis, at less than $1.25 to $2.00 pair. We have put them in good shape..... 39c

Lot 3. At 59c for $1.50 to $2.00 Shoes. — Right here the shouting will come in, and "Hurrah for Hilts" will make the welkin ring. Shoppers and promenaders on Broadway will think Dewey has landed at 6th and Franklin av., and will rush here to find Famous' (of East St. Louis) $1.50 and $2 Shoes, the cream of their stock for Men, Women, Boys and Girls, but little the worse for water and smoke, selling at..... 59c

Lot 4. At 69c & 79c for $1.50 and $2.50 Shoes. — This lot is what will catch the crowd. Men and women will struggle to buy—and why not—every pair of this lot in good order; were used as leaders by Famous, of East St. Louis, for $1.50 and $2.50. Think of it, Hilts will sell them for..... 69c AND 79c

Lot 5. At 97c&$1.19 for $2.00 and $2.50 Shoes. — From this lot of Men's and Women's Fine Shoes, however fastidious your taste, you can safely buy. Every pair is of the latest style and were sold by Famous of East St. Louis as their drive at $2.00 and $2.50; water and smoke did them but little damage and dressed up have not even an odor of smoke. 97c AND $1.19

Lot 6. $1.59 for Famous, of East St. Louis, $2.50 and $3 Shoes. — This lot, put into fresh boxes, would pass muster in any shoe house for fresh stock. They were in reserve and suffered only by handling, no smoke or water reaching a single carton. But you know Hilts; they got them on the same basis as the other stock—so you get a $2.50 and $3.00 Shoe for..... $1.59

NEW YORK RAPID TRANSIT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—After 30 years of talking, New York has at last started to give the people rapid transit. Corporation Counsel Whalen has placed his signature of approval to the terms of the contract for building the underground road.

A meeting of the Rapid Transit Commissioners will be held in the Chamber of Commerce to-day. A resolution providing for advertising for bidders to build the tunnel and equip a railroad on which trains will run from the City Hall to Harlem in 15 minutes will be passed.

Edward M. Shepard, counsel to the commission, is confident that before the end of the week advertising will be begun. In three weeks bids may be opened and the actual work of construction will begin before Jan. 1, 1900, according to the plans of Corporation Counsel Whalen and the Rapid Transit Board.

Here are the principal points in the new contract:

"The tunnel must be completed in four and a half years, but the commission hopes to complete the work in three years.

"The corporation operating the tunnel railroad will have a 50-year lease, with a privilege of renewal for 25 years more.

"Express trains must be run on center tracks to provide speedy transit from City Hall into the Bronx.

"The corporation operating the tunnel will have revenues from electric wires and pipes of different kinds which can be put in the tunnel.

"The city will own the tunnel, which must be fully equipped by the contractor with rolling stock and motive power for trains."

BESIDES

The regular service of The "Katy Flyer," reaching principal points in Missouri, Kansas, the Indian Territory and Texas, there is attached to this celebrated fast train an additional sleeper via Denison and H. & T. C. R. R. from St. Louis to Dallas, Ennis, Corsicana, Bremond, Hearne, Hempstead, Houston, Galveston and intermediate points. City Ticket Office, No. 103 North Broadway.

WHY MONEY WAS PAID

JUDGE DAY ON AMERICA IN THE PHILIPPINES.

HISTORY OF THAT $20,000,000.

Former Peace Commissioner Denies That the Islands Are Ours by Right of Conquest.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 12.—Judge William R. Day, who was president of the American Peace Commission, has written a letter to former Congressman D. K. Watson of this city, in which he discusses for the first time the retention of the Philippines.

Judge Day sets forth the reasons which, in his mind, justified the payment of $20,000,000 for the Philippines, declaring that it was never contemplated by the American Commissioners that the United States had a right to the Philippines as a matter of conquest. He writes:

"It was not claimed that the United States had a right to the Philippine Islands as a matter of conquest. The United States has never undertaken, so far as I know, to wrest from a foreign country lands or possessions simply by right of conquest. Had we been disposed to do so it must be remembered that we were in possession only of the city, bay and harbor of Manila under the protocol of Aug. 12, 1898, providing that the United States should occupy and hold the same pending the conclusion of a treaty of peace which should determine the control, disposition and government of the Philippines. The capture after the signing of the protocol, by Gen. Merritt and his forces, whatever its legal effect may have been, included no more territory than we were entitled to hold under the protocol.

"In addition to the hope of accomplishing immediate peace, which I need hardly say was of great importance at that time, there was a strong desire to treat Spain with a degree of magnanimity consistent with our national honor and prestige, following our national precedent in the treatment of Mexico for the cession of territory to us at the close of the Mexican war.

"By the cession, for a consideration, we obtained an indisputable title which must be respected by all nations. It must be remembered, too, that the American commissioners had consistently refused to assume any of the outstanding debts or obligations which Spain had undertaken to fasten upon the Philippines. Notwithstanding our offer to pay for pacific improvements, Spain has not undertaken to substantiate any claim upon that ground.

"Of course, I speak only for myself, and I write these views without opportunity to consult with my fellow-commissioners. In my judgment the concession referred to was effectual in bringing about an acceptance of our proposals, which resulted in the making of the treaty.

"'When, after four or five weeks of doubt and anxiety, it became apparent that these negotiations must either be broken off and your commissioners return without a treaty at all, and that we would be relegated to the necessity of taking not only the Philippines, but Cuba and Porto Rico, by the ruthless hand of conquest, or by some concessions that comported with the magnanimity and greatness and character of this treaty of peace. And, therefore, we believe that it was better for this country, strong in the hour of its victories, in the hour of its triumphs, that it should, to a beaten and prostrate foe, exhibit that magnanimity of which I spoke, and take from them by voluntary cession and by purchase, so to speak, those distant islands, rather than expose ourselves in the eyes of the world as playing a role of barbaric conquest, and by military power tread the path of medieval rapine and warfare.'

"The advanced position which the United States has always maintained in its international relations, its opposition to anything like harsh or severe treatment of a fallen foe, as well as other cogent reasons, would seem to justify the payment of the $20,000,000 as an act dictated from a high sense of national honor, as well as sound policy, under the circumstances of the case."

BUTTE ON TOBOGGAN.

THE MONTANA CITY IS SLIDING DOWN HILL.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 12.—This city is on a toboggan slide. It is gradually sliding down hill.

The evidence of it is seen on a number of large buildings and residences, including the County Courthouse and the residence of United States Senator W. A. Clarke, which have been cracked and fissured from one side to the other.

Geologists, who have investigated the phenomenon, express the opinion that the buildings damaged are located on a seam of rock or earth along which a slide separation or cleavage is taking place. The evidence of a slide is seen from the County Courthouse, which is located on West Granite street, about half way up the long hill upon the slope of which the city is built, and from that point west two blocks and southwest to near the western limits of the city.

The heavy brick inside walls of the courthouse have cracked from top to bottom. The handsome residence of Senator Clarke, situated a block and a half further west, has been fissured clear through the building from east to west, and on the west side from the roof through three stories down to the ground, at the bottom the fissure being over an inch wide, as if the southern portion of the house had followed the slide, while the north half remained solid. The stucco work and decorative molding on the inside clear through the house from one place to the other is similarly fissured.

The First Presbyterian Church, a block south, on Broadway, has also been cracked by the sliding movement of the earth, and several brick residences to the west likewise, all happening within the last few weeks. There has been no mining under that portion of the city.

Wicked War.

From the New York World.

Let President McKinley drop Ohio politics long enough to "read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" article 3 of the plan of the Peace Congress, which makes it an act of friendship for him to offer his good offices to save England from a wicked war of aggression.
